IMPORTANCE OF SELECTING THE RIGHT VARIETIES OF APPLE TREES

The proper selection of varieties is probably the most important question confronting an orchardist. He must make a selection to suit not only his climatic conditions but the particular marketing situation he occupies as well. Hardiness is a primary consideration in many parts of Canada, if catering to a foreign market, only varieties of good keeping and shipping qualities should be considered. Selection should be limited to not more than five varieties which will mature to perfection in the district in which they are to be grown. The Dominion Experimental Stations have accumulated a great deal of information as to the fitness of varieties for different districts, and in a bulletin on the cultivation of the apple in Canada, issued by the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, lists of the varieties suitable for the various parts of the country are given.

The dainty intimate things worn next to the skin are worthy to be washed in Lux. Rich suds made from a basin of water and a tablespoon of Lux will keep them scrupulously clean, and make them wear longer.

To keep them looking like new, and shapely, to make them last longer and feel better, treat your silk or mixed yarn stockings to frequent Lux baths.

You feel refreshed and chic each time you do a Lux laundered blouse or waist. And your wardrobe of filmy things will last longer when washed the Lux way.

Anything that soft water won't harm is safe to clean and re-beautify with Lux. A little Lux goes a long way, and keeps your dresses bright-looking and shapely.

Mrs. Lorin Brehaut of George town who is in Boston undergoing medical treatment is making satisfactory progress towards recovery.

In Memoriam JAMES T. TUPLIN

James Tor Tuplin, one of the very best men that the progressive and health conscious man of the settlement of Indian River has seen, died at his home there on March 23rd, after making a noble fight to regain lost health. The deceased was born at Spring Valley in 1856, the son of the late Thomas T. Tuplin and the late Anne Blaney, his wife. About 1870 he came to Indian River, where he opened a hotel at Hickey, Joseph Sheen, Bradford 'Black House,' then a breathing apparatus, which was performed by Rev. G. Ayers, who paid a most own. Here they lived until 1874 when the father bought the Angus mill machinery required to furnish a full milling plant was most conveniently situated and complete satisfaction was meted out to a large and appreciative public. But on January 13, 1914, the whole plant was unfortunately destroyed by fire and the loss thus incurred was staggering. But with an ambition founded on heroic courage he at once proceeded to restore the valuable plant. He rebuilt the sawing section of the plant and the quality of work that he executed was even superior to that of the product of former years. Some years ago the strenuous work that he was performing for him the life beyond that bears the full fruition of a life that here was realized by moral rectitude.—Y

How to get the most out of LUX (Don't Forget the Tablespoon)

To know Lux at its best is to know the Lux way of keeping house—in other words, the easiest and most satisfactory and most economical way.

To get the most out of Lux is to follow the simple directions and measure Lux with a tablespoon.

If you do this you can use Lux economically for the whole household wash, because a little Lux goes a long way. To wash everything in Lux is to keep the household linens, cottons and woollens sweet, clean and always at their best. Silks, chiffons, laces and crepes will come through the wash bright and new-looking again and again.

And the daintiest, filmiest fabrics are always safe with Lux because it is nothing but the purest, most efficient soap in the world.

Blankets, sheets, napery—all the fabrics used in the household will always look better and wear longer when LUX is exclusively used to cleanse them.

FAREWELL GATHERING

On Sunday evening, March 16th, a large number of the people of Gladstone and also some friends from Murray River and Murray Harbor met at the home of Mr. Silas Cuddy, Gladstone, to say goodbye to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cuddy, who were preparing to move away from the community. The folks met at a house some distance away together to his home, and all went together to his home, and although quite unprepared for any such event, and taken by surprise as they were, the visitors were accorded a very hearty welcome. The following address was read by Mr. Alex Richards, and Miss Adeline Mabey and Mr. Stanford McKay presented Mr. and Mrs. Cuddy with various bulky parcels. (Address): Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cuddy. Dear Friends,—Having learned of your departure from among us for a time, we, your friends and neighbors have met for the purpose of conveying to you our feelings of regret, and how much we shall miss you from our neighborhood; also from the school where you have faithfully done your duty as a true teacher for the past three years. We were ready to help in any good cause for the benefit of the community, knowing that your word is as good as your bond. Mrs. Cuddy will also be greatly missed, for by her kind-heartedness and pleasant manner, she has won many friends and endeared herself to us all. As neighbors we have sufficient proof tonight of the high esteem in which you are both held in the community. Although we shall miss you both greatly, still we wish you God speed in the new land to which you are going, and will be very glad to welcome you back to the old home in the near future. We ask you to please accept these small gifts, not for their value, but as a slight token of our love and esteem of you. We assure you that our best wishes follow you as you go from us. Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbors of Gladstone.

Although taken very much by surprise, Mr. Cuddy made a very fitting reply, thanking all the friends for their kindness and good wishes to both himself and his wife. He said that he hoped that it might not be so very long before they would be back with the old friends again, and whether or not they would carry in their hearts a very warm place for the people of Gladstone and vicinity, and in their minds very many happy memories. The ladies served a very fitting and appetizing lunch, to which all did justice, and all voted without one word of dissent that a party couldn't be a success without the ladies. Next we had music and singing, with Miss Adeline Mabey at the
