FINAL PREPARATION FOR CARNIVAL WEEK.—It is pleasing to note that the merchants and citizens of Charlottetown have been making in the past few days, fitting preparations for the Week of Carnival. It is again stressed that one of the greatest factors toward making Carnival Week an unqualified success is that the city present the most festive appearance possible. The responsibility of clothing Charlottetown in holiday garb rests on the individual efforts of house and store owners, and judging from what has been already done in this direction no doubts need be felt as to the whole hearted co-operation of all towards giving the city a gala appearance.

Two tramps were hovering about the gate of a suburban residence. "Why don't you go on," asked one road wanderer of the other. "That dog's all right. Can't you see he's wagging 'is tail?"

"Yes, I can see 'im" said the second mudstained traveller; "but it's also growling something terrible, and I don't know which end to believe."

"Was your uncle's mind vigorous and sane up to the very last?" "That we don't know as yet. The will will not be opened until tomorrow.

Circus Day is always one of the child's richest holidays and one of the most pleasantly anticipated. And the child of second growth, who wishes to be a happy camper will be on hand telling of the day when he was young. The spirit of the circus is in the air. The big and little in mind and body are almost equally absorbed by the swift moving incidents of circus day.

The management of the Sparks Circus promises many real novelties and surprises in conjunction with its elaborate performances this season. The organization which has recently doubled in size, presents a large number of newly imported European features, notably among which is a fine display of trained wild beasts and the largest group of horses ever taught to bond obedience to the trained will.

The world's most immaculate and longest street parade featuring many beautiful women, matchless horses by the hundreds, elephant herds, camels, many cages of wild animals and the hundred and one units of paraphernalia that go to make up a wonderful street spectacle will leave the circus grounds promptly at 10.30 a.m. Three bands and two calliopes will lend musical charm to the procession. The coming of Sparks Circus to a community is an event to be looked forward to, for it is to the man, woman or child who does not love a circus.

Orange Natal Day

starter's pistol these athletes shot forth with Capt. Read a few inches in the lead. This he seemed to maintain without distress to the finish. Caused no doubt for the fact that his Reverend opponent (training and was seized with a cramp in his muscle before the goal had been reached thus deterring him from putting forth that burst of speed which had carried him to victory in former days. However no protests were entered and the Captain was declared the victor, both contestants shaking hands amidst the cheers of their hundreds of friends.

The other sports in their various classes were keenly contested, and in many cases were close and exciting. During the afternoon many of the Toronto Western athletes on the shore, where there is magnificent bathing and hundreds availed themselves of the opportunity of an outing on the water. There being a number of gasoline boats for that purpose.

The dancing booth was well patronized, the Scottish dancers being the centre of attraction. The financial object of the gathering was in the interests of the new hall at Borden and the Protestant Orphanage at Mt. Herbert and an illustration of the splendid feeling of fellowship existing between all classes at Borden, the chairman announced that five of the large exhibition cakes to be seen on the tables were donated by Roman Catholics.

The Hon. Mr. Myers, Minister of Agriculture, capably conducted the afternoon of the cakes. At 6 o'clock the Charlottetown special left for home, and all felt that a most enjoyable and refreshing day had been spent. On the sporting page will be found a summary of the sporting events.

PRO AND CON

The birds are piping gaily. Full many a joyous tune; Just now they do this daily, But winter's coming soon The frosts are leaping lightly, The little daisies peer From out the meadow brightly, But snow will soon be here.

The sun is shining kindly, On a glow, hill and plain, But soon we shall be blindly Snow-sloshing through the rain. The butterflies are winging Their merry way about, But skeeters will be etching Before the day is out.

Now rings out joyous laughter The echoing woodland through, But we shall weep hereafter, And with good reason too. We have no care or sorrow Within our present ken, But just wait till tomorrow, And see what happens then!

We have abundant pleasures To hold our souls in thrall, But hard luck always measures Its dole of gloom to all. Our happiness will leave us, When life's bright blooms fall here, But that ought not to grieve us, Let's grab it while it's here.

Always put a small piece of crust into the frying pan before frying fish. This prevents the fat from spluttering and making the love greasy, and shows by its brown color just when the fat is at the right heat for the fish to be put in.

To make breadcrumbs quickly, cut the soft part from a stale loaf put it into a clean muslin bag, tie the bag at the top and give it a rub with the hands for a few minutes. The crumbs will then be fine enough for any purpose.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Relieved of Nervousness and Other Distressing Ailments by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"I first took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound four years ago, and am taking it now for the Change of Life and other troubles and I receive great benefit from it. I am willing to let you use my letter as a testimonial because it is the truth. I found your booklet in my letter box and read it carefully, and that is how I came to take the Vegetable Compound myself. It has given me quiet nerves so that I sleep all night, and a better appetite. I have recommended it already to all my friends and relatives.—Mrs. ENGLEMAN, 2022 Palmetto St., Ridgewood, Brooklyn, N. Y.

For the woman suffering from nervous troubles causing sleeplessness, headache, hysteria, "the blues," Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will be found a splendid medicine. For the woman of middle age who is passing through the trials of that period, it can be depended upon to relieve the troubles common at that time. You should give it a fair trial now.
