KLARK-URBAN CO. IN THE "EYES OF YOUTH"

A Novelty Drama Dealing Somewhat with the Occult Art Ably Staged by This Popular Company.

The Klark-Urban Company in an entirely different kind of play from that with which they opened their engagement here were seen again to advantage last night at the Prince Edward Theatre by another large audience. "The Eyes of Youth" was the title of the production. This is a strong drama of a unique type, in three acts—a play which ran for three years at the Maxine Elliot Theatre in New York City. It is of eastern mystic and occult art, which holds the intense interest of the audience throughout. The scene is laid about fifty miles from New York, and has to do with the fortunes of Gina, a girl who looks into a crystal to behold her future. The part is superbly acted by Miss Maisie Cecil, while Miss Lillian Dean as Monica Ashing, the mother of Gina, takes this important role exceedingly well. Messrs. Harden Klark, J. W. Burrows and Louis Edrington, as authors of the play, were most capable impersonations of these characters and one of the cleverest roles was that of Vivadra, the Yogi peddler, enacted by Mr. Craig Neslo, which remark is equally true of Mr. Thos. Brewer's interpretation of the part of Aloia Salvo, an operatic manager.

Bank of Commerce Superintendency At Calgary

MR. C. W. ROWLEY OF NOVA SCOTIA RECEIVES APPOINTMENT WITH HEADQUARTERS AT WINNIPEG. The ever increasing importance of the Canadian Banking institutions is a matter of national pride and the announcement of the Canadian Bank of Commerce to the effect that an additional superintendency, similar to that established in Halifax in the early part of 1919, is now to be opened in Calgary marks an important step not only in the continued progress of that institution but reflects in no uncertain manner the rapid development which has been and is still taking place in the Peace River district and other outlying parts of the Inland Empire which this new superintendency will serve. This is the third superintendency of branches to be established by the Canadian Bank of Commerce within the past two years and its creation indicates very clearly that no effort is being spared by that institution to meet the growing needs of the various provinces and to render prompt and efficient service to each section of the country. Coincident with the retirement from the Bank's service of Mr. V. C. Brown who since 1911 has occupied the position of Superintendent at Winnipeg, the Bank has decided to make a change, leaving the duties in Manitoba and Saskatchewan under the supervision of his successor at Winnipeg and placing the branches in Alberta and the Peace River district under the supervision of Mr. J. B. Corbet whose headquarters will be at Calgary. Mr. C. W. Rowley who for the past five years has been manager of the Bank's main branch in Winnipeg, and who is one of the best known bankers in the West, succeeds Mr. V. C. Brown as Superintendent of the Central West. The announcement will be one of particular interest in view of Mr. Rowley being a native of Nova Scotia. Born in Yarmouth, N. S., in 1859 he received his early education in the local public school, later graduating from the Yarmouth Academy, and entering the service of the Canadian Bank of Commerce in 1887. Mr. Rowley served as Accountant in the Winnipeg branch from 1893 to 1902 after which he spent a short time in Vancouver. Leaving there in October 1902 he established a branch of the Bank in Calgary where, whilst taking a very active interest in outside affairs, he built up a very flourishing business for the Bank. He was one of the founders of the Calgary Clearing House and its first chairman, and also served on the directorate of many local companies. Leaving Calgary in May 1911 he proceeded to Winnipeg where he has since continuously held the position of manager of the main branch. Mr. Rowley will be particularly well known to the public on account of his war activities. He is a past President of the Canadian Club and in many ways has identified himself not only with local affairs at Winnipeg but with matters of Dominion wide importance.
