K. Of C. Tennis

Three matches were finished in the senior tennis tournament sponsored by the Knights of Columbus. All matches were closely contested and brought out some clever tennis.

The first match to finish was that of Walter Cullen and Noel Wilson opposing LeClair and Trainor. The former winning out after a hard struggle, 8-6, 14-12.

The next was in the mixed doubles with Miss Barbara Doyle and Jack Hennessey coming from behind to beat Miss Louise Blain and Connie LeClair, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2. Jack Hennessey was in rare form and played every angle and was supported well in the pinches by his partner. The losers battled all the way.

Also in the mixed doubles, Miss Bernadette Murnaghan and Earl Nicholson took a hard-fought match from Miss Claire McDonald and Leonard McDonald, 7-5, 6-3. The former deserved their win, but had very little to cheer about.

Last Of Series Of Successful Field Days Held

Thirty farmers left their harvest work to attend a field day held on the illustration Station at Rose Hawsin, operated by John W. MacKenzie. This field day was the final of a series for this season of these annual events held on each of the three stations throughout the Province.

The root crop experiments were closely inspected and the various treatments which had been applied to these crops were discussed by the supervisor, Mr. L. M. Caslin. The meeting also decided to create a considerable stand of kabot soybeans. The value of this crop in supplying valuable protein in the feeding of livestock, particularly hogs, was dealt with. Two varieties of corn, showing considerable promise were shown and discussed. The Algonquin variety has already been well tested in the Province and has been found satisfactory. The Wisconsin variety which is even earlier is showing greater promise.

During the afternoon Dr. J. A. Clark spoke on the necessity of carrying out all parts of farm work in a timely manner, early plowing, early sowing, and early cutting were stressed as being very necessary.

At this point of Dr. Clark's talk one of the audience mentioned the fact that last summer he had noticed coils of hay on the Experiment Station late in the season. Dr. Clark was pleased to explain that these coils of hay were actually tripe loads loaded with second cut straw which was being cured for the purpose of supplying protein and valuable vitamins to be used in the winter. Some five tons of alfalfa were used for this purpose last winter at the Experimental Station.

Mr. Bruce McLaren spoke on the cereal varieties, both old and new. It was agreed by all present that the most satisfactory variety of barley being grown to date on the farms of Prince Edward Island was the one known as 'Olli' which is a high yielding, early strain of barley which can be used as a source of early grain for hogs or as a crop which could be cut mature ahead of weeds and would thus allow for summer following. He stated within the course of the next year or so, he hoped to have for disposal a new variety of oats which he has been testing and which is both stem and leaf rust resistant and also satisfactory in yield.

Dr. J. E. Latimer spoke on post war farming conditions in this country and also of the methods that Great Britain is at present using to carry on agriculture. In England, compulsory co-operation, administered by the people themselves is proving reasonably efficacious in coping with most farm problems.

GRIMS DITCH MARTIN, England (CP)—Sgt. Pilot Richard Hugh Cecil, 20, younger son of viscount Cranborne, Dominions secretary was killed when his motor-cycle crashed into a telephone pole near his Wiltshire village.

Will Hold 2nd Annual Dog Show Here Today

The second annual dog show sponsored by the Charlottetown Kennel Club will be officially opened by Premier J. W. A. Jones this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Judging will start at 11 a. m. with George D. Kane as John, N. B., judging all breeds and classes.

The show is being held at the Forum this year and with the larger quarters, and better show-ring, there is a much larger entry than last year. The show-ring has been beautifully decorated by the ladies of the Kennel Club.

The entry list this year includes thirty different breeds, and about 150 exhibitors. Among the dogs being shown are several high-class animals some having been bred in Ontario, Quebec, New York, Boston and the Maritime Provinces.

A number of prominent handlers and breeders are here with large strings of dogs. Among the known breeders are: Eddie Camp-Terrier of Pittsburgh, Pa., with Boston Terriers; M. J. O'Connell of Boston, Mass., with 6 Scotch Terriers; Caddy Eoughs of Toronto, with Boston Terriers; Toronto, with Dr. George Bishop, Ch'town, who has a Canadian Champion Phoebe, which is bred by Kerry Blue Terrier, which is bred by Mr. Emyr Wood, Conn., is showing a French Poodle, the time this breed has been exhibited here.

Many new breeds, not very well known to Island dog-fanciers are on show today including Dr. Blain's Kerry Blue Terrier, a French Poodle; Schnauzers and Molchers. From the foregoing, it might be thought that local dogs will make no showing at all. On the contrary several local breeders have animals which have already won prizes in other dog shows. John Simmonds Wildair, program is showing an Irish Setter. "Sweet Solemnity" of Charlottetown is showing an Irish Setter. "Sweet Solemnity" of Charlottetown is showing an Irish Setter. Bulgaria At War With Nazis And Allies

LONDON, Sept. 7 (AP)—Bulgaria, bludily stumbling toward peace, tonight found itself technically at war with both the Allies and Germany. The fantastic situation topped anything yet seen in the diplomatic complexities of this war.

Tuesday night the new government of Premier Constantine Muraviev was sworn in and announced its policy of neutrality. Bulgaria's neutrality was declared war Wednesday Sofia said Moscow for the first shot to be fired and then went all the way and declared war on Germany.

Today Berlin first acknowledged that Bulgaria had declared war and then said it was only a matter of diplomatic relations by which Bulgaria hoped to obtain more favorable conditions from the Allies.

London early tonight had not yet granted an armistice to Bulgaria, nor had Britain or the United States. So technically, Bulgaria was fighting everybody. Actually, however, the Bulgars appeared to be fighting nobody.

St. John Plans For Celebrating Victory Day

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Sept. 7—Plans for a proper, dignified, whole-hearted celebration of V-Day—the day on which the surrender of Germany is proclaimed—were discussed at a meeting of representatives of various civic bodies, the armed services, the ministerial association, the Roman Catholic diocese, the Jewish congregation, and the Retail Merchants' Association.

The program formulated so far calls for religious services in all churches shortly after the good news is announced.

All religious denominations have been asked to co-operate in holding a V-Day service in a similar manner. It is expected that the celebration will be held in the squares to shut-ins and outside centres of the province.

The meeting also decided to recommend to the Common Council that the day following V-Day be proclaimed a holiday so that more formal celebrations of victory may be carried out.

Every band in the city will be asked to furnish music in various parts of the city on V-Day itself and to join in any impromptu parades of citizens through the streets.

Japs Consider War Situation Unsatisfactory

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Emperor Hirohito gravely commanded Japan today to marshal her total strength to meet intensified Allied operations at "this crucial moment of the war," and Premier Kuniaki Koiso acknowledged that the possibility of an enemy landing on our home soil must be considered.

The uneasy pronouncements came at the opening of the 88th extraordinary session of the diet, and were quickly followed by a blunt statement from Navy Minister Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai that "the general war situation cannot be regarded as satisfactory."

Italian Armistice Year Ago Today

ROME, Sept. 7 (CP)—British 8th Army forces today captured Sicilione Marina, an Adriatic coastal town five miles southeast of the prize port of Rimini, and American troops of the 5th Army closed in on the big communications center of Piastina and other outposts of the German Gothic line defenses northwest of Florence.

Thus the two armies still were fighting a dogged foe on Italian soil a year after Italy quit the war.

The Italian armistice was announced Sept. 8, 1943, five days after the 8th Army launched the invasion of the mainland of Europe, striking across the toe of Italy, and a day before British and American troops of the 5th Army landed at Salerno and began a toe-to-toe slugfest with the Germans up the rugged peninsula.

Canada's Electric Power Output Up

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP)—Canada will emerge from the war with electric power production facilities 21 per cent in excess of 1939, the Department of official said today.

Despite this rapid expansion available power has lagged behind the increasing demands of industry making restrictions necessary to assure sufficient power being available for essential war industries; but when war production slows down more power than ever before will be available for commercial and domestic use.

It took Canada a half century to build up the power system of 180,000 horsepower she had in 1939 and then in the five war years 1,903,000 has been added. Canada now is believed to be the highest per capita user of electric power with electricity providing the motive force for 80 per cent of the Dominion industries.

Greater increase — 1,002,273 horsepower — came last year with the Shipshaw, Que., aluminum development accounting for 740,000 horsepower. This year there is a gain of a further 68,000 horsepower.

Ernie Pyle To Take Long Rest

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Ernie Pyle, Scripps — Howard columnist whose informally-written personal dispatches presented the non-commissioned man's view of fighting, is coming home from the war for a long rest.

In a farewell column from Paris, distributed by United Features Syndicate, Pyle said: "I'm leaving for one reason only — because I have just got to stop. I have had all I can take for a while."

"I've been immersed in it too long," Pyle continued. "My spirit is wobbly and my mind is confused. The hurt has finally become too great."

Pyle has been overseas since July 1942, returning only for a short visit in September, 1943. He has filed his stories of heroism, comedy and tragedy from all the important theaters in the North African, Mediterranean and European theatres. Pyle estimated he has written more than 700,000 words during more than two years of sharing day-to-day experiences with Allied soldiers.

MY DOG

(By John Jamieson, M. D.)

Dead—and my heart died with him
Buried—what love lies there
Gone forever and ever,
No longer my life to share
"Only a dog". Yes—only
Yet these are bitter tears
Weary, and heartick, and lonely,
I turn to the coming years.

Something that always loved me
Something that I could trust
Something that cheered and soothed me
Is moudering here to dust
Gentle, and faithful, and noble—
Patient, and tender, and brave—
My pet, my playmate, my darling—
And this is his lonely grave.

I go to my lonely chamber,
And linger before the door—
There once was a loving welcome—
I shall listen for that no more.
I sit by my blazing hearthstone,
And lean my head on my hand—
The best of my wayward nature
Lies low with the Newfoundland.

One plank—when the ship was sinking
In a wild and stormy sea—
One star when the sky was darkened,
Was the love of my dog to me.
A star that will shine no longer—
A plank that has missed my hand;
And the ship may sail or founder—
No watcher is on the strand.

stand on my sunny uplands,
This beautiful autumn morn—
The crimson-leaved maple 'er me,
Fronting the golden corn;
I hear the brook in the valley—
It sings as if sang of yore—
But the faithful eyes that watched me
Will answer to mine no more.

Over those sunny uplands,
And climbing the breezy hill,
I haunt the depth of the woodland,
Lonely and silent still—
Silent and lonely always,
I know that this life may be—
But in the unseen future—
What is in store for me?

Oh, well may the Indian hunter
Lie calm on his couch of skins
When the pain of this world ceases,
And the joy of the next begins.
On the "Great Spirit's" prairies,
Under the blue skies of yore,
Will not his stud and watch-dog
Answer his call once more?

Blue hunting grounds of the red man,
Cannot I dream the dream?
Surely my old companion
But waits till I cross the stream?
Waits with a faithful yearning,
Almost akin to pain—
Till in some lesser heaven
He bounds to my feet again.

600,000 Nazi Losses In Last 6 Months

LONDON, Sept. 6 (AP)—Germany has lost 600,000 soldiers in killed, wounded and prisoners of war in western Europe alone in the last three months, Robert Sherwood, director of the overseas branch of the O.W.I. declared tonight in an Able (American broadcasting station in Europe) broadcast directed to Germany.

His assertions, made at a news conference, in response to questions, apparently form part of the groundwork for a post-war policy of non-recognition of the present Argentine government. Thus far non-recognition has been based primarily on the wartime attitude toward Allied cause.

Hull Brags Argentina As Fascist Centre

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—State Secretary Hull today branded Argentina as headquarters for the Fascist movement in the western hemisphere and a potential source of infection for the rest of the Americas.

His assertions, made at a news conference, in response to questions, apparently form part of the groundwork for a post-war policy of non-recognition of the present Argentine government. Thus far non-recognition has been based primarily on the wartime attitude toward Allied cause.
