THE SECOND MILE IT IS THAT COUNTS

Sermon by Rev. J.W. Forbes, Ph D. of New York

LOVING SERVICE CANNOT Do Too Much—Reluctant Service is Content to Do as Little as is Possible.

Many men dislike to serve on a jury. The work is arduous, the pay is small. Government demands this for the public weal. Enforced duty under modern rule, however, is exceptional. It was not so in the days of ancient Rome. She demanded public service from everybody, and especially from her conquered colonies. Did a Roman soldier need a guide? The law allowed him to compel any man to accompany him on his journey, not only to show the way, but to bear his burden. In His Sermon on the Mount Jesus is talking to some whose feet had been weary and whose shoulders had ached under Roman exaction. Did He say, "The service is hard, resist to the utmost?" On the contrary, He bade them do a double duty. "Whoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain." Do the required task joyously; yes, if possible, do twice as much as you are asked to do. Go not one mile, but two. The law, then, of life and service is briefly comprehended in the phrase, "The second mile."

Much of service is forced service. The necessity of providing food, raiment and shelter drives us weary miles, oftentimes against our will. Circumstances beset us, behind and before. For example, a young lady wishes to become a teacher. She looks forward to this as her life work. She studies hard. Her hope seems in a fair way of realization, when mother is taken sick. Necessity compels the daughter to leave school and to toil in the household nursing the invalid parent. Instead of reading Latin she washes dishes; in place of algebra she bends over the ironing board. Such is God's ordering. Again, a loving wife is deprived of her husband. Her home is broken up and her heart is left desolate. She is forced to toil for her bread. It may be that a business man loses his property; at fifty or sixty he finds himself at the bottom of the ladder, forced to serve where he has been accustomed to command. In what spirit shall we meet reverses? The powers that be are ordained of God. Circumstances are His appointed angels. It is foolish to resist; it is wicked to murmur. We are compelled to go the first mile. Whether we toil or, like Milton, "only stand and wait," is not for us to choose. Is there nothing more? Yes, Jesus teaches that reward and joy consist in going the second mile. There is no special virtue in doing the things we must do. The daughter must leave school when mother becomes sick; the widow must learn to live without her husband; the business man must begin anew when he fails. The first mile in the journey is compulsory. It comes to saint and sinner alike. Virtue begins when the girl, forced to leave her studies, performs her new duties with smiling face and cheerful heart. Love manifests itself when she does not simply the one mile necessary, but adds a second mile in brightening the home, in keeping her sacrifice out of sight, thus gladdening the heart of father and causing mother to say: "Daughter, you are such a comfort to me that I can almost thank God I am sick, for otherwise I might not have known the sweetness of your love."

This precept of the second mile should govern all the relations of life. Every true man should be willing to do more than his legal duty. Service begins to be precious and takes on new value the moment it goes beyond the first measured mile. If an employee says: "I will do what I am paid for and nothing more," if he never takes a step when he can help it, if he grumbles concerning extra service, he will get his wage and nothing more. His employer

Yes, he does what I tell him to do, but he never hurries, is always ready to anticipate the time to leave, and has no interest in the business. I think I will let him go as soon as we get over the rush." If, on the other hand, he sees one always on the lookout to help along, taking an interest in his work, doing as opportunity offers even more than is required, he is not going to dismiss that man if he can avoid it. The second mile, the service that is neither compelled nor paid, this it is that helps one's career and in a large measure determines success.

This same principle obtains in religious life. The things which we do from fear of displeasing God are the necessary mile. Our Heavenly Father wishes more. He seeks extra service from loving hearts. Love never counts the cost of the spikedard. Love is willing to do its whole duty and then asks for larger service. Love says, "Where were I if Jesus had refused to go beyond the measured mile of duty or justice?" Love is grateful, and as she thinks of all God has done she cries:— Love so amazing, so divine, Demands my soul, my life, my all.

The Whole Secret Of the Remarkable Success of a Remedy for Indigestion and Stomach Troubles.

A New Remedy Which May Revolutionize the Treatment of Stomach Troubles. Now Placed Before the Public and Bears the Endorsement of Many Leading Physicians and Scientific Men.

This preparation is not a wonderful discovery nor yet a secret patent medicine, neither is it claimed to cure anything except dyspepsia, indigestion or stomach troubles with which nine-tenths of our nations are more or less affected. The remedy is in the form of pleasant-tasting tablets or lozengers containing vegetable and fruit essences, pure aseptic peptic (from animal saprophytes) Gold Seal and digestase. They are sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Many interesting experiments made with these tablets show that they possess a remarkable digestive power, one grain of the active principle in one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets being sufficient to thoroughly digest 3,000 grains of lean meat, eggs, oatmeal or similar wholesome food. Stuart's Tablets do not act upon the bowels like after dinner pills and cheap cathartics, which simply irritate and inflame the intestines without having any effect whatever on the indigestion. If the stomach can be rested and assisted in the work of digestion it will very soon recover its normal vigor, as no organ is so much abused and overworked as the stomach. This is the secret and the whole secret of the remarkable success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, a remedy practically unknown a few years ago and now the most popular, safest and most widely sold of any treatment of stomach troubles. His success has been secured entirely upon its merit as a digestive, pure and simple, because there can be no stomach trouble if the food is promptly digested. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets act entirely upon the food eaten, digesting it completely, so that it can be assimilated into blood, nerve and tissue. Every drop of blood, every bone, every fibre and tissue in the body can be renewed in one way, and that is from wholesome food properly digested. There is no other way and the idea that a medicine in itself can purify the blood or supply new tissue and strong nerves is ridiculous and on a par with the fol-de-rol that dyspepsia is a germ disease or that other fallacy that a weak stomach which refuses to digest food can be made to do so by irritating and inflaming the bowels with pills and cathartics. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure dyspepsia, water brash, sour stomach, catarrh of the stomach, gas and bloating after meals because they furnish the digestive power, which is the one thing that weak stomachs lack, and unless that lack is supplied it is useless to attempt to assist it by the use of "tonics," "pills" and cathartics which have absolutely no digestive power and do not claim to have any. The regular use of one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals will demonstrate their merit and efficiency better than any other argument. They are sold by druggists everywhere and a little booklet on cause and cure of stomach troubles will be mailed free by addressing F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.
