THE ENGLISH SCHOOL QUESTION

The school question in England bids fair to be a principal issue at the next general election. It is already becoming an exciting topic of discussion among the Nonconformist element, which by the way stands largely in opposition to the Unionist Goverament. The situation is not very easily intelligible to the Canadian reader, familiar with our state system of school support and non-sectarian schools. The changes introduced by Mr. Forster's Education Act of 1870 were quite revolutionary and the Act was accepted by the Nonconformists, not as a finality, but as a great step in advance towards a fuller and fairer measure that they continued to hope for. The new Education Bill expuonded by Mr. Balfour in March last, is now generally viewed as a reactionary measure, designed to restore and increase ecclesiastical control of education.

The result has been that the Bill has been received with jubilation by the High Church party and very strong denunciation among Non-conformists. The latter are calling meetings at which the subject is discussed with great warmth and are passing resolutions strongly condemning the Bill. At one of these meetings Lord Rosebery presided, and in his opening remarks said the measure before Parliament blasted the hopes of those who sought for religious equality before the law and 'laid down for all time a cast-iron system of denominational management and a close corporation in the management of popular education.' 'It strikes down,' he said, 'to the very fundamentals of our constitutional system.'

To a deputation of protesters who waited upon Mr Balfour he intimated that their attitude was prompted by jealousy of the Church of England, and he pointed out that the school boards, which would be essentially Church boards, would be made up of people who would act in a conciliatory manner. This most impolitic deliverance only added fuel to the fire. The protesters at once told him that they wished it understood they were British citizens and did not propose to hold their rights by conciliating the clergy. Principal Farbairn of Oxford plainly intimated to Mr. Balfour that the Nonconfomists did not propose law or no law, to pay taxes to a denomination. He added, "We should not be worthy of our citizenship if we did not frankly say that to the legislation which creates an ecclesiastical monopoly in the schools we will not submit." Many are determined not to pay school taxes and one minister, Rev. J. Morgan Gibbon, said in public meeting, "If this Bill is passed we shall try what the inside of a prison cell is." So far the Government has held to an uncomprising attitude and the Bill passed its second reading by the large majority of 237.

REAL ENJOYMENT.

The woman who reads this will understand to the full what Mrs. Tipton meant when she says: "I am enjoying good health." It takes a person who has been made wretched by sickness to understand the joy of health.

There are very many women who suffer as did Mrs. Tipton, who might be cured as she was by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"It is with pleasure I recommend Dr. Pierce's medicine," writes Mrs. Nora Tipton, of Cropper (Cropper Station), Shelby Co., Kentucky. "You remember my case was one of female weakness and weak lungs. I had no appetite and would often spit blood; was confined to my bed almost half of the time and could hardly stand on my feet at times for the pains through my whole body and system. My husband had to pay large doctor bills for me, but since I have taken four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, four of 'Favorite Prescription' and three vials of 'Pleasant Pellets' we haven't paid any more doctor bills. It had been seven months since I stopped using Dr. Pierce's medicines and I have been enjoying good health all the time. I can never praise these medicines too highly, for I have received so much benefit. I pray that many who suffer as I did will take Dr. Pierce's medicines. I am sure they will never fail to cure when given a fair trial. Everybody tells me I look better than they ever saw me, I am sure I feel better than I ever did before."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a ladies' laxative. No other medicine equals them for gentleness and thoroughness.
