Sees Promising Improvement In Quality Of Foxes

Emphasis On Quality Production Reassuring Sign Of The Times In The P. E. I. Fox Industry.

Mr. B. W. Robinson, past president of the Fox Exhibitors Association and connected with the fox industry since its inception, is very optimistic of the future of the silver fox business, and says that much of its success is due to the Fox Exhibition. He has noticed a great improvement in the quality of the herds since the inauguration of the show, which was the means of teaching the ranchers what constitutes a good fox not only for show purposes but for breeding and also in pelt value on the market.

The fox show is a means of getting the people together to discuss the various problems of raising foxes and it is quite noticeable on visiting the different ranches how the quality of the animals has been improved within the last three years.

Improved Breeding

The average rancher, Mr. Robinson states, is showing greater interest in the quality of his foxes today and is making an effort along improved breeding. This year's pups are decidedly of a better quality owing to the fact that the ranchers have found out the defects in breeding and have made an honest effort to correct them, this is very noticeable in the smaller ranches, where in former years there was more or less an indifference to quality.

Promising Pelt Prospects

Speaking of the prospects for the pelt market this year Mr. Robinson says, that prominent fur dealers from Europe are very optimistic in regard to the sales. The market is clean and they think that the trouble in Ethiopia will not interfere to any great extent with the disposal of the pelts. There is every indication that the sales will be good and prices firm.

Judging from the forces that are being groomed for the show Mr. Robinson predicts that the quality of this year's exhibits will surpass any previous showing.

Praises Island Fox Show

Speaking editorially the "Canadian Silver Fox and Fur" magazine for October has this to say of the Prince Edward Island Silver Fox Show:

Apparently there is a reviving interest in the holding of exhibitions of live ranch-bred fur bearers. We are for these shows and whenever possible will lend our co-operation to help put them across. Below we draw attention to the events scheduled to date. Wherever possible ranchers should support these exhibitions with their entries or attendance, or both.

Charlottetown, P. E. I.

The Silver Fox Exhibitors' Association of Prince Edward Island will hold their show November 4th to 8th. The show this year will be under the management that successfully staged the 1934 event. The management of that show, the quality of the animals, the judging, everything in fact was such as to call for many favorable comments on all sides. The animals exhibited had dependable pedigrees all coming as they must from registered ranches. Quite a number of very good ones changed hands at nice prices. One male bought at this show for $500.00 has this year a production of more than 20 pups to his credit. Stock of this kind properly cared for is what is needed to make for ranching the success it should be.

Preparations for this year's show call for still larger numbers of people and of foxes, and there seems little doubt that it will be what the promoters claim in advance, the "World's Best Fox Show."
