The British Soldier 2.15 1/2

Register No. 59201—Foaled 1911

Champion trotting Stallion of the Province 1915-1916

The British Soldier is a remarkably handsome horse, dark chestnut, no white except a star; stout, strong, compactly built horse, with heavy bone and stands square on the best of feet and legs.

His trotting action is perfection; goes without boots and has better than two minute speed. The British Soldier is sired by Cochato, 2.11-2, at 3 years winner of the Hartford Futurity 1916 (Todd's greatest speed siring-son). Todd 2.14 3/4 was sired by Bingen 2.06 1/4 founder of the greatest speed producing family in the world.

The dam of the British Soldier is the great brood mare Miss Pratt 2.17 1/4, by Heir-at-law 2.05 3/4. Miss Pratt is the dam of eight, including The Leading Lady 2.07 at 3 years. The Prattler is a full brother of The British Soldier. Miss Pratt is also grand dam of six with records from 2.12 1/2 to 2.05 1/2, aged 3 and 5 years.

No trotting Stallion in Canada has more speed or stronger license to produce a fast trotter than the British Soldier. His colts are stout, strong, sound and handsome, and show extreme speed.

The Soldier is being very liberally patronised this spring in the Stud, which may interfere with fitting him for a low record. Good judges think him capable, if properly prepared, to trot any good half mile track in 2.10. Prospective breeders can have a ride after him any day. Always to be found at 254 Kent Street. Phone 375-L. Terms: Season $20.00; insure $30.00 usual return. Note due Nov 1st. W. S. MCKIE, Owner against the tongue, when turning on the drill of the mower, causing sore necks and hairless legs, but step over quickly away from the tongue.

When you are unhitching of hitching up, and one horse happens to be a little too far back to allow the pole strap to be connected or be removed as the case may be, you do not have to hold the tongue and neckyolk in one hand while you get him by the bit and drag him reluctantly forward.

Instead, you pull slightly on the pole strap and he steps up promptly. Dozens of similar, we may say—little courtesies, does, the well broken team perform. And these things are not done with reluctance and stumborily, but with seeming pride and pleasure. The well broken team fear, love and obey. But no sign of fear is shown unless they know they are doing the wrong thing. They have perfect confidence in the master. They know he will never strike or punish them in any way unless they refuse to obey. This sort of team know that their master is a man who never strikes thoughtlessly, no matter what his mood.

A well broken team lightens the drudgery of farm work, both for the team and the man. The labor of working a stubborn, unbroken team, fully equals and sometimes exceeds the labor of operating the machine being used. One day we were cutting clover. The stand was so heavy and badly lodged that we couldn't tell where the sickle left off, as it was impossible to separate it. We solved the problem by putting Dick, a five-year-old gelding, on the sickle side. He could tell just exactly where to walk so we just gave him a loose line and there wasn't a hitch in the work.

The most common error in managing horses is a careless habit of talking to them. Too many words are used and the words are repeated. In such conflicting terms and so often that the horses become confused and discouraged. The only thing left for them is to depend on the line. By its feel only can they tell what is wanted.

A few don'ts for the man who would like to have a well-broken team: Don't say "Whoa back" when you want your team to stop. Just say

"Whoa." Say it distinctly, so they may hear, and then see that they stop promptly.

When you want them to back, don't start pulling on the lines and afterward say "Back-up." Just say "Back." Say it before you pull on the lines; then if they do not back, pull firmly, but not continuously.

When they have backed far enough, say "Whoa." Don't say "Get-up." A little practice and it will not be necessary to pull on them at all when they are wanted to back.

When they are wanted to start, don't slap them with a line or touch them with the whip and afterwards say "Get-up." Say it first and give them a chance to obey.

No man who uses the above careless manner of speech or habit of handling horses need ever expect to have a well-mannered, delightful team to work. It is utterly impossible. Put yourself in the horses' place. Should your driver strike you with a whip and then tell you to get up, would you not resent it? Wouldn't you say to him: "Why did you not tell me you were ready to start?" If he gave your mouth a yank with the line and then afterwards said: "Back up," wouldn't you say: "How did I know you wanted me to back?" Or would you say: "Did I understand you to say back up or get up?" In short, you would soon come to a quarrel with such a driver and would eventually quit.

Deal with more consideration the most noble beast we have. Let us lighten his burdens and at the same time will lighten our own.

GERMAN "PEACE SPIES" BUSY "PLOTTING"

COPENHAGEN.—The German government started peace talk for its own ends, but now it is confronted with a distinct, with a decided growing movement amongst its people for peace, which it is taking measures to repress.

Private advices received from Germany today showed this new development in the German government's peace "plotting." They detailed on the Empire-wide hunt for "peace spies."

The hunt has been transferred from the civil authorities and placed in the hands of the military government with rewards offered for facts of the peace propagandists.

The German government appears determined, if there is any peace talk, that it must be the government and not the German people who do the talking. Information here indicated a widespread movement of carrying the peace movement to the German people and repressive measures by the government.

In the meanwhile the people of the German provinces especially are puzzled to understand why, if England is as nearly broken and defeated as the government claims she is, still making war and not hearkening to peace feelers.

The result, according to advices is that a formidable wave of dissatisfaction against German autocracy is sweeping over Germany. There is absolutely no evidence, however, that this dissatisfaction and desire for peace is sufficiently strong to have any serious effect on the policy of the German government or military aristocracy.

GERMANY'S PROFIT AND LOSS ACCOUNT. Her "Place in the Sun" Gradually Dwindling. (From a Letter in the N. Y. Evening Post.) In view of the fact that the German cry for some years past has been for "a place in the sun," it is not attractive to see how their statements and military men have helped them along this line by means of this war, which already has lasted for two and a half years.

As a result of the war Germany has gained territory as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Territory, Sq. miles. Includes Poland (50,000), Belgium (11,200), Serbia (35,000), Montenegro (5,000), Rumania (49,000), etc.

Of the territory in France up to April 1, 1917, the Allies have taken back over 1,000,000 sq. miles.

Per contra Germany has lost: Togo Land (33,700), Kamerun (191,000), Southwest Africa (312,450), Kiaochow (200), South Sea (96,168), Southeast Africa (384,189), 1,017,698.

Germany's ally, Turkey, has lost: Herjaz (now independent) (60,000), Mesopotamia (estimated) (96,000), Sinai (estimated) (11,500), Armenia (estimated) (10,000), 177,500.

In addition to the above Great Britain has annexed in Africa, Darfur, 100,000 square miles.

Of course it goes without saying that Germany's gain in Europe more than counterbalances her losses elsewhere. At the same time at the present writing Germany is losing slowly but steadily what she has gained in Europe, and should she lose the way will doubtless have to give up all that she has gained. It might also be that she would get nothing back on her other losses.

One wonders what German statesmen and military men are thinking about all this "place in the sun," now!

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

May 13, 1917. JESUS THE TRUE VINE. John 15:1-16.

GOLDEN TEXT.—"I am the Vine, ye are the ranches."—John 15, 5.

Jesus talked lovingly with His disciples after they had partaken of the Last Supper. "Little Children," he said, "yet a little time I am with you; whither I go ye cannot come." "Why not?" questioned Peter, and then with his usual assurance he added, "I will lay down thy life for me?" questioned Jesus. "Verily, verily, I say unto thee, the cock shall not crow till thou hast denied me thrice." So much was yet to happen that night, and so swiftly did one event follow upon another, that when his faithfulness was put to the test Peter had already forgotten his Lord's prophecy.

The disciples were unable to understand these words of Jesus and questioned Him as to their meaning. It was at this time that Jesus gave them the beautiful words, the parable of the vine and the branches in which He tries to reveal to them the meaning of the vital bond between himself and them. "What does it mean to abide in Christ? We understand when it means for an army to do what its general does, to have no thought of action cut of him, to follow where he leads. This army lay aside all authority, or rather gives it all to the general, and he, with the responsibility of the great multitude upon him, carries their life with his. For the soul to abide in Christ is then for Christ to be to the soul what the general is to the soldier.

The soldier's will is so entirely at one with his captain's upon the great general purpose of the war, which is victory, that he rejoices to accept the captain's will in all details and make it his own. Christ is at once our Father and our Captain. Perfect affection and perfect loyalty combine to shape our attitude towards Him, and the result of the two is that complete identification of our life with His life by which we "abide in Him."—Phillip Brooks, in "The Battle of Life."

How shall we love One Another?—Even as I have loved you, Christ answers. And how did He love us? By giving us the greatest of all love, by laying down His life for us. We, then are to love one another up to the point of sacrifice. This was a new commandment, new in the depth of love required, new in the required manner of showing love. Love such as Christ enjoins is not mere feeling; it is feeling shown in action. Love that meets His demands must seek the welfare of another, must strive to attain that other's good even though the effort causes trouble or suffering.

In all human relations God intends His royal law of love to reign, whether in education, in business, in the administration of justice, or in diplomacy. Had He desired separate principles and laws for the several departments of life, He would have made them clear. Instead, He declared in the fact of Love-made Flesh and in His acts during His sojourn with us, that Love thus exhibited is the supreme test and covers the whole field. It is a far cry to the ideal for even those who are most advanced in the understanding and practice of love. But the ideal stands fast to beckon and encourage us. Sometimes—soon, perhaps—a century will be born which will be distinguished by the fact that the love of the men who occupy its years is very like the Love where-with Christ first loved us. It will be the greatest of all centuries. If it comes, and its men will be the greatest men—Condensed from an article by Bishop Charles H. Brent.

SOUND ADVICE. 1st Boarder—I can't think how it is you manage to fare so well here. I've industriously made myself pleasant to the landlady and her daughters, and yet I'm half-starved.

2nd Boarder—Try the cook—Passing Show.

Why is the Blood Impure in the Spring? The artificial life of the winter—the artificial foods—the impure air of indoor life—the sedentary habits—the lack of outdoor exercise—all tend to make the blood thin, weak, watery and impure. The nerves are starved, exhausted and wasted—the nerve force required for the proper workings of the heart, the lungs, the stomach, the liver, the kidneys and other organs is not forthcoming and the whole system becomes weakened and run down.

—you can protect yourself by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. The spring air is often laden with disease germs. The waste and decayed matter of winter is thawed out, and forms a regular hothead of disease, from which arise poisonous gases and germs of disease.

People with rich blood throbbing through their arteries need have little fear, for disease seeks out the weak and exhausted for its easy victims. For such there is no season more to be dreaded than spring.

Is this spring to be pleasant or disagreeable to you? Are you to feel invigorated by the fresh Spring air; to rejoice in the opening bud, the sprouting blade, and chirping of the birds? Or will you be overcome with languor and weakness, suffer from headaches and body pains, and drag yourself languidly about as though you had no interest in life and had lost all vigor and energy?

It is for you to decide this question, for the difference is in the state of your health, the richness and purity of your blood, and the vitality of your nervous system. After the debilitating influence of the artificial winter life, nine people out of ten require some restorative treatment to put their systems in order for the enjoyment of life.

As a means of enriching and purifying the blood, building up the system, and revitalizing the wasted nerves, there is yet to be discovered a preparation in any way equal to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

This great food cure is composed of the most powerful restoratives to be found in all Nature's realm. It actually forms new, red corpuscles in the blood, feeds and builds up the shrivelled nerve cells, and gives new vigor and activity to every organ of the body.

When spring comes, vitality is at low ebb, and nine persons out of ten require restorative treatment to form new, rich blood and revitalize the nervous system.

Disease lurks on every hand in the spring time, and finds lodgment in the weak, run-down and exhausted system.
