CABINET COMMITTEE TO TAKE CHARGE

Of Ocean Transportation of Canadian Grain. Undertaking Already in Progress.

(From our own correspondent.)

OTTAWA, Sept. 17.—A sub-committee of the cabinet has been chosen to handle the big problem of ocean transportation of Canadian grain. It consists of Sir Geo. Goster, Hon. Messrs. Burrill, Rogers, Reid and Meighen. The sub-committee is making good progress with the matter it has in hand.

WINSTON CHURCHILL DISCUSSES CONSCRIPTION

(Special to the Guardian.)

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The first speech made in public by a member of the British Cabinet since publication of the rumours of difference of opinion in the Cabinet over the question of conscription and reports that members favouring conscription would resign unless compulsory service was introduced within a week, was delivered by Winston Spencer Churchill, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, this afternoon. "It is not easy at this moment," said Churchill, "for a public man to open his mouth on any subject for there are so many people who seem to have less to do than they ought to do, who are engaged in trying to make difficulties, even more than already existed, and who are seeking to make artificial discussions with regard to matters of great consequence which should be approached in a spirit of impartiality and goodwill."

Churchill added that during the past four or five months the Allies had not done as well as they might have hoped. There have been events, which, while not disastrous, were disappointing. In France and Flanders a series of resolute and costly attacks was made on the German lines, and although ground was gained, the lines of the Germans were not pierced. "In the Dardanelles," he said, "the Allies have gained the ground which led them towards a final conclusion, but they had not gained the advantage of points at which they aimed. Then there had come the retreat of the Russians. While the Russians were re-arming and recovering their strength, those who had the able burden had fallen upon the British. The situation was a very serious one, but the Allies had it in their power to carry the war to a successful conclusion. They would do it, the Chancellor said, if they utilised their whole strength and national capacity. After all, Churchill continued, the Allies did not seek the struggle, and if they did their duty they would have done all they could. If at the end, the speaker concluded, the liberties of Britain and Europe were still intact and inviolate, those who afterwards looked back upon the struggle, but not inglorious, generation would be able to say, "We did not fall under the test, we have preserved the liberties of the world."

BRITISH SUBMARINE LOST IN DARDANELLES

(Special to the Guardian.)

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The Admiralty announced today that in all probability the British submarine E-7, which was sunk off the Dardanelles. The statement follows: "Enemy claims to have sunk submarine E-7, Lieut.-Commander Archibald, in the channel off the Dardanelles, and to have taken 3 officers and 25 men of the crew prisoners. As far as the British are concerned from this submarine since 4th September, it must be presumed that this report is correct."

WHY GREAT OFFENSIVE HAD TO BE ABANDONED.

(Special to the Guardian.)

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The Daily News in an article to-day says it was through German treachery that the great Russian ammunition factory at Okhta, a suburb of Petrograd, was blown to pieces some months ago. Okhta was today said to have been only munition factory in Russia which had a determining influence on the Russian military situation.

TURKEY SEES SIGN OF HER END.

(Special to the Guardian.)

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Advices from Constantinople, according to the Athens correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company, are to the effect that all government financial institutions, such as the Ottoman Bank, are making preparations to move to the interior of Asia Minor. It has been learned from the same sources that because of the fear of an insurrection in the Turkish army, all the Turkish artillery stock will be placed in charge of Germans. As long ago as March 3, diplomats in London received telegrams stating that the Ottoman Bank and the German Bank at Constantinople had been transferred to Koniah, Asia Minor, and that the archives of the Turkish government had been removed to that city. These steps were supposed to have been taken because of the attack upon the Dardanelles and the fear that a passage might soon be forced.

SUMMARY OF WAR SITUATION

(Special to the Guardian.)

LONDON, Sept. 17.—Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's army is now well astride the Dvinsk-Vilna Railway, his advance guard having reached and occupied the town of Vitebsk which is good twenty miles east of the line. This wedge, which the German commander has driven into Russia's defence seriously endangers both Dvinsk and Vilna. The latter town which the Russians once before evacuated again has been left to an army which will attempt only to delay the German advance. All the Government institutions and most of the factories already have been removed to places of safety and the civil population left long ago. Probably a more determined effort will be made to hold Dvinsk which, situated as it is on the broad and fast-flowing river Dvina, can offer strong resistance. Along the rest of the eastern front there has been little change in the situation. The German centre made a further slight advance which met near the railway east of Pinsk, the point of which would separate the northern and southern wings of the Russian armies operating on either side of the Pripiet marshes. The Russians always have affected to disregard such a contingency, however, claiming the two armies are able to operate independently of each other and consequently to continue their offensive from a point east of Kovel through Galicia to the Roumanian frontier. The great efforts to hold the present line in Galicia were doubtless dictated by near the district conference of the British Cabinet which was more complicated as the days pass.

Roumania alone appears to be definitely on the side of the Quadruple Entente. Greece apparently has decided to maintain her neutrality for the time being at any rate. Meanwhile the Allied troops on Gallipoli Peninsula are taking a long rest, only occasionally disturbed by Turkish artillery.

In the west there has been only a repetition of artillery engagements, with the novelty of a German grenade attack near Arras, which the German report says was a French trench.

England is absorbed in a rumoured Cabinet crisis over the question of conscription, to which it is reported David Lloyd George and Winston Spencer Churchill have been convened. Lord Curzon and Lord Lansdowne, Andrew Bonar Law, Walter Hume Long, J. Austen Chamberlain, Earl of Selborne and Sir Edward Carson, conscriptionist members, are said to be threatening to resign unless Premier Asquith, Earl of Admiralty Balfour, Sir Edward Grey, Lord Curzon, and other Cabinet members adopt their chosen policy.

Lacking positive statements from Premier Asquith and Lord Kitchener that compulsory service is necessary for the defence of the country, the system is likely to find little support in the present Parliament with Liberals, Labourites and Nationalists opposed to it. Many members opposed to conscription are prepared to accept, however, the verdict of the Premier's secretary on the question, which now is the subject of serious consideration in the Cabinet.

GERMAN GREASER'S COWARDLY ATTEMPT UPON AN AMERICAN LINER. HE PAID FOR HIS TREACHERY WITH HIS LIFE.

(From our own correspondent.)

OTTAWA, Sept. 17.—News of another attempt upon a passenger liner plying between Liverpool and New York, this time an American vessel, the intended victim, is brought to Ottawa by a recently arrived Government official. The liner in this case was the St. Louis of the American Line. According to the authority who vouched for the story here, the perpetrator of the attempt was a German greaser who paid for his effort with his life. Some curiosity was aroused at Liverpool by the fact that the American liner St. Paul, just in from New York, was preparing to sail again almost at once making what is called a double header trip and the explanation obtained was that the St. Paul was replacing the St. Louis which had been taken to a Clyde shipyard for repairs. A greaser, who turned out to be a German, had poured liquid emery into the pistons of the St. Louis with the object of putting her engines out of commission. The man jumped overboard in an attempt to escape but was overtaken and brought back. He died of exposure.

EXPLORER STEFANSON ALIVE AND WELL

(Special to the Guardian.)

OTTAWA, Sept. 17.—Stefanson, the Canadian explorer, is alive and well. He is safe at Ballise Island, located in a district conference of the British Cabinet which was more complicated as the days pass.

STORY OF ATTEMPT TO BRIBE PRESIDENT OF LONGSHOREMEN TRUE.

(Special to the Guardian.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The New York Sun has secured an interview with Thomas V. O'Connor, president of the International Longshoremen's Union, on a story emanating from New York as to an attempt of European agents to bribe O'Connor with $1,035,000 if he would call a strike of 23,000 longshoremen, through Matthew Cummings of Boston. Mr. O'Connor is in Toledo attending a district conference of longshoremen and his note in the Motor Ship and Motor Boat, while British losses have been only seven, including the E-7, the destruction of which was announced to-day. When the war commenced, the paper declares, Germany had eleven sea-going submarines and sixteen of smaller type, while up to June 17 ten new boats had been added. The assertion is made that the Germans have now only fourteen sea-going submarines, and two of these are in the Mediterranean.

RUIN OF ARRAS BY GERMAN SHELLS IS NOW COMPLETE

Buildings Sent Toppling to Earth and Many Fires Started Before the French Artillery Got Range of the Enemy's Batteries and Put a Stop to the Firing.

(Special to the Guardian.)

PARIS, Sept. 17.—The suburbs of Arras, already partly in ruins, were subjected to a heavy bombardment by the German gunners last night. Buildings were sent toppling in ruins, and several fires started. French artillery quickly got the range of the German batteries, and the bombardment ceased. The French gunfire was particularly effective last night around Roye and Lassigny. German ammunition depots were exploded at a number of points, and destructive fires started. The whole front was illuminated by the glare of burning buildings along the German trench lines. Lively artillery actions continue in the Vosges battle line, this afternoon's communiqué stated, but they have been devoid of important result. No infantry actions of any importance occurred last night.

MONSTER CRIB PLACED IN POSITION AT CARLETON PIER

(Special to the Guardian.)

CAPE TRAVERSE, Sept. 17.—The first reinforced concrete crib arrived at Carleton Point to-day from Point du Chene, N.B. It was towed over by one of Roger Miller's big tugs and successfully placed in position and sunk. The crib is 105 feet long, 35 feet in width and about 40 feet in height from bottom to top. Two more are in readiness and will be placed in position shortly. Crowds of people viewed the monster crib last night from shore and boats.

ELECTIONS RETURNS

(Special to the Guardian.)

The returns received on the night of election were not complete and in several cases there were errors. In the Fifth Electoral District of King's Premier Matheson had a majority of 227, and his colleague, Mr. R. J. McLellan, a majority of 232. Hon. Murdoch McKinnon's majority was 14, while that of Mr. A. P. Prowse was 69. Hon. A. E. Arsenault's majority was 118. The other returns remain practically as given in the Guardian yesterday morning and will remain so until Declaration Day when, possibly, there may be some minor changes which, however, are not likely to change the relative standing of the parties, 17 and 13.

STOKERS TO JAIL FOR IMPERILING SAFETY OF SHIP IN DANGER ZONE.

(Special to the Guardian.)

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 16.—Fourteen stokers employed on the steamer Barranca, have been sentenced to twenty-eight days imprisonment each for imperiling the safety of their vessel by adhering to union regulations when full speed was necessary in passing through the submarine zone. The Barranca was off Pasquet when a wireless message ordering full speed ahead was received. The captain ordered two hours additional work for each stoker, but the men refused to comply unless they were paid for overtime as provided for by the union rules. The Barranca escaped damage.

GERMANMAN'S LOSSES IN SUBMARINES

BRIDE OF THREE WEEKS SLAIN BY BURGLAR.

(Special to the Guardian.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Antony Tinovitch, 164, opened a rear window of the house at 141 4th Street, Passaic, N.J., and got into the dining-room where he hid all the silver in a cloth for removal. Then he crept softly upstairs and took a pocketbook containing $300 from a closet where it had been hidden by John T. Tuiski, who is secretary and treasurer of several benevolent societies. A slight noise awakened Mrs. Tuiski, a bride of three weeks, and on getting quietly out of bed, she came face to face with the burglar in the dark. A struggle followed, during which the intruder drew a razor from his pocket and slashed the woman's throat three times. She fell dead without a groan. Tuiski, awakened by the sound of his wife's fall, groped his way to the hall in time to hear the man running down stairs. He ran after him, but could not get near him. The robber, however, was captured by the police soon after. He was hiding in a barn, but gave himself up without a struggle. The $300 was found in his pocket. Tinovitch refused to make any statement and he was held without bail on the charge of murder.

LARGE QUANTITY OF AMERICAN PRODUCTS DECLARED FORFEITED.

(Special to the Guardian.)

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The British prize court to-day condemned the greater part of the American products forming the cargoes of four steamships. The products, valued at several million dollars, are declared forfeited to the crown. CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—If the confiscation of American meat cargoes ordered in London to-day is upheld on appeal from the British prize court, Chicago packers will lose approximately $15,000,000, at which the shippers were valued. The packers, however, have not yet given up the fight.
