

Children Cry for Fletcher's CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. —The German Charge d'Affaires in Brussels this evening called on the Belgian Foreign Minister, M. Jasper, and said Germany's formal reply to the Belgian demand was being prepared hurriedly, but that it could not be sent until Herr Havenstein had reported to Berlin. The crisis, therefore, will remain in suspense until next week. Meantime, apparently, the only hope of a settlement rests on the possibility of the Bank of England extending a loan to the Reichsbank, which the latter could meet the six months treasury notes to be delivered Belgium under the Belgian compromise plan. However, it is understood the Bank of England will also ask a gold guarantee which may prevent a successful issue of Herr Havenstein's efforts.

Tanlac Demand is Greater Than Ever in History

Modern Plants Have Increased Capacity of 62,240 Bottles a Day But Makers are Still Behind Orders. Medicine Publicly Endorsed by Best People Everywhere.

During the first seven months of this year 3,534,000 bottles of Tanlac have been sold and a new world record for a proprietary medicine is established. More than 30,000,000 bottles have been sold during the eight years Tanlac has been before the public, and to say that it is the largest selling medicine of its kind does not begin to tell the story. No other preparation has ever so extensively and so widely been adopted by Tanlac, and it is expected that the sales this year alone will be more than ten million bottles. Working diligently at full capacity the three modern laboratories at Dayton, Ohio, Walkerville, Canada and Mexico City are still behind with orders, in spite of the fact that the combined output has been increased to 62,240 bottles a day. While the laboratories are striving for quantity production this endeavor is still secondary to the determination to make no sacrifice whatever that will endanger the high quality of the medicine. Tanlac's wide spread and ever increasing popularity is the strongest possible proof of its unquestioned merit. No product, no matter how extensively advertised, could continue to establish world records for sales year after year if it did not produce actual and positive results. Tanlac is composed of the most beneficial roots, herbs and barks known to medical science. The formula is ethical and conforms to all pure food and drug laws, and although Tanlac's superiority is abundantly supported by leading authorities it is the people themselves who have made Tanlac what it is. Millions upon millions have used it and have told other millions what it has done, while thousands of the best people in every community have given public statements of the great benefits they have received by taking it. Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Mysterious Disappearance Of Skipper

(Special to The Guardian.)
CANNO, N. S., Sept. 18—A mystery that has probably never been paralleled even in this part of the world, where who go down to the sea in ships often meet with strange adventures has gripped the interest of this community, and so everybody is wondering. The Hubbards Cove fishing schooner Helen M. Coofen is in port here, ready to sail for the Banks, except that her skipper, Capt. Robert Coofen, also of Hubbards Cove, has disappeared without leaving a trace as to his whereabouts. Since Thursday night when he was last seen by members of his crew, he seems so far as any tidings of him can be found vanished into space. The facts of the date of this strange case, the interest is increasing as time goes by with our bringing a solution so far as your correspondent has been able to gather them are as follows: The fishing schooner Helen M. Coofen arrived here from her home port early in the week and took on board from the Matthews firm a fresh baiting of herring and by Thursday was ready to sail for the Banks. On Thursday morning about nine o'clock in company with a few local friends the Captain went on board his vessel, and it was thought that he would likely sail Thursday. However, he slept on board all day Thursday and sometime that night left the vessel in a dory apparently to go ashore. That however seems to have been the last seen of him by anyone in this locality. The further fact that the dory in which he left the schooner has not been seen since makes matters more mystifying. It is reported that the light-keeper on Harts' Island, at the northern entrance of the harbor, tells the story that he was awakened early Friday morning, perhaps about two or three o'clock by his dog barking, and that he saw a dory with a lone occupant paddling through the passage. Some think it possible that the missing man may have rowed out to sea or been carried out, but for what reason or under what circumstances such an unaccountable action took place one can hardly guess. If he had fallen overboard from his dory and drowned the chances are that the dory would have remained afloat and been picked up some where in the vicinity. The missing man was very well known here and has a wife and large family residing at Hubbards Cove. One son about fourteen years of age as well as a brother are members of the vessel's crew. Word was sent yesterday to his wife and to the owners who it is said are sending another man to take charge. Up to the hour of sending this dispatch no tidings of any kind from far or near have been received which would throw any light on the case.

EXECUTION OF SWIM IS POSTPONED
WOODSTOCK, Sept. 18.—Benny Swim seems jubilant over the fact that he has been given a new lease of life for three weeks, but had nothing much to say. Sheriff Foster also appreciates the granting of the reprieve and hopes he will be able to get a suitable man to do the job. There is a strong sentiment, freely expressed in this community, that these executions should be carried out in the penitentiary at Dorchester. Executioner is Not An "Official"
OTTAWA, Sept. 18.—At the present time, Canada has no official executioner especially retained as such. Arthur Ellis has been recognized as conducting executions, but not, it is announced, as an employee of the Department of Justice. This curious situation is brought to light by the delayed execution of Bennie Swim, who was to have been hanged at Woodstock, N. B., today. At the Department of Justice today it was stated that the execution of convicted murderers is a provincial and not a federal matter and that the department has never employed an executioner. Arthur Ellis made a request, some time ago, that he should be appointed official executioner, but the request was refused.
