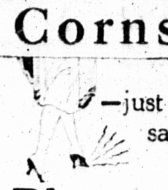
Corns?



—just say

Blue-jay

to your druggist

Stops Pain Instantly

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. A touch stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in two forms—a colorless, clear liquid (one drop does it!) and in extra thin plasters. Use whichever form you prefer, plasters or the liquid—the action is the same. Safe, gentle. Made in a world-famed laboratory. Sold by all druggists.

—TRYON HALL—Concert and box social on Monday evening, 20th at 7.30. Excellent program, the event of the season. Ladies with boxes free. If stormy bring your friends first. First fine night following.

—LECTURE.—On Tuesday evening 14th inst. Rev. W. H. Harding delivered a lecture for the Women's Institute of Darnley in the Darnley Hall on "Woman." There was a splendid gathering and the lecture was listened to with great attention. Rev. Mr. Murchison and Rev. Dr. Genge, of Charlottetown who were present, both made short addresses in which they complimented the lecturer and also the women for arranging such a treat for the community. At the close, there was a sale of candy and a short musical program; altogether netting a nice sum for the improvement of the hall.

—Residents of Muddy Creek were entertained on Friday night by the clever four-act comedy drama "Uncle Rube" which was staged by the St. Nicholas Dramatic Club. There were many specialties between the acts and the entertainment, on the whole was a most satisfactory success both from the viewpoint of the producers and the attendance. The cast of characters included: Reuben Rodney, a justice of the peace, school trustee, and a master hand at "swappin" horses, A. J. Gaudet; Deacon Smalley, a smooth old villian, Philip Arsenault. Mark, his son, a promising young rascal, J. R. Arsenault. Gordon Gray, a young artist, Philip Perry. Upson Asterbilt, a New York swell, A. Perry. Ike, the hired man, Ira Perry. Bub Green, a young rustic Sylvere Perry. Bill Tappam, a constable, Philibert Perry. Millicent Lee, "the pretty schoolma'am" Eileen Perry. Mrs. Maria Bunn, a charming widow, Sylvia Gaudet. Taggs, a waif from New York, Edna Gaudet.

—THE CHINESE DRAMA will be repeated by request tomorrow night, March 21st, in Epworth Hall, admission 25 cts., children 15 cts. Part proceeds for monument fund.

—SENTENCED—At the adjourned prohibition case, arising from the Darnley distillery matter, Peter Power appeared before Judge McQuarrie in the Summerside court on Saturday morning and was fined $200.00 in cash and one month in jail, on the proven charge of making illicit liquor. In the event of the fine not being paid, the prisoner will be sentenced to serve a six months' sentence in addition to the one month already imposed.

—ENTERTAINED.—On Wednesday evening Rev. J. J. McDonald, entertained, at the Parochial House at Summerside, all the eight sons of Councillor Charles McElman, who have been home on a visit to their parents. A most enjoyable evening was spent in smoking and general conversation. Messrs. Ollie, Thomas and Wilfrid left on Thursday morning for their homes, the latter for Moncton, N. B., and the two former for Boston. Their mother, to whom they have been paying a visit, is still, we regret to say, seriously ill.

—ANOTHER BURGLARY was committed in Summerside at an early hour, Friday morning last. This time it was the residence of Mr. B. W. Tanton Summer street, which was entered. The burglar got in through the pantry window which was left unlocked. He helped himself to a large bag which was hanging in the cellar-way and into this he proceeded to pack Mr. Tanton's silverware. Mrs. Tanton heard the noise downstairs and moved towards the scene of action and the burglar being alarmed made his escape leaving behind the bag and contents.

—St. Patrick's night was fittingly celebrated in Summerside by the production of the comedy drama "Peter Piper's Troubles", which was enacted before a large audience in Happyland theatre, by the talented members of The Ancient Order of Hiberuians Dramatic Club. Specialties between the acts were offered by Misses Gaudet and Callbeck. The cast of characters included: Gerald Mulligan as Peter Piper, a lawyer's clerk and victim of Wilfred Kelly, as Selwyn Kilby, a poor circumstance artist with great expectations. Alfred Keoghan, as Jonah Bundy, a regular Jonah with deep designs. Joseph L. McCullough as Daniel Gubbins, looking out for No. 1. John McNally, as Hon. Adolphus Gudgeon, an Englishman. Gertrude Cameron as Doris Chester, a music teacher. Edith Doyle, as Winifred Barrington, a dashing widow. Kathleen Cameron, as Betsy Bonvar, a Canadian girl.

—LECTURE by Rev. J. F. Denny on Wednesday, March 22, at 8 p. m., at Souris on "A tropical Wonderland: Its Races and Romance."

A Great Dirigible Line

The United States Chamber of Commerce announced a few days ago that a gigantic corporation had been formed for promoting commercial navigation of the air and the establishment of regular lines of service by huge dirigibles. The corporation is to be known as the General Air Service. The men at the back of this undertaking are not going into it blindly as they have been investigating the feasibility of the scheme for some time with the assistance of Dr. Johann Schuette, of the Schuette Lanz Airship Company of Germany. The first line will be operated between New York and Chicago and from Chicago to the coast as soon as ships can be built. Two ships are to be put in the New York and Chicago line and each will be capable of carrying one hundred passengers and 30 tons of mail and express. It is understood that the first ships will be built in Germany. Helium will be used instead of hydrogen for the great balloons and oil will be used as fuel instead of gasoline The United States will be served first, but it is proposed to extend the service shortly by connecting with South America, Europe and Asia. The fate of the Roma is too fresh in the public mind to permit of any great enthusiasm at present for this big scheme and yet we cannot but realize that an air service, say between Canada and Great Britain or the United States and Europe would be a most wonderful thing, while an air ships' route that would link North and South America would seem still more wonderful. No doubt, however, these things will come and perhaps, sooner than we think.

Grandma Used Sage Tea to Darken Hair

SHE MIXED SULPHUR WITH IT TO RESTORE COLOR, GLOSS YOUTHFULNESS

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is faded, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store, all ready for use. This is the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark glossy, soft and luxuriant.

Lloyd George Will Not Resign

Lloyd George still leads the British government, the one great figure in European politics which has managed to outlast the convulsion of the Great War and its tremendous aftermath. But Lloyd George has been under a most terrific strain for years and his real friends insist that he must have a real and prolonged rest. His enemies think so too, and are fully prepared to assist him in taking it in fact some of them would be all the happier if he rested permanently. But "little David" is not of a pronounced restful disposition and just now he has been telling his political friends just what he wants them to do and he threatens to resign unless they rally round him more enthusiastically than they have been doing during recent months. The old Liberals are following Mr. Asquith and they seem to be looking for a Labor alliance. And the "die hards" in the Conservative party have never had much use for Mr. Lloyd George and would gladly see him deposed. But the Coalition Liberals and Conservatives have no man in sight to fill Lloyd George's shoes and if the "best hated man in England" drops out it looks like political chaos. To the outsider just now it looks as though Lloyd George were a political necessity to the British government, and he knows it and his friends and enemies know it also.

Egypt Independent

The people of Egypt have at last realized their ambition to become a free and self-governing nation. When an uprising against the reigning Sultan of Egypt in 1882 made British occupation a necessity, Gladstone, who was then premier of Great Britain promised that the occupation was to be only temporary. Subsequent events however, did not warrant the withdrawal of the British forces and in 1904 it became necessary for the defence of the country against attack to terminate the Turkish suzerainty and to establish a British protectorate Both Lord Milner, who last year was sent at the head of a commission to go to Egypt and study the conditions on the spot, and Lord Allenby, the present high commissioner of Egypt, strongly advised the termination of the British protectorate and the granting of the Egyptian independence, and this counsel has prevailed in London. The terms are the immediate abolition of the protectorate, the convocation of a constitutional government to which the cabinet shall be responsible, the abolition of martial law and the establishment of a ministry of foreign affairs. The question of guarantees is to be left to the new Egyptian parliament which is to have full powers to make a settlement. It is mutually in the interests of Egypt and of Great Britain to guard the Suez Canal and a satisfactory arrangement will be made for this purpose. The agreement provides for the security of the communications of the British Empire in Egypt; the defence of Egypt against all foreign aggression or interference, direct or indirect; protection of the foreign interests of Egypt and the protection of minorities. The British occupation of Egypt has been an incalculable blessing to the country, bringing to an enslaved and pauperized people freedom and prosperity. Intelligent Egyptians realize this fully; but like all other peoples they desire self government. It now remains to be seen what use they will make of their newly acquired liberty.
