FAMOUS WAR CORRESPONDENT DEAD. LONDON, June 18.—The death occurred yesterday of Bennett Burleigh, oldest and most widely known war correspondents. A Scotsman, born in Glasgow nearly seventy years ago, he early followed the drum, for he joined the ranks of the Confederates in the civil war and fought through the entire campaign, being twice captured and sentenced to death by northern troops. Later he turned to newspaper work, and reported a number of campaigns for a news agency.

In 1887 he began connection with the London Daily Telegraph, which lasted till his death. He followed for that paper the Egyptian war, and the various Sudan campaigns, French annexation of Madagascar, the Ashanti war, the Spanish expedition in Morocco, the first Greece-Turkish war, the Tripolitan war, Transvaal-St. Malo war, the Russian-Japanese war, the recent Balkan war. For many years he was able to visit his home on only rare occasions, owing to his constant service in the field. At one time Bennett Burleigh went into politics and stood for a Scottish constituency. Outside of his newspaper writing he was the author of a number of books which were widely read.
