A PROGRESSIVE BUSINESS FIRM

Brace, McKay & Co., Ltd. Forge to the Head With the Best Goods Procureable—Big Season's Business.

The business carried on by Brace, McKay & Co., Ltd., Summerside, is in a sense, unique, inasmuch as the other stores aim to carry a little of everything, while Braces, make a big specialty of the "hard" or staple lines that others dabble in or avoid altogether, because of the small returns in the way of profit.

Buying in large quantities for spot cash and turning over the stock quickly at small margins, liberal, but not extravagant advertising, giving customers the benefit of the excessive cost of issuing a catalogue and by the men behind Braces' having a thorough knowledge and experience in the different branches of hardware and other lines and with an exceptionally capable and efficient staff, have so handled their business that today it is known as the store that carries the largest and best assorted stock of standard (no catalogue quality) goods, have the right prices, ship promptly and all goods guaranteed to please or money refunded.

This season, Braces have given fox and mink setting particular attention and being the largest dealers in Canada, handled more than the combined out-put of all the other Maritime Province dealers, and many a ranchman will testify to the superior quality of their "RED LABEL" netting as well as the exceptionally prompt attention given to their urgent orders. "RED LABEL" netting has been sent by Braces to every Province in Canada (including the Yukon) as well as to Newfoundland.

Smeit nets is another specialty which are now in season and on which Braces are having a big run both in gill and bag nets. Always remember when thinking of buying anything "IF BRACES HANDLE, THERE IS THE PLACE TO BUY, as you will get right goods at right prices, prompt shipment and general satisfaction; be the order given personally, by letter, by a friend, by phone or by wire.

NO INDICATION THAT CURRENCY PANIC IS TO BE APPREHENDED

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—If any one should try at this time to persuade the people that resentful, disappointed and malicious capitalists are wondering whether there may not be a good object lesson on the country in a panic this winter, his statements would make no impression excepting upon persons who are very ignorant or who do not have the prosperity of the country at heart.

So far as anyone can see, there is not to be discovered today a single condition which would justify the apprehension that a currency panic is possible. Of course, every one who is of experience knows that panics are usually suddenly developed, and it may be that in the course of the winter or early spring some complications may suddenly appear which will lead to swift and violent contractions in the money market. But there is today not the slightest reason for suspecting that a condition of that kind will arise.

One little incident of the past week or ten days illustrates the case with which the banks of New York City meet somewhat heavy or unusual demands. They have been furnishing gold in almost unprecedented amounts to Canada. The movement of this gold represents marketing in which Canada and Great Britain have probably the exclusive share. The mother country is buying Canada's wheat by hundreds of thousands of bushels. The condition of the banks of New York city is favorable to such participation in this great transaction as enabled us to ship gold to Canada, this gold representing, in part at least, payments made by Great Britain to Canada for wheat. It is a transaction in which foreign exchange plays a profitable part.

THE REAL TROUBLE

It would be impossible to formulate any sound argument which would justify a suspicion that if there be no banking panic there may be nevertheless a business panic. Unless all of the investigations in mercantile and manufacturing conditions are sadly inaccurate the business life of the United States is on the whole fundamentally healthy. It would be difficult, therefore, to conjecture any situation out of which may be developed causes which will lead to a business panic, that is to say widespread bankruptcy, and the overthrow of commercial houses.

Some of the authorities here think that the high cost of living may be of considerable influence in bringing about depression of business. These men, however, are certain that a great service will be done if the American people as a whole can be so instructed respecting living costs as to learn that the conditions do not exclusively prevail in the United States.

SIR WILFRID'S SERVICE

It was said this morning that a considerable service of that kind was performed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, formerly prime minister of Canada and now the leader of the Liberal party of the Dominion, when he stated in the speech made by him at Hamilton, Canada, a few days ago, that the cost of living has increased seven per cent in Great Britain, and has increased fifty-one per cent in Canada since 1902. Sir Wilfrid used these statistics for the purpose of sustaining his argument in favor of free trade in food products. But the statement incidentally serves to prove that high cost of those articles which are deemed necessary to life is not an exclusive condition in the United States.

SOME OTHER REASONS

Some of the men of affairs of this city who have been studying prevailing conditions are of the opinion that the depression of business in the United States is sympathetic to some extent with the depression which now characterizes the countries of Europe. This is traced in part to the effect of the Balkan war, and to the great strain which is occasioned by the making of new and large national loans, and also the very heavy drain which is represented by the payment of interest upon the national debts of the world. The aggregate payments of this kind reach to stupendous figures.

ANOTHER REASON

Others suspect that the disposition of the administration in Washington to carry on proceedings against what is called "big business" similar to, or even more vigorous than, proceedings carried on in the administration of President Taft does explain some part of the hesitation which is now characteristic of American business life. If "big business" is to be ended, if the business of the country is to be carried on by a great number of small but individual units, American business men feel that the sooner they know that this is to be our method in the future the better it will be for business.

But of one thing our own business men and bankers feel sure and that is that there is to be no panic. They do not see how anything like a panic of cyclonic activity in the banking and currency world or how anything like panic in the world of business may take place although it is unlikely there will be business depression continued for some months.

IN OLDEN TIMES

"A girl will put the money that in former days would have been invested in a winter's supply of red flannel petticoats into a string of beads and then stand out in the cold and argue about how much woolen underwear she had in the last few years," says the Ohio State Journal. But perhaps in the good old red flannel petticoat days there were no beads on the market.—Ex.

CHURCHILL'S PILOT KILLED IN AIRSHIP

LONDON, Dec. 2.—Captain G. V. Wildman Lushington, with whom Winston S. Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, made a flight on Saturday to take lessons to obtain the certificate of an air ship pilot, was killed today when his machine overturned and fell several hundred feet at the Royal Aero Club's grounds at Eastchurch.

Captain Henry Fawcett of the Royal Marines, who was in the machine, suffered only slight injuries.

MIDDLEMEN'S PROFITS THIRTY-NINE PER CENT

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—It costs thirty-nine cents to distribute one dollar's worth of food in this city. The Bureau of Food Supply of the New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor has been conducting a cost-of-living inquiry, and made public a report today showing that sixty-one cents represents the cost of the food on its arrival at the terminal markets here, while the rest of the consumer's dollar is divided between wholesaler and retailer in the process of getting the food to the consumer's kitchen. "Every consumer," said Bailey B. Burrett, who directed the inquiry, "is amazed at the constantly diminishing quantity of food that his dollar brings to him, and every producer is equally amazed at the small proportion of the consumer's dollar that finds its way into his pockets."

The remedy, the report asserts, is a reorganization of the food distribution system, based on the result of careful experiments with the economic efficiency of various methods of retail distribution. These experiments, it is set forth, should be made by a group of individuals with no thought of profit.

PIRATED AUTO IS DISCOVERED

TORONTO, Dec. 5.—Five boys of this city are implicated in the theft of an automobile from Mr. Lewis Prosser, 164 Indian Road. The boys, whose ages range from 13 to 15 years, are: Henry Simpson, St. Patrick street; Fred Doyle, no address; Morris Navagin, Lee avenue; W. Keene, Spadina avenue, and William McKeown, Queen street west. "They were arrested yesterday in Oakville village by Chief of Police Street, and Detectives Twigg and Montgomery were sent to bring them back to the city."

According to the local police, the lads stole the car from in front of Massey Hall on Monday evening. As soon as the theft was discovered a description of the machine was telegraphed to all outlying points. Yes, he due to over-doses of chlorine. "The car standing opposite the Oakville town hall, having been stalled on account of some defect in the engine. He walked towards the lads with the intention of offering some help, but as soon as he noticed that the license number corresponded with that of Mr. Prosser's machine he placed the five youths under arrest."

Two of the boys will be dealt with by Commissioner Starr in the Juvenile Court, while the other three, who are over sixteen years, will come up before Colonel Denison in Police Court today.
