Festive Music At Zion Church

Following the regular service in Zion Church last evening a beautiful Cantata was rendered by a 50 voice choir under the direction of Frank Johnson.

"The Song of Thanksgiving" by Maunder was indeed a festival of Thanksgiving and Praise and was accepted as such by a large congregation who listened with rapt attention. Mrs. Arthur Roper, Harry Craswell and Wendall Phillips were never heard to better effect as soloists.

A trio number "While the Earth Remaineth" sung by Mrs. June Larter, Miss Norma Dalziel and Harry Craswell was particularly effective as was also two duets, "The Eyes of All Wait Upon Thee" by Mrs. Larter and John MacLeod and "The Blushing Fruits Appear at His Command" by Mrs. Roper and Harry Craswell.

Mr. Johnson's special organ numbers were of his usual perfection. Mr. Johnson and his choir are to be commended for their fine effort.

eau's "entire force of industrial hygienists" in southwestern Pennsylvania to the stricken community.

Dr. William Rongann, member of the city's Board of Health, called the deaths "plain murder" at an open meeting of the group today.

"There is just something here in the air over Donora—whether from the zinc mill or other mills—that is causing this and it's not right," he declared.

Suspect Zinc Works

Stacey said he believed the smog —caused by a mixture of fog and industrial smoke—contained fumes coming from the plant of the American Steel and Wire Corporation, a United States Steel subsidiary.

The plant, a zinc works, early today ordered its smelter closed until further notice.

Stacey said 15 deaths had been reported earlier in the day but three more persons had died Saturday night.

He said all of Saturday's deaths were attributable to the smog condition.

Earlier Rudy Schwerha, a member of the Donora Health Board, said: "The deaths seem to have hit people who were suffering from cardiac or asthmatic conditions. There's no doubt the smog has been the cause."

Most doctors gave the cause of the deaths as heart failure.

No Respecter of Ages

DONORA, Pa., Oct. 31—(AP)—The "death in the smog" epidemic which hit this small industrial city, killing 20 persons and making 400 others ill, was no respecter of ages.

A doctor who asked that his name be not used said today he had treated a baby of 4 1-2 months and a woman of 85 years. He said, however, all the deaths were among elderly people.

The doctor said three methods of treatment were generally used. They were injection, use of oxygen tents and doses of anti-hitiminic. The last is a drug used for asthma.

He said those stricken found themselves breathing with difficulty and complained of pains in the chest. All the victims died of heart failure, brought on by an overworked heart, due to lack of oxygen. The deaths, the doctor said, were relatively painless.

Report Series Of Car Accidents Last Night

A woman was injured and had to be taken to a doctor, and two men, one from Covehead and one from Charlottetown, were being held pending court action on charges of drunken driving, as the result of two car accidents, while a third accident in which no one was hurt and no court action was necessary, all occurred last night between 8:10 and 8:20, City Police reported.

The injured woman, Mrs. Ira Gay, City, was taken to a doctor for treatment and will undergo X-ray examination today for back injuries and possible internal injuries, police said. The injuries were sustained, when a car proceeding west on Grafton Street crashed head on into the car in which Mr. and Mrs. Gay were sitting, which was parked on the south side of Grafton Street, facing east, between Weymouth and Grafton Streets. The driver of the offending car, who is from Covehead, was taken into custody by City police, charged with drunken driving. Mr. Gay's car received considerable damage to the front grill, bumper and fog light.

The second accident occurred on Elm Avenue, when a parked car facing north on that street was sideswiped by a second car proceeding north on the same street, causing damage to the left rear fender of the parked car and damaging its own right rear fender. The driver of the offending car was from the City and was also apprehended by police for drunken driving.

The third accident was on Great George Street when a car travelling south was struck by a car backing out from in front of the V-Taxi, causing slight damage to both vehicles.

The two leading candidates will make radio appeals tomorrow night — the traditional 11th hour plea for the people to get out and vote.

Dopesters predict that little more than half the eligible voters will turn out — about 50,000,000 perhaps — and the Weather Bureau forecasts rain in most of the country for Tuesday.

Truman will sit out the waiting ordeal in his big frame house in Independence, Missouri, which he reached today after a Saturday night speech in St. Louis. He was given a friendly, boisterous reception. He will vote in Independence.

Dewey will come down to his New York City hotel headquarters tomorrow, with his family. The Dewey's will vote here and remain to hear the results.

In Madison Square Garden last night Dewey addressed a crowd that packed the 18,000-seat arena. He attacked the Democratic administration as a divided group that "never did know the meaning of teamwork and competence."

Truman told his St. Louis audience that Dewey was conducting a "fake campaign."

Gardiner, is betting against 1950. It's 10 to one, he told Regina Liberals last week, that the polling will be "long before" 1960. Mr. Gardiner may just have been aiming at keeping the party stalwarts on their toes, but there are valid arguments backing him up.

The next parliamentary session, starting in January, is expected to bring considerable tax reductions and probably enlarged security measures.

The Government will want a space of time between these moves and polling day, in order to let their effect hit the public. But it won't want a gap big enough to let the public forget them by the time it goes to the polls.

That, say the experts, would appear to rule out an election immediately after the close of the session, which probably will be about June.

From late June until mid-September is considered a poor time to call an election, since farmers are busy at harvest, so the guessing is it will go over to October.

The last general elections was held June 11, 1945. Current standing in the Commons is: Liberals, 124; Progressive Conservatives, 66; C.C.F., 32; Social Credit, 13; others, eight; vacant, two.

The Case Of The Shrinking Pumpkin

Hallowe'en is pumpkin-time and the largest, heaviest, pumpkinest pumpkin was seen in the market last Friday. At least that was what everyone in sight had to say about it.

It looked like a find. Fifty-six lbs. of pumpkin is given a second look in any man's country. But when it sits in a sort of regal dignity, ignoring the small stir around it, completely contained in its own golden glow, it's impressiveness—and of course, the comments of it's immediate admirers—at once suggest that one is gazing on some kind of record.

With a fitting sense of respect towards this possibility, it was girthed and the reading was 4 ft. 3 1-2 ins. What a pumpkin! and the gentleman in Mr. Roop's market stand thought that Mr. Wm. A. Jenkins of Seal River, the grower, had probably lots more like it.

The first friend encountered, however, remembered growing a pumpkin of 71 lbs. But that was way back somewhere around 1910. Even at that, the market-pumpkin shrank considerably. But when he suggested that a phone call would find the owner and grower of a 92 lb. monster, all thought of records vanished and the pumpkin became, in the mind's eye, no bigger than a good sized turnip.

Dutifully phoning — but with waning interest — it was found that Mr. Harold Newson had grown a couple of prize-winning, mottle-grey Giant Chilis, about forty years ago, which weighed, respectively, 124 and 126 lbs.

That there pumpkin at the market? No bigger than a green pepper.

New President Of Acadia Visits Here

ANNAPOLIS ROYAL, N. S., Oct. 31—(CP)—A $150,000 marshlands reclamation project at nearby Belleisle is described as a total loss following a 26-foot freshet on the Annapolis River Saturday.

The project, part of a multi-million dollar scheme financed jointly by the Federal and Provincial Governments and the farmers, would have reclaimed 1,000 acres of marshlands in the Belleisle area.

Successful Youth Conference Of Churches Of Christ

Perhaps one of the finest Youth Conferences on record was held this week-end, October 30, and 31, in Central Christian Church, Charlottetown. Delegates from practically every church on the Island were in attendance and a fine spirit predominated the sessions. On Saturday evening a splendid banquet was prepared for visiting delegates by the Gratia Club and Ladies Aid of Central Christian Church. During the supper, at which over 80 were served, choruses were sung and a vote of thanks was extended the organizations making the banquet possible.

Following the banquet the young people, with many older people in attendance, retired to the main auditorium where the evening service was held. The service began at 8 p.m. with Miss Vida Stewart, the retiring president, appointing the personnel of the following committees: camp, resolution, nominating and time and place.

Miss Stewart then presented a devotional thought upon the Conference theme: "Are ye Able?" She elaborated upon the subject by citing several situations in which it is difficult to amintain composure and poise.

Mr. William Bilson of the Summerside Church presented a ringing challenge in the main evening address under the theme: "Keep the Securities of your Faith Intact", using for his main divisions Keeping Secure the Word of God: God's Day and God's House.

Interesting Film

The evening was made complete by the showing of several films, chief among which was the film, "The Pay Off" an exceptionally fine film upon "Temperance". Thanks are due to Rev. W. T. Mercer, minister from Mt. Stewart who made a special effort to bring this film in for showing. A debt of gratitude is due the National Film Board for the use of the machine with which the films were shown.

The Lord's Day proved to be a wonderful spiritual feast. The morning service was marvelously attended and the minister, Mr. Dunbar, presented a message under the topic: "Young Man, Remember"! Three subdivisions marked Mr. Dunbar's message: "Remember that we are recipients this day of a priceless inheritance. Remember, that it is the result of suffering and shame. And thirdly that tenacity and love for the faith will guarantee the victory." Special music was presented by the Charlottetown Youth Society.

The afternoon service was splendidly attended. The session was in charge of the capable Vice President, Mr. Merril Nicholson of Fredericton. The special music of the afternoon service was in charge of the Montague Young People's Choir. Mr. Preston Rose of East Baltic presented a brief devotional.

Mr. Robert Bryan of the Montague Church of Christ gave the afternoon address. Taking for his subject, "We are Able", the speaker presented a stirring address under three special headings. He admonished the young people to "become overcomers of moral trials, which they were well equipped to to, to improve and conquer spiritually, and to advance with zeal New Testament Christianity—for in so doing we shall win the eternal promises."

Committee Reports

The Committees were then asked to present their reports. The Camp Committee brought in the following suggestions for Deans of the 1949 Provincial camps. Mr. William Bilson, Dean of the Adult Camp; Mr. William Weale, Dean of the Sr. Young People's camp; Mr. Paul L. Richardson, Dean of the Junior Camp.

A warm vote of thanks was expressed by the young people to Mrs. A. B. Houston (in absentia) for her untiring efforts as camp cook and manager through the years.

The young people stood for a full minute in memory of the late Brother J. W. Hayter, who had served so effectively on the faculty of the 1947 camp.

The resolution committee in a resolution expressed the desire to maintain the splendid spirit of interest now shown in future conferences and camps. A resolution of thanks was drafted by the committee, to the congregation of Central Christian Church for the hospitable way in which the delegates were entertained.

The committee of time and place presented their report which named Summerside as the place of next year's Youth Conference, to take place the last week-end in October.

The nominating committee brought in the following slate of officers: ppresident, Mr. Merril Nicholson, Fredricton; vice-president, Miss Barbara MacLure, Montague; secretary-treasurer, Miss Dorothy Linkletter, Summerside.

Evening Service

The evening worship service was in charge of the newly appointed President, Mr. Merril Nicholson. He introduced the song-leader of the evening, Mr. Malcolm Matheson of Hunter River, who lead the congregation which filled the auditorium and balcony in a fifteen minutes sing song of hymns and chorus. Mrs. M. C. Stewart was the organist of the evening with Mr. O. K. Presby at the piano. The accompainment served to spark the singing.

Mr. Paul Richardson brought the evening address. Mr. Richardson of the New Glasgow Christian Church spoke upon the subject: "In Christ Is My Sufficiency." He pointed out that by making a supreme effort to follow Christ and to drink the cup which he did drink — the cup of suffering — He would become our sufficiency in love, as a redeemer and guide.

It was a splendid message and brought to a most fitting close a most wonderful Youth Conference. There was no particular high light of the Conference. Every session was literally filled with a stirring enthusiasm which marks, it is believed, the beginning of a grand new day in the life of Youth work in Prince Edward Island. Many pleasant memories will serve as a grand impetus to the two week evangelistic meetings beginning tonight in Central Christian Church.

Hallowe'en Celebration

Hallowe'en's Saturday night festivities passed off without serious damage though one mischievous youngster was responsible for the Fire Department being called out to what Fire Chief H. H. Jewell said could have been a disastrous fire.

About 10 o'clock Saturday evening, the youngster went into the "Sugar Bowl," a small store located in the MacKenzie building on Queen Street and purchased some firecrackers. Lighting one against the expressed wishes of the girl clerk, the youngster threw it behind the counter where it fell into an open box of unsold firecrackers. Instantly there was a series of explosions and burning firecrackers were flung in all directions in the store. Flames sprang up and the Fire Department was called.

Owing to the nearness of the Department to the store, only a few moments elapsed before the arrival of the firemen. No serious damage was done but the large plate glass window and the front door were broken. There was also considerable damage to the interior.

Chief Jewell said it was a particularly bad time for a fire to occur in that locality. At 10 p.m., especially on a Saturday night, Queen Street is thronged with pedestrians and the dense crowds always make the work of the firemen more difficult.

Elsewhere in the City, there was little sign of vandalism. The Kinsmen Club held a Hallowe'en party for the youngsters at the Armouries and hundreds of children attended who, had they not been guests of the Kinsmen, would have added their numbers to the hundreds of Hallowe'en revellers parading the streets.

Elsewhere in the City, thre was no serious injury to property but Maritime Electric officials reported that the Spring Park Road section of the City was in darkness resulting from the breaking of street lights. The number broken will not be known, the officials said, until a check-up is made today.

Some traffic signs were knocked down also.

Chief of Police Birtwistle said last night that Saturday night's celebration resulted in the usual amount of damage but that destruction to property was slight.

going first aid treatment.

Two of the injured are in critical condition. They are Alcide Boulet, of Courcelles, and N. Duquet, 28, of Ste. Cecile who suffered first and second degree burns.

The bus was travelling from Megantic to Tring Junction when the accident occurred. As it passed through the centre of Lambton, the vehicle missed a sharp turn at the foot of a slight hill, overturned, skidded across the road and crashed into two gasoline tanks of a service station.

The tanks exploded and the bus was immediately engulfed in a mass of flames.

Most of the passengers managed to escape death in the flaming bus by climbing to safety through the windows.

The service station, a general store and a private home were completely destroyed in the fire that followed. The three buildings were the property of J. Morin, of Lambton. Several adjoining buildings were damaged by fire, water and smoke. Firemen from Lambton, St. Evariste, Courcelles and Megantic, fought the flames for several hours.

It is believed that there were no other people but the 17 injured and dead in the bus when the accident occurred.

Arabs Driven From Northern Palestine

TEL AVIV, Israel, Oct. 31 — (AP) — Israeli troops drove Arab forces out of Northern Palestine today and were reported by United Nations observers to have continued their advance across the border into Lebanon.

An Israeli communique said all Arab resistance had been cleared from the entire Galilee area in a smashing climax to the Jews' two-day-old offensive.

MOSCOW, Oct. 31— (AP) — Russia's new Pobeda passenger automobile was put on sale to the general public Saturday in a new automobile store that opened here. The pobeda is a small four-door sedan powered by a four-cylinder engine and has a neat, original appearance.

Unveiling Of Memorial Windows In The Kirk

Yesterday morning in St. James' Church honour was paid to the memory of all the faithful departed in Christ in a special service conducted by the Minister, the Rev. T. H. B. Somers, M. A., S. T.M. The music was under the direction of the church organist, Miss E. Lillian McKenzie, Mus. Bac. and included Woodward's lovely commemoration-tide anthem "The Sun Shall Be No More Thy Light By Day" and the hymns:

"Give me the wings of faith to rise
Within the veil, and see
The saints above, how great their joys,
How bright their glories be." and Henry Alford's appropriate lines:

"Ten Thousand times ten thousand,
In sparkling raiment bright,
The armies of the ransomed saints
Throng up the steeps of light;
'Tis finished, all is finished,
Their fight with death and sin;
Fling open wide the golden gates,
And let the victors in."

Memorial Windows Unveiled

A special feature of the service was the unveiling by Mr. A. W. Hyndman of two stained glass windows erected in memory of his parents by the surviving members of their family. These were solemnly dedicated in prayer by the Minister to the glory of God. Mr. Somers' sermon was based on the text, "I shall be satisfied when I awake with thy likeness," (Psalm XVII. 15) and he said in part:

"At this Holy Season of Remembrance, as our hearts go out in affection and gratitude to those dear to us who are no longer visible to our mortal sight — and we are all remembering someone today—let it not be mere remembrance, but a conscious fellowship with them born of a faith that in love and communion they still are ours. They are parted from us for a season that we should have them forever. "I give unto them eternal life and they shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of my hand." He is able to keep that which we have committed to His trust. What form they wear, how shall we see them when we meet again, we do not know.

"But whatever vehicle of expression personality there requires God will provide Who giveth to every seed a body of its own. There is a natural body and there is a spiritual body. It was sown in weakness, it is raised in power. It was sown in dishonour, it is raised in glory. We know that when our Lord appeared to His disciples after his resurrection they recognized Him, and He said, "Behold, it is I, myself!" So must it be with the departed. They are still themselves and their personality has not suffered change.

"Further than that we cannot go, nor need we go. The finite cannot comprehend the infinite, neither can human thought embrace that which eye has not seen, nor ear heard, neither has it entered into the heart of man to conceive. Rather let us try to be faithful in our day and to finish the work that is given us to do, remembering that by doing our duty in this present world we best fit ourselves for the next. Thus we may look forward in confidence to that glad day when through the tender mercy of God our joy will at last be full, and we will see Him Whom now our departed loves ones see, and with them will be satisfied in our awakening in His likeness.

"Twilight and evening bell
And after that the dark!
And may there be no sadness of farewell,
When I embark;
For though from out our born of time and place
The flood may bear me far
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crost the bar.
"In the presence of which blessed hope, surely every sin and sorrow and shadow flees forever affrighted away!"

Fine Organ And Vocal Recital

A most enjoyable organ and vocal recital was given last night in St. Paul's Church by Mr. Royston F. Mugford, organist, and Mr. Stanley Lancaster, vocalist.

The well chosen programme was as follows:

Fantasia and Fugue in A Minor, (J. S. Bach).
Barcarollette, (Ed. Poldini).
Arm, Arm ye Brave, (Handel).
The Trumpet Shall Sound (Handel).
The Lord is my Light (Allitson)
Stanley Lancaster.
Berceuse in A (Alex Rowley).
Scherzo Caprice (Alec Rowley).
Carillon De Wesminster, (Louis Vierne).
It is Enough (Mendelssohn).
The People That Walked in Darkness (Handel).
The Voice of the Wilderness (Prindle-Scott).
Stanley Lancaster.
Scherzo in F (C. H. Parry).
Toccata in F, from the 5th Organ Sympathy (Charles Marie Widor).

The excellent playing of Mr. Mugford is well and favorably known, not only to St. Paul's congregation, but to all music lovers in Charlottetown. His technique is very brilliant and his musical discrimination and judgment authoritative. But he excels particularly in registration, choosing, as it seems unerringly, from the tonal palette afforded him by his instrument those colours best suited to the mood and character of the music he is rendering. This was particularly marked in the Bach fugue; also in Vierne's "Carillon de Westminster", the Parry "Scherzo" and the much played and popular Widor "Toccata". Of the "Carillon", the programme note states: "Louis Vierne uses the notes of the famous Westminster Chimes as a basis for the theme of this piece. The Schulmeric Electronic Chimes are used here as additional registration. This work is dedicated to Henry Willis, one of Britain's finest organ builders."

Mr. Lancaster possesses a lyrical baritone voice of pure quality and excellent intonation, which was heard at its best in his second group of songs. Incidentally, like many Handel arias, "The Trumpet Shall Sound" contains much repetition, both of words and the associated music, and; when chosen for ordinary recital singing would not be the worse for a little judicious cutting.

One wonders if Mr. Mugford could be persuaded, later on, to give an all Bach recital. As that incomparable master has written music of widely divergent character and spirit, from short and intricate, though beautiful, fugues and church and secular cantatas to boisterous and hearty jigs, such a programme need be by no means monotonous or heavy.

In closing, one can but express the thanks and appreciation of their audience to Mr. Lancaster and Mr. Mugford for the splendid music they presented last night.

Public Library

A public library is a world of peace,
Free from all pettiness and biting care;
A kingdom where imagination soars
Filled with vast riches everyone may share.

Sages and bards from many lands are here
With healing balm they speak to troubled hearts;
And hours of joy await for those who see
The beauty that a noble book imparts.

Here is a world of romance and adventure,
Ideas, strange, intriguing come to me,
My mind can stretch its wings, and I can share
A public library's quiet tranquility.
