Notes by the Way

IN its report of the joint meeting of opposing candidates at the discussion in North Wiltshire, Mr. LePage's favorite paper makes him responsible for the following statement:—

By James W. Barton, M.D.

That Body of Yours

CURING PARALYSIS BY MALARIA

The great improvement in health observed in some individuals after a severe illness of infection has been noted for many years.

A published list of the incorporators of the Prince Edward Island Temperance Alliance contains some forty names. It would be a great mistake to conclude that all the gentlemen named are in favor of continuing the prohibitory law.

It is notorious that the decent courtesies of discussion as recognized among gentlemen have been violated every day in the press and on the platform by the advocates of prohibition during the present campaign.

If a meeting of the incorporators above referred to, along with other present members of the Alliance were now called and attended by all who have expressed themselves publicly or privately as opposed to the methods and policy of the Alliance, it would be, we believe, an eye-opener to many of the more active and extreme members of that body.

That there is no prospect of such a meeting being called, it is needless to say. That the membership of the Alliance are divided as to the methods adopted in conducting the prohibition campaign is a notorious fact.

Liberal electors, if they think it at all worth while to pay attention to the attitude and statements of their greater leaders must look beyond Mr. Saunders, who counts for very little in any division of Liberal opinion in Canada.

All these were temperate men and temperance men. If they were here in Prince Edward Island today they would find themselves classed by a Liberal newspaper as "contemptible and disreputable persons."

But truth is mighty and will in the end prevail. Our people are in the main as intelligent as those of any community of like extent in Canada and there is good evidence on every side that a majority of them are already convinced that prohibition has proved to be an utter failure and must give way to a saner and better law such as the Stewart Government has proposed.

human nature, demand total abstinence, which is not temperance and which often drives human nature to revolt.

Happenings of the Week

It's up and away from our work today. For the breeze sweeps over the down: And it's hey for a game where the gorse blossoms flame.

The Prince of Wales, all of his brothers, and Princess Mary have hair of a color which is very difficult for portrait painters to reproduce.

Mr. O. L. Leigh-Spencer, of Calgary, Alta., will be the week-end guest of Justice and Mr. Haszard.

Rev. Henry R. Coleman and bride are being very cordially welcomed to their charge in Port Hill.

Miss Hortense Cartier, the 78-year-old daughter of Sir George Etienne Cartier, one of the Fathers of Confederation, has accepted an invitation from Mr. E. W. Beatty, to take a trip across Canada.

"Black and White" was thoroughly enjoyed on two occasions this week, and the Orpheus Eight are to be congratulated on their fine musical talent.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Morris have returned from California to spend the summer months at their home here.

Miss Gerda Parsons, of Montreal, is leaving on Sunday for St. John's, Newfoundland, where she will visit her sister, Mrs. Leonard Reid, for a month.

The Golf tea hostesses today are Mrs. H. W. Longworth, Mrs. A. W. Weeks, Mrs. L. D. Murray, Miss Rose Longworth, Miss Lorna Weeks.

A wide circle of home friends will extend sincere sympathy to Mrs. R. C. Goff, of Seattle, on the death of her daughter, Mrs. Hiram Childenden, which occurred last week.

Among the graduating recitals of pupils of the Halifax Conservatory of Music was that of Miss Laura Wightman, of Montague, soloist, and Miss Minnie Black, of Fredericton, N.B., pianist, which took place Thursday evening in Halifax, and was greatly enjoyed.

Miss Doris Gill is holidaying in Montreal, the guest of her friend, Mrs. Chauvin.

The many friends of Mrs. C. H. Black regret her present indisposition, and are looking forward to her early return to renewed health.

Dr. G. F. Dewar, Dr. Warburton, and Dr. S. R. Jenkins, accompanied by Mrs. Jenkins, are leaving today for Toronto, to attend the Medical Convention. Dr. H. D. Johnson will also be in attendance, besides several of the leading physicians from outside provincial points.

A very important apartment at No. 145 Piccadilly, London, is the nursery of little Princess Elizabeth. The woodwork of this room, which is on the third floor, is painted in white enamel, and a charming frieze of flowers and figures runs all round it.

princess will keep her toys. An historic interest attaches to a number of these, for they belonged to Queen Mary herself, among them being a doll's house, of proportions and contents calculated to make any child's mouth water!

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Buntain, Mr. and Mrs. Chandler, and Mrs. Clifford Chandler were among the motorists touring Nova Scotia over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Casey were very pleasantly surprised Thursday evening, June 2nd, when a number of their friends called to wish them happiness on the occasion of the thirteenth anniversary of their wedding.

Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Archibald and family felt yesterday on an extended motor trip through Nova Scotia, going through the Valley, which is at the height of its beauty just now, tomorrow being Apple Blossom Sunday.

Judge and Mrs. W. S. Stewart were registered at Jasper Park Lodge, Jasper National Park, Alta., on May 30th, and greatly enjoyed the magic scenery of the Rockies.

Among the welcome visitors here just now is Mrs. Benjamin Rogers, of Edmonton, who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Rogers, Pleasant Street.

Mrs. Gordon Notting, of Dartmouth, N.S., is being cordially welcomed as visitor to the city.

Mrs. Bruce Dixon and two winsome boys, Samuel Stewart and Henry Smith, of New Westminster, B.C., have arrived on a visit to Mrs. Dixon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith, Hillsboro St. Mrs. Dixon is being cordially welcomed by her wide circle of friends.

Miss Aletha Laird left last week to visit in Montreal and Quebec.

The tea hostesses at the Tennis Court this afternoon will be the Misses Jamieson, G. Mathieson, H. Edgett.

The illness of Mr. John Saunders is causing his family and friends much anxiety.

The following telegram was sent on June 3rd to Rev. Dr. Leslie Clay, Victoria, B.C., on his election to the Moderatorship of the Presbyterian Church:

"On behalf of your native Province we extend heartiest congratulations on the high honor conferred upon you by the Assembly. We feel a reflected glory and are proud to have so brilliant a Churchman on our roll of distinguished Islanders abroad."

To this Dr. Leslie Clay replied:—"I greatly appreciate your kind congratulations. The clanishness with which we Islanders are charged is not all fiction. The Presbyterian Church in Canada is a precious bond across the Provinces. To strengthen that bond is a national service. New sprouts appear on the Burning Bush with gratifying rapidity."

Among the interesting visitors in the city, a guest at the Y. W. C. A., is Miss Blodwen Davies, of Toronto, whose series of articles, entitled "Confederation Tales," were read with so much interest when they appeared in The Guardian.

Scarfs and flowers are offered everywhere in infinite variety. The usual scarf is selected to match or to harmonize with the rest of a costume, and in the latest examples is of very sheer material, chiffon, georgette, crepe. Fox skins are still in the natural colors or are dyed in dark and light shades.

Daily Selections FOR Guardian Readers June 11, 1927 BETTER THAN LIFE:—Because thy loving kindness, O God, is better than life, my lips shall praise thee. Psalm 63:3. PRAYER:—O Lord, Thy favor is our life. May we have it more abundantly. June 12, 1927 A SECRET RETREAT:—Hear my voice, O God, in my prayer: preserve my life. Hide me from the secret counsel of the wicked. Psalm 64:1, 2. PRAYER:—My soul, wait thou only upon God, for my expectation is from Him. SELF Creator, whose spirit changes souls, and makes of sinners, saints, Belief in whom sustains us most when else our spirit faints, As once with Paul of Tarsus, whom Thou turnest from hate to love. So now change our souls within us as Thou canst from above. To make us think of others first, which is the whole solution Of the life that we should live on earth instead of the pollution We have created here ourselves by making Self our god, Right since this earth's creation, when first here Adam trod. Cain killed his brother Abel, and Judas, Christ betrayed; The sons of Zebedee as well a bargain would have made To sit each side of Christ in heaven, because they served him well: Then Peter, favorite of all, when tried, and tempted, fell. If men like these, whom we call good, can tempted be and fall. How hard to inculcate in us a love for one and all. And place ourselves the last of all in thought and word and deed. And live our lives for others, and help them in their need. "Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn" Applies not just to "man" alone, but every soul that's born. For mothers who have children the childless wife deride, And scorn the girl who stumbles, and in their foolish pride Stretch out no hand to help her, but often "throw a stone." Forgetting those whose're guiltless are privileged alone. Oh, teach us introspection forgetting love of "self." And teach us human service, above all paltry self. To know ourselves, and we will learn wherein our danger lies. Our "selves" our greatest enemies, our "self" hand in us dies. —Robert H. Venning.

I sometimes get quite frantic letters from people who feel that they can not stand me any longer. —G. B. Shaw.

The era of mediocrity in everything is beginning, and mediocrity freezes all desire. Equality engenders uniformity, and it is by sacrificing what is excellent, remarkable and extraordinary that we get rid of what is bad. The whole becomes less barbarous and at the same time more vulgar. The age of great men is going. The age of the last leap, or life in multiplicity, is beginning. —Amiel.

To be read in bare inscriptions like many in Gruter, to hope for eternity by enigmatical epithets or first letters of our names, to be studied by antiquaries, who we were, and have new names given us like many of the mummies, are cold consolations unto the students of perpetuity, even by everlasting languages. Who cares to subsist like Hippocrates' patients, or Achilles' horses in Homer, under paked nominations, without deserts and noble acts, which are the balsam of our memories? —Sir Thomas Browne.

Household Scrapbook By ROBERTA LEE Testing Coffee

Put a teaspoonful of coffee in a glass half full of cold water and stir it. If the coffee is of a good quality it will show very little discoloration, and very few grounds will sink to the bottom.

Broken Glass The very smallest particles of a broken glass can be taken up readily by wetting a wad of absorbent cotton and patting around the place where the particles are scattered. The glass will adhere to the cotton.

Driving A Nail Into Plaster A nail can be driven into a plastered wall without crumbling the plaster if the nail is put in hot water for a few minutes, or dipped into melted paraffin.
