Expect Board From Industry And Labor

McLarty Expected To Give Details Of New Regulations Today.

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA, Oct. 24 (CP)—The National War Labor Board which will administer the government's wage stabilization program will probably consist of four or five members from industry and a similar number from labor with a neutral chairman, informed sources said tonight.

They based their belief on the existing set-up of the National Labor Supply Council which consists of five representatives each from labor and industry and a neutral chairman.

The new national labor organization will have to deal with disputes in connection with wages and pending announcement of details of the government stabilization order by labor minister McLarty tomorrow, officials said.

McLarty postponed a scheduled press conference this afternoon when he will go into the details of the plan to freeze basic wages and meet the rising cost of living through mandatory payment of a cost-of-living bonus to basic wage earners.

The labor minister was expected to make clear what Canadians would receive the bonus payment, and also whether some would receive, as appeared possible to some authorities, a total bonus payment of $3.45 a week if their basic wage rate is the same as when the bonus was first paid.

ist plans, at least insofar as they call for aggressive disregard of the interest of the Japanese, Knox said. He said that the Japanese, in the opinion of Washington officials, have no intention of making any such concessions.

The cabinet member spoke ex-temporaneously. But his words strikingly embodied a paragraph he had written in a brief navy day journal, service weekly to be published tomorrow.

"Out Westward," this paragraph said, "the Orient is like a vast powder keg—potentially ready to explode with the force that will be heard all the way across the ocean."

Other assertions which Knox made in the article, prepared as a preliminary to celebration of navy day Monday, included:

"Only a miracle seemingly can prevent a collapse of Russia's organized military strength—and democracy everywhere is praying that this miracle will be granted."

"Axis troops are more than a threat in East Africa and on the African shore just across the Atlantic from our own land. And India and Singapore may be next on the Axis list."

The combat ships of our navy are now patrolling our waters with orders to sink any Axis ship on sight."

Meanwhile the Maritime Commission issued an announcement which was "inaccurate" and has been widely misinterpreted. This announcement had said that after Oct. 29, all aid-to-Russia cargoes would be moved through the port of Boston.

This had given rise to interpretations that the Pacific route to Vladivostok was being abandoned altogether, possibly because of fear of East tension. The White House expressed surprise at the announcement, on the ground that information on the ports from which ships would sail would be of value to Hitler.

The Maritime Commission said today that "defence cargoes will continue to be divided to the maximum practicable among ports of embarkation."

State Secretary Cordell Hull told reporters today he had not heard of the Maritime Commission order until he read it in the newspapers and therefore it could not have any connection with foreign policy.

Besides the national board, a number of regional boards will be established to deal with local situations. To them will be referred matters of dispute over wages and if necessary they will send their problems to the national board for rulings.

Rome talks of Possible Jap Raids on U. S.

ROME, Oct. 24 (AP)—Japanese raids on Hawaii, California, the Panama Canal and Alaska were forecast today by the Italian magazine "Unito" in case of a Japanese-United States war.

"Japan will have immediate Italian and German aid and vice versa," the magazine asserted.

Ogigi asserted that to protect Japan's flank for an invasion of the United States, an attack against British, American and Netherlands possessions in the Pacific "would have to begin with sudden action against Hong Kong and the Philippines, immediately followed by one against Singapore."

"The war would not be limited to the Far East," it went on, "but would reach Hawaii, California, Panama and Alaska, which would be concrete objectives of Japanese raids since the Nipponese have a strong navy and a modern air force."

Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Oct. 24 (CP)—The gold stocks slumped late in today's financial district felt the weakness was due to fear of a miners' strike in the Kirkland Lake field.

The index for the gold group was down .73 to new low for the year at the close. Base metals stocks finished the day 12 higher, industrials were up .18 and the western oils down .08. Volume was the heaviest of the week, 185,000 shares.

Upper Canada stocks showed the loss in the medium-price list in the report that its junior, Brock Gold, would close down. The price of Upper Canada dropped 20 cents and closed at 140 on turnover of 13,300 shares.

Hollinger and Teck Hughes posted new low prices for the year, the former closing at 11 1/2 for a loss of 1-1/2 and Teck 2.55 for a loss of 5 cents. Macassa, Wright-Hargreaves, Anson, Chasterville, Langue, Toburn and Preston weakened 5 to 10 cents and soft spots in the penny list included Eldorado-Kirkland, Colbourne Williams, Hard Rock, Howey, Jason and Queenston. Small gains were held by Central Patricia and Sanctantonio.

Food, Senior Oil and the miscellaneous industrial stocks registered moderate strength while the utilities and papers were inclined to easiness and other groups were steady.

Base Metals Corporation was offered down 2 1/4 to 7 and Steep Rock and Sudbury Basin dropped a few cents. Hudson Bay, Nickel and Ventures closed with gains.

The world hasn't changed so much but what good manners a gentleman's sprinking of kindness and tolerance in one's character and a fairly pleasant disposition are still justly considered as virtues.

Bad temper — often mistakenly called temperament — still can do more to make a woman unattractive in the eyes of others than any amount of bad grooming and forgetfulness about applying make-up, having the hair waved and so on.

The minute she rants and raves about anything — everybody promptly forgets that her dress is smart, her hair pretty or her teeth even and white.

Be Courteous
No amount of skillfully applied cosmetics or chic clothes can possibly make up for lack of good manners which, after all, are the outward manifestations of real charm — the warm, non-gushy variations which does not fade with the years. Not even a real glamour girl can get away with being rude to others — at least not for long.

It isn't silly to remember the simplest, fundamentally sound good manners such as getting up when an older person comes into the room, writing thank-you notes promptly, showing appreciation for small courtesies. Neither being amusing and well informed or beautifully dressed or both, ever gives any woman any excuse for not answering letters, returning telephone calls, writing congratulatory notes when they are indicated and so on.

Be Tolerant
And it isn't silly or wishy-washy to be tolerant of the mannerisms and pet foibles as well as the firm convictions of others. The woman who gets a firm notion that her way of living and her way of thinking are the only ways of living and thinking which make any sense at all just isn't likely to be a lovable soul.

He is invited because of one accomplishment — like playing the piano well or being a good storyteller, or knowing some trick dance steps. He ought to be made to feel that he was invited because his host and hostess like him and not to amuse them or other guests.

Gets upset because her household doesn't run quite as smoothly when there are guests in it as when only the family are around.

Looks pained when a cup of coffee is overturned on the tablecloth or the living-room rug.

Infers by a look or a word that she is bored with her guests or disappointed in any way in them, or, worse yet, that they ought to be grateful for having been invited to such a nice place.

Even though she is bored, she ought to conceal it. After all, she has an out. A week-end doesn't last forever, and she doesn't have to invite again people who did not seem to fit nicely into her household and way of entertaining.

N. S. Fishermen Urge resumption Of steamer service

YARMOUTH, N. S., Oct. 24 (CP)—Fishing interests in western Nova Scotia, faced with the opening of the lucrative lobster season, have brought federal, provincial and local pressure to bear on the Maritime Steamship Company to re-open the Boston-Yarmouth steamship service.

Letters asking resumption of the run have been forwarded to the steamship offices in Boston by Ottawa authorities, A. S. MacMillan, Premier of Nova Scotia, and the Yarmouth Board of Trade.

Service is now maintained by motor vessel which has no refrigeration facilities necessary for use transportation of fish. Fishing interests claim it will be impossible to secure the credit essential for this year's operations without participation to United States markets can be assured the season's lobster catch, annually worth around $1,000,000.

Japs doubt U.S. Sincerity in Keeping peace Interpreting The War

TOKYO, Oct. 24 (AP)—Domestic Japanese news and propaganda agency, quoted observers tonight as saying that the success of Japanese-American relations depends on what Japan and the United States but that Japan doubts whether the United States sincerely wants a settlement.

Domestic observers, quoted in a broadcast commentary, asserted that the situation had become worse as a result of American economic pressure on Japan and that the United States must realize the urgency to which Japan can make concessions.

The Domel comment came after a government spokesman had said that easing of Japanese-American relations was indicated by Washington's rumored decision to send a mission to Tokyo through the northern port of Archangel rather than the Pacific port of Vladivostok.
