

YESTERDAY'S STOCK AND BOND QUOTATIONS

Morning Stock Letter

Wall Street Mirror Says:— Special to Johnston & Ward

NEW YORK, March 21.—The market generally made further progress on the advance yesterday. The Dow Jones industrial averages closed at another new high on this move. The utilities did not display their usual strength but the improvement in the rails was a counterbalancing influence.

Although the industrial average has closed at a new high for the move from the point of view of the peak during the days trading it can not be said that it definitely has broken through its resistance point yet.

There is still a fair chance of it doing so and we would watch volume for an indication.

HOLLYWOOD FILM SHOP
HOLLYWOOD, Mar. 30.—When Helen Chandler was on the New York stage she won recognition as a dramatic actress despite her youth, but when she came to Hollywood she found she was in for a fight.

Not that she lacked screen value. It was just that someone saw her in a dramatic hit on Broadway, signed her up, sent her west and cast her in ingenue roles because she was young, blonde and beautiful.

She fought and won. Today, she is more in demand for dramatic parts than any young girl in Hollywood.

Recently she completed the leading role opposite Ramon Novarro in "Daybreak" and is now in "Salvation Nell." She has "Draula," "Outward Bound," and "Mother's Cry" to her credit.

The start of Helen Chandler's stage career can best be described by saying it just happened. When she was 16 a school friend went to see Arthur Hopkins, New York producer, about a stage role. Helen accompanied her. Hopkins talked with a number of applicants, then turned to Helen.

"Wouldn't you like this role?" he asked. "You look like a good little actress to me."
