ROVERS TRIM STARS 8-2

The Rovers jumped into the lead of the City League baseball by defeating the Stars by a score of 8-2. The Rovers succeeded in obtaining an early lead, which they held throughout the game. "Gus" MacDonald, who pitched for the Stars, did good work in the box, playing a steady game and keeping the hits made by the Rovers well scattered.

The Rovers proved themselves to be the better team, although they themselves made some costly errors. They were eager to average the defeat given them by the C.N.R.'s last Tuesday evening and started off by placing "Fuddy" Connors on the mound, who, with his speed and shoots, kept the Star batsmen guessing. The first inning dampened the spirits of the fans present and the little enthusiasm which they went out with left them, had the game continued as it started, it would have looked black for the games to come.

East Plans For Allan Cup Races

HALIFAX, N. S., June 23.—Although baseball, tennis, golf and other summer sports are now in season, hockey leaders throughout the Maritime Provinces are talking, and their chatter is making a noble bid to drown out the gossip of the seasonal sports.

Since the Truro Bearcats made such a splendid showing against the Winged Wheelers of Montreal in the Allan Cup series last winter, Maritime sportsmen have decided that the famous trophy can be brought to the Maritime Provinces.

Various Upper Canadian hockey coaches, who have handled Maritime teams the last two seasons and teaching the "inside" points of the game, feel that much improvement has been made in Down East hockey.

Furthermore during the 1928-29 season several Upper Canadian players were brought to the Maritimes and did as much to improve the game of the Easterners as all the coaches who have ever taught the rudiments of Canada's National Game.

Frederickton, N. B., which has yet to reach prominence in Maritime hockey, has tied up practically all the leading players of the three provinces, has added two Upper Canadians, and secured the services of George Boucher, former Ottawa Senator and Montreal Maroon defence veteran as coach for the coming winter.

Other prominent clubs have sought players from the Upper Provinces and the 1930-31 season is expected to be the greatest in the history of the game in the Maritimes. The aim of all Maritime clubs in the next season is the Allan Cup. Each season Maritime champions have done much better in play for the premier amateur trophy than in previous years and an added incentive has been added in that the 1931 holders of the Canadian championship will represent Canada in the Olympic Games.

To date some fifteen Upper Canadian players have reached the Maritimes and are located with prominent teams. Many teams will do away with coaches this season but will strengthen their lineups with experienced players. Maritime hockey leaders made the prediction, even at this early stage, that Down East will be represented by a redoubtable six in 1931. The Allan Cup preliminary between Quebec and Maritime representatives will be staged at the Forum in Halifax the only artificial ice arena east of Montreal, and hockey moguls are laying plans with a view to bringing about the elimination of the Quebec champions, who have put out Maritime representatives in three successive seasons.

Minister in the country who is a dictator. The electors of Canada, after all, are the people to say what the issues of a general election are. It is for them to say by what measure they shall judge the people who seek their suffrage at the polls.

"If I am not mistaken," Mr. Stewart continued, "our citizens will not stand dictation from any man as to what the issues are in any election. In my humble opinion there is one issue that transcends and absorbs all the issues referred to by the Prime Minister. That is the issue of whether or not in Canada we are to continue to have responsible government in the true sense of the word; whether or not we want men at the head of affairs in Canada who are sincere, who have real convictions for which they will sacrifice themselves if it is necessary; men in whom we have confidence that if placed in power they will carry out those convictions so far as is humanly possible. That is the great issue. And I submit that, measured by that standard, by that issue, Mr. Mackenzie King and his Government have most lamentably failed.

Mr. King has shown the most absolute insincerity; he has shown that he has no convictions. He has shown all the earmarks of the political adventurer, the political charlatan (Applause).

Party Principles

"For example, take his general fiscal policy. If there is one thing of which the Liberal Conservative party is proud and should be proud, it is of the fact that they stand today for the same policy which was inaugurated when Confederation was born. And whatever advancement Canada has made since Confederation, whatever upbuilding has taken place, has taken place because the policy was the policy of the country throughout nearly all the years since Confederation. During the early years of the Liberal party, while they always held up something over which they could wave the flag at election times, when the responsibility of power came to them and when they had to face the carrying on of government, they always went back in a large measure to the implementation of that same old policy. It has remained for the present Prime Minister to drift away even from that, and by his insincerity and instability of policy to injure the trade and the standing of Canada almost beyond repair. That is the situation in which we find ourselves today."

Reviewing the volte face of the King Government on the tariff as evidenced in the Dunning budget, Mr. Stewart said in part: "Since Parliament has adjourned and while we have no Parliament in session, very material and very serious changes have taken place in the fiscal policy and customs duties of Canada. Is that responsible Government? How did those changes come about? Were they done by Order-in-Council? They were not? Did they come about through the passing of an act of Parliament? They did not. How did they occur and why did they occur? Because President Hoover made certain changes in the fiscal policy and customs of the United States. In other words, our tariff is now being government from Washington. The citizens of this country have no say as to what duties shall be levied by the Canadian Government, because these wonderful countervailing duties come in and automatically, when the United States raises their tariff, we raise ours, and when they lower theirs, we lower ours; we have no say one way or the other. In the final analysis we are being governed today by the United States even more fully than we were in earlier days of Mr. Mackenzie King's regime."

"I need not discuss at this representative meeting the effect of the wholesale importation of New Zealand butter on our dairy markets. You have all felt the effect of that. I think if there is one thing that has gone directly to the pockets of the farmers of this Province in the way of governmental policy it is this very Australian and New Zealand Treaty. We are all feeling it. In Charlottetown Mr. Mackenzie King went to great pains and took up considerable time in defending the New Zealand treaty. He gave what he considered very cogent and convincing reasons why that treaty was brought about; he attempted to show how it benefited the people of Canada. In addition to that, you know that the Liberal press ever since that treaty was enacted have been defending it. It is only a month or two since that treaty was enacted here when it was defended by Mr. Mackenzie King and his Government. And yet they have abandoned it! Isn't that a very fine example of sincerity! (Applause)

King Hedges on Old Age Pensions

"Mr. Mackenzie King spoke very strongly in the House of Commons against the principle of Old Age Pensions. He told us in Charlottetown that Mr. Bennett's policy here by the Dominion Government bore the expense of Old Age Pensions, was only election propaganda. He said the idea of those pensions out of the Dominion treasury was unconstitutional. That Mr. Bennett couldn't do it, that it was a violation of the British North America Act and that the payment of old age pensions was a provincial obligation. He said the only way it could be done was to contribute financially to the provincial governments. Then after going to a great deal of pains to justify his stand on this ground, he said: "Of course if the people really want it we can give it to you just as well as Mr. Bennett and we will have a better chance of doing it." (Laughter.) Do the people of Canada want to be governed by an aggregation of men of that sort, in whom they can place no confidence whatever?"

Belated Contract

"What for example, about the recommendation for a new car ferry? "Oh, Mr. King says, 'we have let the contract! Let the contract after three or four years! We know enough of Mr. King to know that if he gets back the letting of the contract and the completion of the boat will be two different things, and they may be very wide apart."

Votes from the audience: No! No!

Hon. Mr. Stewart: "Well to my mind that is the whole issue of the election, and I believe that the people of Canada generally appreciate it." (Applause.)

Flo'ing Conservative Tide

"You have heard Mr. Arnett speak of the flowing tide of Conservative sentiment that is sweeping over Prince County, the Province and the Dominion generally. His statement corresponds with what we have been hearing from all parts of the country. The sentiment is very strong in Queens County, and to my mind, and so far as I can measure it, there is absolutely no doubt about the election of the Conservative members from Queens on the 28th of July. As for Kings County, the people are not speculating on the outcome; they are simply wondering what Hon. J. A. Macdonald's majority is going to be." (Applause)

Subsidy Settlement Delayed

"If there is one thing that the Government of this Province needs it is money. We all know that. We all know how we suffer from the insufficient revenue, and we all know that there is one place from which we have a right to get it; that is from the Dominion treasury by way of provincial subsidy. I am not going back over the history of this matter; but you all remember the appointment of the Duncan Commission; you know the report they made, and you have no doubt read the speech-

BIG DANCE in Kensington Park, Tuesday evening, July 1st, commencing at 8 P. M. Music furnished by Dixon's Orchestra, Charlottetown. Admission 50 cents. 4956-6-27-30.

Mr. King according to his own statement in Charlottetown, put Saunders off by telling him that he had better wait until the Western Provinces were settled with the Western Provinces had not been settled with years ago? None that I can see. Sir Robert Borden many years ago reached the conclusion that the Western Provinces were entitled to their resources and but for the intervention of the war he would have settled these claims. The War came and the matter had to stand over. There is no excuse, however, during the King regime, for putting off that settlement for so many years.

Other phases of the subsidy question and the political situation generally were dealt with by Mr. Stewart, as well as Mr. J. Frank A. Lett, the Conservative candidate for Prince County, and a number of other speakers. The meeting throughout was marked by great enthusiasm.
