

THE MAKING OF A FAMOUS MEDICINE

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is Prepared For Woman's Use.

A visit to the laboratory where this successful remedy is made impresses even the casual looker-on with the reliability, accuracy, skill and cleanliness which attends the making of this great medicine for woman's ills.

Over 350,000 pounds of various herbs are used annually and all have to be gathered at the season of the year when their natural juices and medicinal substances are at their best.

The most successful solvents are used to extract the medicinal properties from these herbs.

Every utensil and tank that comes in contact with the medicine is sterilized and as a final precaution in cleanliness the medicine is pasteurized and sealed in sterile bottles.

It is the wonderful combination of roots and herbs, together with the skill and care used in its preparation which has made this famous medicine so successful in the treatment of female ills.

The letters from women who have been restored to health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which we are continually publishing attest to its virtue.

TORONTO'S BIG FAIR.

Two Outstanding Events of the First Week.

TORONTO, Aug. 31. — The first week of the Canadian National Exhibition proved a great success in spite of the handicap of poor weather. Conditions in this respect were not as good as last year, but for the first six days of the fair the attendance held well up to previous records. The two outstanding features of the week were the women's parade on Wednesday and the visit of the Hon. Dr. Beland on Thursday. The women of Ontario arranged a gigantic parade to demonstrate the work that they have been doing in wartime. On the day apart for them, it rained heavily all afternoon, but the women displayed their magnificent spirit by going through with their plans in spite of the steady downpour. The parade was pronounced by the crowd that saw it one of the most inspiring events ever attempted by the Exhibition.

On Thursday, Hon. Dr. Beland made his first appearance in Toronto since his return from Germany, where he spent nearly four years as a prisoner of war. Judging from the huge crowds that gathered to hear Dr. Beland, the Exhibition management rightly estimated the sentiment which attaches to the name of the late prisoner, and, judging also from the enthusiasm which his appeal for unity evoked, the idea of having Dr. Beland deliver a public address was a wise one. Dr. Beland made a strong and stirring appeal for unity among Canadians. An object lesson in the value of unity, he declared, could be found in the war efforts of the United States, whose addition to the ranks of the fighting Allies, he added, was sure to bring about a speedy and successful termination of the war. The secret of the success of the United States, he emphasized, was to be found in the fact that all their elements had been able to forget all differences of creed and race, and to share a common purpose of war effort. His appeal, then, was for all classes of Canadians to do the same. Tolerance was the first principle of public virtue, and tolerance he defined as a willingness on the part of all to sacrifice extreme opinions for the common good. If the people of Canada were willing to do that, he was confident they could do much towards achieving a great victory, not only on the battlefields of Europe, but in the war of trade and commerce which is certain to come after. He trusted that Canada would emerge from the war united, and that men of all races and creeds might share in the future development of the continent, so that in the end Canada might rank among the great nations of the world.

FRANCE'S PREMIER ACE.

Lieut. Rene Fonck Is Hero of the Hour.

PARIS, Aug. 31. — Lieut. Rene Fonck, the leading French ace, has brought down since Jan. 1, 50 of the more than three-score German aircraft he has destroyed. Of the 50 enemy machines vanquished this year, 32 have fallen before him in the same plane, which is a Spad-Biplane with two machine guns. This constitutes a record for one machine. Between July 16 and July 22 he felled 11 enemy machines, nine of which have already been officially accounted for. On July 16, while stationed in the Somme, he was ordered to report to the Champagne. He left for Paris that day at 10 o'clock. He lunched there and set back for the Somme, arriving there shortly before five. At five o'clock he had become the conqueror of two Boche machines. He left that evening for his new assignment. The following day in the Champagne he felled a German machine and on the next, two. On July 19 he brought down three; on July 21, two, and on July 22, one. The following is his own account of his aerial tactics:

"Tactics? I have none. I attack watching my adversary's manoeuvre. In the last combats in which I have participated I have succeeded in forcing my manoeuvring upon them. In my fight on July 16 I attacked two German machines, which were protected by a patrol of six others. I fixed my gaze upon my two victims but never did I lose sight of the patrol. When the patrol rushed at me I was able to break away by manoeuvring. Until the end I aimed to keep the mastery of the manoeuvre.

"You ask me at what distance I shoot. Generally from 150 metres, according to my relative position, I believe it could be said. If I attack frontally I start to shoot at 150 metres, that being the most suitable, allowing for the speed of the machine. If I attack in the rear or laterally I get somewhat closer."

French in Noyon.

PARIS, Aug. 31. — Noyon was occupied Thursday by the troops of Gen. Humbert. Noyon is situated on the right bank of the Oise river, at the confluence of that stream and the little River Verse. One railroad runs through Noyon.

Noyon is a great highway centre. One road runs to Roye, to the northwest; one to Ham, to the northeast; one goes up the Oise valley, and another leads down into Carlepont forest, to the southeast. Another goes down the Oise to Compiègne.

Noyon is a very ancient town, being known to the Romans. Charlemagne was crowned King of the Franks at Noyon in 768, and Hugh Capet was elected king there in 987. It was the birthplace of John Calvin, who was born July 10, 1509.

German Losses in Killed.

LONDON, Aug. 31. — It is estimated by experts here that the German losses in killed alone now reach a total of more than 2,000,000, and probably approach 3,000,000. These figures were given out after a study of tables of German and Allied losses which have been published.

HACKETT — MURPHY NUP-TIALS

Tignish was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday September 11th when Miss Marjorie Hackett, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Hackett was united in matrimony to Mr. P. Claude Murphy second son of Senator Murphy.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. T. Murphy uncle of the groom, assisted by Monsignor D. M. Macdonald, Rev. A. J. Macdonald and Rev. S. J. Macdonald.

The bride who was given away by her father was attired in a gown of white brocaded satin with the conventional veil and orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses.

The maid of honour Miss Gertrude McElroy, aunt of the bride wore a gown of silver lace over mauve georgette crepe with hat to match and carried a bouquet of mauve asters.

The two bridesmaids, Miss Edith Dalton of Brookline, Mass., and Miss Eileen Johnston of Charlottetown were gowned in pink silk net over georgette crepe with large black velvet hats and carried bouquets of pink sweet peas.

Little Miss Dora Hackett, youngest sister of the bride who wore pink satin and carried a basket of flowers.

The groom was attended by Mr. Harold Hackett brother of the bride.

The ushers were Mr. John J. Morris and Mr. W. A. Gaudet.

The church was beautifully decorated with ferns and cut flowers. During the service solos were rendered by Master Hackett and Miss Dorothy Hackett brother and sister of the bride and Miss Annie Richard. A violin solo was played by Mr. H. Webb of Portland, Maine.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. The groom's gift to the bride was a piano, to the maid of honour a pearl and ear rings, to the bridesmaids and flower girl cameo rings, and to the groomsmen and ushers gold cuff links.

The bride and groom will spend their honeymoon in Montreal and Toronto.

The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Satterio and Mrs. F. W. Smith of Halifax, Mrs. J. M. Devay and Master Joseph Devay of West Newton, Mass., Miss Kathryn McMillan of Sydney, Henry Beazley and R. J. Kelly of Moncton, N. B.

HOW WILL IT END? HUN TROOPS ASK

With the British Army in France, Sept. 11—Some idea of the state of the German morale may be had from the following quotations picked at random from captured German documents and letters. One German wrote home, but did not get a chance to post the letter:

"I have been in the line for fourteen weeks. Johann is being well looked after. I wish I, too, was a prisoner of war."

Another letter reads: "When we retired two Alastians remained behind. If they had only said they were going to desert many more would have stayed with them."

One message says: "Our men are completely exhausted, and can hardly stand upright."

Another says: "The men cannot keep their eyes open, owing to strain and fatigue; they must have relief."

PHYSICIANS URGE DESTRUCTION OF FLIES

The average doctor holds strong views as to the great necessity of the annual crusade against flies. He knows the harm they cause by carrying around in their bodies the germs of such fatal diseases as Typhoid, Tuberculosis, Dysentery, Diarrhoea, etc., and contaminating human food by crawling over it.

A single fly falling into a pitcher of milk may easily bring illness and even death to the persons who drink the milk.

Never expose food to flies which are hatched and bred in the vilest of putrefying matter. The advice of Toronto's Medical Health Officer "If you come across any flies in your house, kill them now"—should be heeded by all.

But whatever the method, every citizen owes it to his family to see that his home is free from this filthy insect, for a fly is not only a mere pest, it is a positive danger.

Use screens on all doors and windows. Swat flies whenever opportunity offers. Then, as the backbone of your fly-killing efforts, a good plan is to use a reliable method of extermination by poison.
