King Will Head Delegation To San Francisco

By FRANK FLAHERTY (Canadian Press Staff Writer)
OTTAWA, March 7 — (CP) — Canada's delegation to the United Nations Security Conference at San Francisco will likely be announced when Prime Minister Mackenzie King speaks on the subject in Parliament, sometime after March 19.

The delegation is expected to number 20 or more including clerical staff, and will be headed by Mr. King as secretary of state for external affairs.

Robertson, Under-Secretary of State, also is likely to go while Hume Wrong, associate under-secretary, who has been doing much of the preparatory work here and who will represent Canada at the preliminary Commonwealth meeting in London, is certain to be an active member.

Thus far, there has been no response from official quarters to the suggestion made in newspaper editorials that the delegation include members of the opposition parties in Parliament but the possibility of that has not been ruled out.

It has been announced that the Australian Government has invited members but not the leaders of opposition parties to serve as advisers to the Australian delegation but this is not considered a precedent which the Canadian government would necessarily follow.

Under the Parliamentary system, when a government signs a treaty, as it is expected the Canadian government will do at San Francisco, the government takes responsibility for that action and must stand or fall on the action in Parliament in ratifying or refusing to ratify.

If opposition members were on the delegation, it would be assumed they would share responsibility with the government for whatever action were taken and this would restrict the traditional freedom of action of the Parliamentary opposition to criticize and oppose.

In the United States members of the Cabinet are not members of Congress and have no opportunity to speak for or defend their actions in Congress. The administration is not responsible to Congress and cannot be defeated or removed from office by Congress. There is not as sharp a line drawn between administration supporters and opposition as under the Parliamentary system.

One of the factors which might prompt Mr. King to depart from traditional practice in this case is the approaching general election.

It might be said that there is no assurance that any minister or member of Parliament placed on the delegation to San Francisco will be either a member of Parliament or on the government side when the charter of the new world organization comes to the Canadian Parliament for ratification.

Cologne Cathedral Standing Amid Ruins Of City

By DON WHITEHEAD
COLOGNE, March 7 — (AP) — American troops, walking through the streets of Cologne looked up today from the awful wreckage of the ruined city to see the miracle of Cologne Cathedral, with its slender, graceful spire rising above the devastation wrought by Allied air raids.

Those fragile, beautiful spires, blackened by the weather of seven centuries, rose straight into the heavens out of the most terrible destruction yet witnessed by these American troops who have seen the rubble of many blasted cities. All around the ancient edifice the last light inside the city.

For block upon block there was nothing but the gutted skeletons of buildings and debris piled many feet high. Bombs had ripped out the heart of Cologne. Great chunks of concrete had been tossed about like pebbles and huge steel girders lay twisted like hairpins.

There was a report before the troops entered Cologne that the old part of the city was 90 per cent ruins. Almost everyone scoffed at that claim as an exaggeration. But now who walked through the old city today doubted the figure.

The Cathedral had its scars, but it was as though some power had saved it from the destruction which reached to its very dome. Across the street were blackened and still burning German Panzer tanks which had been knocked out by a Sherman tank in one of the last fights inside the city.

On the south side of the church one section of the wall sagged in the roof and so far as I could see little of the basic structure was damaged.

The centre aisle was remarkably free of damage except for holes in the roof and so far as I could see little of the basic structure was damaged.

Eden Gives Details of Ship Incident

LONDON, March 7 — (Reuters) — Foreign Secretary Eden said in the House of Commons today that the British flag was hauled down by the Spanish guards placed on the British ship Blackheath, after she was torpedoed and ran aground in the international zone at Tangier and was abandoned by her crew.

Answering questions Mr. Eden said the Blackheath was carrying war materials. Information received showed that members of the guard tried to pilfer the personal belongings of the crew but were stopped when the crew returned.

He said the British flag was replaced by the Spanish colors. Apparently the Spaniards were under the impression that the ship was finally abandoned and that thus the maritime authorities—under the Criminal Code of Canada, and the kind co-operation of all concerned is requested.

RARE PHOTOS SHOW HOW CHINESE COMMUNISTS FIGHT JAPS

Mystery and secrecy have long veiled the operations of the Chinese "Communists." Rumors and conflicting reports have added to confusion concerning the Kuangchintang, as the Chinese Communist Party is officially known.

Actually, Red China is not Communist at all, but is a representative democracy. Free elections are held by secret ballot.

The Kuangchintang governs an area of 90,000 kilometers known as the Border Region. Of 18 members of the Border Region Government, only six are Communists, in accordance with a "one-to-three" system under which the Communists agreed to limit themselves to one-third of the elective government posts.

The Kuomintang, or Chinese National Government, headed by Chiang Kai-shek, has ended a long-standing feud with the Kuangchintang. Both governments are agreed on a program for all-out war against the Japs.

The Communists direct forces totalling more than 200,000 men.

Harrison Forman, author, photographer and explorer, spent six months in the Border Region, to find out how the Communists live and how they fight. This series of exclusive NEA photographs presents the graphic story of their amazing battle against the Nipponese.

MILLIONS of people in Northwest China, home of the Communist Eighth Army, live in caves like these. Carved out of hard-packed loess soil, they are not-ab-proof, cool in summer, warm in winter.

ALL KINDS of weapons are used by the 2,000,000 armed forces directed by the Communists. Wooden cannons are made of elm logs. They have metal.
