SCRIBNER'S Magazine for June, to hand, is most excellent in every respect. A very interesting article, to those inclined to military matters, is that on The Larger Training of the American Army. The writer of this article enters extensively into a consideration of the measurers adopted by the British War Office at the Aldershot Camp, and recommends a similiar scheme for the United States. Other contributions are up to the usual high standard which has given Scribner's an enviable reputation in the magazine world.

THERE will be four arms of the militia encamped at Camp Brighton this month, under the command of Lt. Col. Moore, D. O C. A total of 683 men of all ranks will be furnished by the Prince Edward Island Light Horse, the 4th Regt. Royal Canadian Artillery, the 82nd Battalion and the Army Medical Corps. Besides these there will be the Brigade Staff. The men will go under canvas on the 26th inst., and will remain in camp for twelve days training. The troops will be inspected, probably on the 5th of July by Major General Lake, Chief of the General Staff of Canada, and by the Director of Artillery and the Inspector of Cavalry. Major General Lake, by the way is a distinguished soldier of world-wide reputation. This will be his first visit to Prince Eaward Island. He is a veteran of both Afghan wars and saw service in Soudan.

The highest price will be paid for Quahaugs by Wm. Mombourquette, agent Plant Line, foot Queen Street. 7dtwlm

ATTENTION of exporters and importers and the owners of vessels is called to the "ad" of Hyndman & Co., This firm in addition to the large general insurance business they transact in this Province, are now carrying on a large business throughout the Maritime Provinces and have a branch agency office in Halifax.

As bearing out what was said in yesterday's Guardian about the wide area covered by the recent rainfall the following clipped from the St. John Telegraph shows a downfall exceeding that which fell in this province. "When the rain ceased to fall Tuesday there had been measured at the meteorological bureau, by Director D. L. Hutchinson, a total of three and four-tenth inches since Sunday morning. The total rain fall for the month has been 7.33 inches, which is four inches more than recorded during May, 1905."

THERE are 27 Civilian Rifle Associations in this Province, but curiously enough there is not one for Charlottetown, although there is an association along the same lines in connection with the companies of artillery. The rules governing the formation of these civilian clubs are that they must have a membership of 40 members. The Dominion government provides ten rifles for the use of each association, and furnishes 100 rounds of ammunition free to each member of the club. Ranges have to be kept up by the members, towards this expence the Government contributes one dollar for each member up to the limit of 40, and for all in excess of that number fifty cents per head. Some of the ranges in this province are exceptionally good. There is fine enthusiasm among the men, and good shots are graduated from the different clubs, as the results of the annual competititions of the Provincial Rifle Association will show. Colonel Moore, in whose hands is vested the administrative work connected with the associations cosiders that they are a splendid factor in making marksmen. In addition to these clubs may be mentioned the cadet class of Prince of Wales College, the members of which make a very creditable showing, and are armed in part with the new Ross rifle. There is besides a rifle association in connection with the College, which is well managed and kept up. West Kent Street School also has a Cadet Club, under the direction of Principal Campbell. This club was formed last year, and developed most creditably, but it is regrettable that the boys were compelled to use obselete Martini-Henry Rifles, which are altogether to heavy for them to handle. This trouble will, it is expected be removed this year, and the boys provided with a modern arm. Application has also been made for a cadet club in connection with Queen Square School, and it will probably be organized very soon.
