BEACH POINT. Lanchlia McNeill has purchased the schooner Alice from R. N. Cox of Morell. He intends to put her in the fishing business.—The beautiful house which has stood for the last twenty-five years on Beach Point was recently purchased from the Hon. Daniel Davies by W. S. Hugh, who soon levelled the magnificent structure to the ground and left a vacancy mournful for the eye to contemplate. He did not get off without accident however for in hauling the last loads across the ice his horses broke through and but for the timely assistance of some spectators the accident might have been serious.—The boat which Isaac Stewart purchased this spring from Mungo Ferguson of White Sands, is apparently the fastest sailing craft in the harbor, for in sailing to Georgetown recently a distance of fifteen miles she is said to have distanced another smart and pretty yacht.—Elliot Lumsden, photographer, is having quite a run of business.

DUNDAS. Thursday evening, March 26th, a large number of young people assembled at the beautiful residence of Ronald McKenzie to bid farewell to Elba Nicholson who has taken his departure for the Pacific Coast. After whiling away the pleasant hours by music and games the guests repaired to the dining room where they partook of a sumptuous repast gotten up by the fair sex in the most elaborate style. Returning to the drawing room Gustavus Clay on behalf of those present gave a brief but appropriate address, referring to the occasion which had brought so many together, namely, to honor our own hero who had recently returned from the South African field where he had proved himself a foeman worthy of his steel. After encountering some thrilling experiences he was again about to mingle in the conflicts of life, but in a different sphere of action. He had so borne himself throughout his whole career that he is admired and respected by all, and now as the tie which had bound him to his associates was about to be severed all unite in wishing the sun of prosperity to illuminate his pathway through life. Mr. Clay eulogized our excellent host and hostess for the able manner in which they had catered for us. Mr. Nicholson made a very feeling reply. After the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" the company dispersed.

EASTERN NOTES. Weather still keeps cold and changeable, and a large quantity of the abundant winter snow still remains in our lanes and roads, but a warm wave is probably near, as the heavy ice which filled the Gulf and Straits all winter to the serious detriment of our winter navigation, and derangement of our island trade, is rapidly drifting past East Point, driven before the welcome south-west wind, prevailing for some days.—Sawing and splitting the summer's wood is the general work at present.—Our sportsmen have expended considerable powder on the wild geese this spring, but with very poor results. Charles Stewart shot one. Some of our fishermen have been spearing eels at Basin recently and while it is generally conceded that "knowledge is power" there are exceptions as was amply demonstrated by the fact that men made fair catches who couldn't tell in which kingdom in nature the eels were classed, while two men well versed in physiology, psychology, geology and zoology, and who could describe the primary and the secondary and the tertiary strata and were at home in all allurian and natural subjects, could describe the different genera and class, and point out the marks and remains of the glacial period, returned with two eels and the boys report them very diminutive specimens.

William Livingston has been busily engaged through the past winter getting out lumber for a large barn which he intends building the coming summer. Daniel Macdonald also intends erecting a kitchen to his already fine dwelling house. John Gillespie has built a fine pigery. He intends going into the pork raising more extensively in future. Neil McCallum is busily engaged in building a dam across the river, which is for the purpose of utilizing the marsh land for hay cropping.—Miss Alma Hyde of this place is visiting in Bedouque; she is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Robert Walker.—Miss Macdonald of Point Prim, is visiting here the guest of Mrs. Alexander Murchison.—Checker parties are in full swing among the young men of the place.—A contest is soon to be held between the married and single men.—The Literary Society here is in a flourishing condition. A meeting was held on Friday night last when the following officers were duly elected and installed for the next quarter: President—C. D. Fraser. Vice Presidents—Austin Hyde. Rec. Secy.—Seymour Scott. Fin. Sec.—J. A. McDougall. Treas.—Neil McCallum. Guar.—George Livingston. After election a good program was rendered, also a very liberal treat of confectionary was then distributed to the members. The meeting then came to a close by singing Auld Lang Syne.

MURRAY HARBOR SOUTH. The members of the Y. M. L. Society held an entertainment on the 1st inst. in honor of Cecil Prowse, John Lamont and Herman LeLacheur who are going to the far West, and Henry Phillips who is going to attend Business College. The hall was well filled and at 7.30 p. m. the curtain dropped. The choir sang an appropriate opening selection, Mrs. John McKinnon presiding at the organ. The last strains of music had scarcely died away when George O. Beak the President arose and delivered an able and touching address stating the object of the meeting and paying high tribute to the departing members. An excellent program was gone through of speeches, recitations, songs, solos, duets, trics, etc., some of which were a recitation by Miss H. H. Whidden, a coon song by John McKinnon, a recitation by Miss Ada Harris, a solo by Miss Idella Davey, a song by Willie Harris, a trio by Miss Minnie Bell, Miss Hyde and Miss May Herring. The effort of the evening, however, was a speech on Forestry by Alex. Chrelighton in which he set forth the benefits of insurance, and by the applause which would arise when he told an interesting story as illustration, or reached a well rounded period, it was easily seen that he was the popular speaker of the evening. When the toasts were concluded Fred Davey arose in behalf of the Y. M. L. Society and presented the departing members each with an address and a very suitable gift to which each replied in turn thanking the Society in very touching language. I. R. Prowse made a few appropriate remarks and the meeting dismissed by singing "God be with you till we meet again."
