

Murray Harbor 6, Georgetown 5

In their second clash of the Southern King's Hockey League, the hard-working Murray Harbour Bruins put the bear hug on the Georgetown Eagles by a close 6-5 squeeze.

The final frame was another story. The Eagles put on a sustained offensive which could not be denied and in the space of three minutes, H. Stevens, clever centre, countered once and S. MacNeill twice on assists from Stevens, to deadlock the score.

The final frame was only a minute old when J. MacNeill, assisted by G. Harris, put the Bruins one up. Eagle playing coach H. MacLean was chased for a misconduct and at the 6:00 minute mark, J. Dicks blazed a hot shot into the Bears' den to once again knot the count, W. Harris, heady-playing Bruins captain, was chased for a misconduct penalty. J. McNeill got the one that mattered at the 14:00 minute mark.

Montague 7, St. Peter's 1

On Wednesday night the hard-fighting Montague Bison Bombers trimmed the Murray Harbour squad to the tune of 7-0, in a well-played game at the Murray Harbour Rink. Both teams played evenly during the first period, but in the second and third the Montague squad pressed an overwhelming attack which brought them to the opposing net on each drive.

The Harbour also played well, and only the stellar performance of F. Fraser in the Bomber net saved them on several occasions.

British Fans Hungry For Good Boxing

By Ben Phlegar LONDON, Jan. 31—(AP)—Huge crowds and a shortage of home-grown champions may soon force open British boxing rings to more world title fights.

Rules here now say that two non-British boxers can't fight each other. And in Britain both world champions and No. 1 contenders are in extremely short supply.

The public however, is hungry for good boxing. Capacity crowds jam top-ranking shows which run as often as once a week. Some 18,000 paid $65,000 ($201,500) to see American Joey Maxim take the world's light heavyweight title from Freddie Mills.

Jack Solomons, who promoted the Mills-Maxim show, says the paying customers are entitled to world title fights.

"The folks want to see the best and I'm willing to pay for the best so I guess we've got to get the rules changed," he declared.

Solomons, the biggest money-making promoter in the commonwealth, has asked the British boxing board of control to revise its rule on foreigners. He wants permission to match two non-British boxers and in exchange he's willing for the board to limit the total number of foreigners on one program to two. The present limit is three.

"Maxim wants to stay here and fight," Solomons said, "but I've got to be paid for it. He beat our best man. The only chance is if Bruce Woodcock beats Lee Savold this spring. Maxim wants the winner but if it's Savold I can't match 'em the way the rule stands now because they're both Americans."

One quarter of the number of briefs presented to the Royal Commission on arts and sciences in the Maritimes came from the universities. Many other submissions dwelt on education and the importance of a liberal arts training.

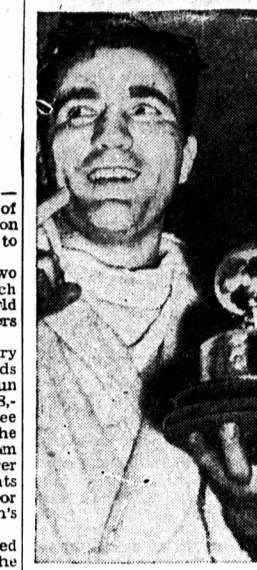

All these pointed up a "problem of Canada's outlying areas: How to supply education up to the standards of that available in areas of dense population; that is, how can 1,000,000 Maritimers support a dozen universities that can give the student an education on a par with that he can get in, say, Montreal or Toronto?"

An answer that has often been advanced but never acted upon—grouping of all Maritime colleges in one big university on the Oxford principle—was proposed again during the Commission's Halifax sitting.

This system would have all universities remain as they are but would set up one degree-granting authority.

The student would take his basic courses at the university nearest his home and then go on to advanced training at the university specializing in his chosen subject. Dalhousie, for instance, would specialize in medicine and dentistry, while the University of New Brunswick would take on the main role in forestry.

Would Save Expenses A central university body, under this scheme, would save on administration expenses and be in a good position to distribute any federal aid. It could also afford to hire the top professors and instructors in specialized fields; as it is now, the talent tends to be spread unevenly among several universities.

Common Plea Heard From Universities

By DAVE McINTOSH (Canadian Press Staff Writer) HALIFAX, Jan. 31—(CP)—Spokesmen for 11 Maritime universities and two colleges appeared before the Massey Commission during its two-week Maritime tour, which ended last week. They all made a common plea; federal aid to meet a threatening "financial crisis."

One quarter of the number of briefs presented to the Royal Commission on arts and sciences in the Maritimes came from the universities. Many other submissions dwelt on education and the importance of a liberal arts training.

All these pointed up a "problem of Canada's outlying areas: How to supply education up to the standards of that available in areas of dense population; that is, how can 1,000,000 Maritimers support a dozen universities that can give the student an education on a par with that he can get in, say, Montreal or Toronto?"

An answer that has often been advanced but never acted upon—grouping of all Maritime colleges in one big university on the Oxford principle—was proposed again during the Commission's Halifax sitting.

This system would have all universities remain as they are but would set up one degree-granting authority.

The student would take his basic courses at the university nearest his home and then go on to advanced training at the university specializing in his chosen subject. Dalhousie, for instance, would specialize in medicine and dentistry, while the University of New Brunswick would take on the main role in forestry.

Would Save Expenses A central university body, under this scheme, would save on administration expenses and be in a good position to distribute any federal aid. It could also afford to hire the top professors and instructors in specialized fields; as it is now, the talent tends to be spread unevenly among several universities.

Canon Stanley Walker of King's College, Halifax, broached the subject before the commission but no other university mentioned it.

Most colleges said they thought a scheme of national scholarships would help meet their heavy financial burdens. But what was needed more was a per capita grant based on the number of students enrolled at each university.

King's said that unless Liberal arts colleges received some federal support soon, "the very foundations of cultural education may collapse."

St. Francis Xavier University of Antigonish, N.S., said: "With expenses continuing to rise and the supplementary grant provided by the Department of Veterans' Affairs shrinking, our universities are threatened with a real financial crisis."

Record Crowd A.tends Carnival In Bedeque Rink

Another record crowd attended the carnival in Bedeque Rink on Thursday evening. There were many high class costumes which were much admired by the interested spectators.

The Judges were: Mr. Charles MacFarlane, Fernwood, Mrs. Allan Niles, Albany, and Mrs. Clark Baker, North Bedeque, who had a very difficult task in choosing the winners from so many well dressed contestants.

Everything was carried out in a very systematic manner, the judges were placed at different points around the rink, and the contestants were divided into their respective classes and marshalled in an orderly way, with Brewer Johnson, John Myers, T. J. Inman and Leo Lavar acting as conductors.

The winners were: Ladies, Mrs. Harold Clark as Snow Queen, Mrs. George Affleck, as Evening Star, 2nd, Gentlemen, John Jull as Night and Day, 1st, Eidon Gaudet, as 1950 Model Ford 2nd, Best Adult Pair: Mrs. Roy Townsend and Mrs. Roger Reeves, as Pair of Penguins.

Junior Classes, Boys: Graeme Linklater, as Jack Spratt, 1st, and Bonnie Dawson, as Mad Hatter, 2nd, Girls, Alice Bagnall, as Little Blue, 1st, and Elizabeth Green, as Miss Beverage, 2nd, Best Jr. Pair: Gail Raynor and Marie Desroche, as Swiss Twins. Other costumes worthy of special mention were: Audrey Reeves, Cat's Meow, Theresa Follans, March of Dimes; Mrs. Frank Jardine and Mrs. Alder Large, Nurses, Mrs. Jean McFarlane, Ruth Wright, as Bill and Beulah of "Love That Dred"; Helen MacFarlane, Matador.

to legislation affecting succession duties and income taxes to encourage private benefactions to educational, religious and charitable institutions. It said the crisis in higher education was not a matter of concern for the Federal Government alone but for provincial and municipal governments as well.

St. Mary's College of Halifax suggested that the federal government spend as much on educational support now, "the very foundations of cultural education may collapse."

Acadia University of Wolfville said that student fees met only 60 per cent of its 1949 academic budget $321,287. Endowment income and D.V.A. grants supplied $73,000 but a deficit of more than $48,000 had to be met by gifts.

St. Mary's In 5-1 Victory Over Moncton

MONCTON, N. B., Jan. 31—(CP)—Red-hot Halifax St. Mary's ran their winning streak to five games by grounding third-place Moncton Hawks 5-1 here tonight.

Beavers, winless in their last four games, will have a chance to increase their margin to three points when they entertain tailed Amherst Ramblers tomorrow night.

Billy Hannon led Halifax with two goals, starting the scoring in the first period and finishing it in the final. Diminutive Ronnie Gaudet whacked in a pair of first-period counters and Tommy Brennan got the other Roger (Sunny) Provost, Bill Ford and Allan (Rocky) Sullivan had two assists apiece.

Fresh from a 9-1 victory over Beavers at Saint John last night, Halifax jammed their first goal behind Les Colvin within the first two minutes of play. Some three minutes later Gaudet and Brennan scored 45 seconds apart with Moncton shorthanded to make it 3-0.

Lou Milani, dead-eye Moncton leftwinger, beat Jack Donley for his 56th goal of the season at 7:53 and Donley closed the gate after that. It was Milani's 97th point and put him four points up on Roy (Buck) Whitlock of Saint John for first place in the scoring derby.

Gaudet ended the rapid-fire scoring spree one minute before the midway mark in the period. Once again Sullivan and Provost helped. Moncton were outshot 24-19.

It was a tempestuous session with six penalties, including a major and three misconducts. Vic Auger and Frank Grabowski set the pace with a terrific scrap which earned Auger a minor and misconduct and Grabowski a minor and 10-minute sentence.

The misconducts were assessed after the two continued to battle in the penalty box. It all started when Auger slammed his stick in Grabowski's face after the two called the Gord Armstrong of Halifax drew the other misconduct when he pushed referee Maurice (Moe) Walsh while protesting over a Halifax goal that was disallowed.

There were no more penalties after the free-wheeling opening stanza. Halifax played it close to the vest and took advantage of an attempted Moncton power play to tally their fifth goal on a breakaway with less than five minutes left.

SUMMARY First Period 1-Halifax, Hannon (Grabowski, Ford) 1:31.

2-Halifax, Gaudet (Provost, Sullivan) 4:27.

Pension Plan For U. K. Soccer Players

LONDON, Jan. 30—(AP)—A pension plan for England's professional soccer players, whose top legal salary is £12 lbs. ($38.75) a week, became effective today.

Players will receive a tax-free lump sum equal to 10 per cent of their total earnings when they become 35 years old. Funds are collected through a four-per-cent levy on net gate receipts, and the players are not called on to contribute to the plan.

The Poothall League said average lump payments probably will range between £500 and £1,000.

La Motta To Defend Title Next June

By Murray Rose NEW YORK, Jan. 31—(AP)—Middleweight champion Jake La Motta has signed a contract to defend his title next June, and the contenders are all lining up on the right in the hopes of getting first crack.

Eddie Eagan, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission and Harry Markson of the International Boxing Club, disclosed today that the Bronx bull has signed papers for a championship fight against an opponent to be named.

In Detroit, where he is training for a non-title fight with Dick Wagner this Friday, La Motta said the location for the championship fight had not been set.

But the contract Jake signed is an official New York form which naturally calls for a fight in New York State, the I.B.C. pointed out. LaMotta said "I gave Colonel Eagan a list of six challengers. I put them down in what I figured was the order of their ability. That list still holds. It runs this way: 1. Ray Robinson; 2. Rocky Graziano; 3. Steve Bellosie; 4. Robert Villmain; 5. Laurent Dauthille; and 6. Dave Sands." In signing for the June bout, Jake met an ultimatum issued by Eagan. The commissioner wanted La Motta to sign for a title defence by Feb. 1 or else face the loss of his title in this state.

Pirates Pay $100,000 For Untried Rookie

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31—(AP)—Pittsburgh Pirates today paid $100,000 for lefty Paul Pettit, 18-year-old high school lad from Long Beach, Calif.

It was reported to be the highest price ever paid for an untried rookie.

The deal was announced at a conference attended by Roy Hamey, general manager of the Pirates; Frederick Stephani, film producer who figures in the odd transaction; Pettit himself and his father, George Pettit.

Hamey said that the strapping youngster will pitch for New Orleans in the Southern Association this season and will join the Pirates in 1951.

Pettit stands six feet two, weighs 205 pounds and has a sensation hurling for tiny Narbonne High School for the last several years. He had tried to get Pettit, but clubs had tried to get Pettit, but admitted the bidding came high.
