THE January number of the P. W. College Observer has been received by the Guardian. It is up to the high standard already established by that publication.

In a few weeks R. H. Jenkins will commence the erection of a handsome cottage on the lot recently purchased by him at the corner of Brighton Road and Greenfield avenue. The plans for a neat and commodious house, 30 ft x 40 ft have been drawn by W. C. Harris, Architect. The building will be heated with hot water and lighted with electricity, and when finished will be one of the prettiest residences in that locality.

NORMAN A CURRIE has been promoted to the position of Chief Engineer of the R. M. S. Prince George 2500 tons, 7500 horse power, running between Boston and Yarmouth. The Prince George is one of the finest steamers running in and out of Maritime waters being fitted up in a 1st style and all her appointments are first class. As Mr. Currie is one of our Island boys it is pleasing to see that his ability has been recognized. He was transferred from the Prince Edward, a smaller ship and the D. A. R. Co. was not long in discovering that they had a man though quite young, who had ability, brains and was worthy of their confidence. There are few if any young men in the Maritime Provinces who hold a better certificate than Mr. Currie, his being Chief Engineer's Imperial 1902, which means that the qualification for 1902 was much higher than formerly and that he is qualified to sail any ship that floats in British waters. Mrs. Currie is a sister to Miss Margaret Currie, Mrs. E. D. Starns and Mrs. A. F. Webster of this city.

WHEATFIELDS AND INDUSTRIES OF NORTHERN QUEBEC.—Twenty years ago there were no such things as industries in the region of Lake St. John, and references to its wheatfields only provoked derision, on the part of the doubting Thomases who thought that nothing but Arctic winter was to be found in Quebec's north country. The publication last month of a handsome portfolio of pictures, from actual photographs taken in the Lake St. John territory during the harvest season of 1902, comes with less surprise to-day than it would have created a few years ago, for many people have visited Lake St. John and seen its marvellous surroundings for themselves since the construction of the Quebec and Lake St. John Railway. These illustrations are charmingly done, and with the letter-press accompanying them are convincing proof of both the fertility of the soil and salubrity of the climate. They indicate also the magnificent openings for both manufacturers and farmers which have been made by the construction of Quebec and Lake St. John Railway. The new publication is intended for free distribution in Europe, in both English and French, by the Lake St. John Colonization Society.

THE January issue of "Canadian Good Housekeeping" have been received by The Guardian and is another evidence of the excellent work being done by Canadian publishers. This magazine, while new to many of our readers, has a very wide reputation in the United States. Among the many features of the current issue are:—The commencement of "Colin of the Ninth Concession" a tale of Scottish life in Eastern Ontario, written by R. L. Richardson. This splendid story is considered by many to be superior to that well-known book, "The Man from Glengarry", and will run through several months' issues of "Canadian Good Housekeeping". "A Railway King at Home", by Mary MacLeod Moore, a description of the private life of Sir William Van Horne, with photos of his magnificent residence in Montreal. "The Housekeeper"; Her Importance in the State, by Lally Bernard. "Chinese Women in America" by Jessie Juliet Knox. "Jacob Abbotts Methods with Children" by Lyman Abbott. "A Romance of the Kitchen" by Alice Dunbar. In addition is noted many other interesting and instructive articles by well known writers. The cover of the January number is a work of art. It was designed by Edward Penfield, who is unequalled in cover designing. We can say in all sincerity that "Canadian Good Housekeeping" is a magazine that should be in every household. It fills a long felt want, and there is no doubt that it will turn out to be by far a most popular magazine in the Dominion.

THEORIES ABOUT FOOD.

Also a Few Facts on the Same Subject.

We hear much nowadays about health foods and hygienic living, about vegetarianism and many other fads along the same line.

Restaurants may be found in the larger cities where no meat, pastry or coffee is served and the food crank is in his glory, and arguments and theories galore advanced to prove that meat was never intended for human stomachs; and almost make us believe that our sturdy ancestors who lived four score years in robust health on roast beef, pork and mutton must have been grossly ignorant of the laws of health.

Our forefathers had other things to do than formulate theories about the food they ate. A warm welcome was extended to any kind from bacon to acorns.

A healthy appetite and common sense are excellent guides to follow in matters of diet, and a mixed diet of grains, fruits and meats is undoubtedly the best.

As compared with grains and vegetables meat furnishes the most nutriment in a highly concentrated form and is digested and assimilated more quickly than vegetables and grains.

Dr. Julius Remmon on this subject says: "Nervous persons, people run down in health and of low vitality should eat meat and plenty of it. If the digestion is too feeble at first it may be easily corrected by the regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal. Two of these excellent tablets taken after dinner will digest several thousand grains of meat, eggs or other animal food in three hours, and no matter how weak the stomach may be, no trouble will be experienced if a regular practice is made of using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets because they supply the pepsin and diastase, necessary to perfect digestion, and every form of indigestion will be overcome by their use.

The large class of people who come under the head of nervous dyspeptics should eat plenty of meat and insure its proper digestion by the daily use of a safe, harmless digestive medicine like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets composed of the natural digestive principles, pepsin, diastase, fruit acids and salts, which actually perform the work of digestion. Cheap cathartic medicines, masquerading under the name of dyspepsia cures are useless for indigestion as they have absolutely no effect upon the actual digestion of food.

Dyspepsia in all its many forms is simply a failure of the stomach to digest food and the sensible way to solve the riddle and cure the dyspepsia is to make daily use at meal time of a preparation like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which is endorsed by the medical profession and known to contain active digestive principles.
