

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE PLAYS IMPORTANT ROLE IN RESCUE

You've read about the many dramatic rescues made by the helicopter—Fram mounts, during floods and at sea. Helping to achieve the safe, dependable operation of this St. Bernard of the skies is a Johns-Manville product called a Clipper Seal.

The Clipper Seal is a special-shaped ring designed for the retention of oil or grease around moving parts, such as the rotor blades of the helicopter. They're also used in conventional aircraft and rotating industrial equipment of all kinds.

Today, Johns-Manville makes hundreds of styles and types of packings—for use wherever a seal is needed to prevent leakage of steam, air, gas, oil, water or other liquids. For complete facts on J-M Packings, write Johns-Manville, Sun Life Bldg., Montreal, or see your nearest J-M distributor.

FOREST FIRES

Notre Dame de Lourdes, told the Canadian Press firefighters had "a very narrow escape" when they were suddenly caught in an encircling movement of flames.

"We ran for the only clearing and got it," he said.

Farmers in these parishes, strung along only a short distance from the main south shore highway, have lost thousands of dollars in crops, farmer Nadeau said.

The fire had been burning for two days but it flared up suddenly during the late afternoon and ate through the spruce and pine forests rapidly.

Forest firefighters in Quebec and Ontario were kept busy today after several of the 230 blazes reported in both provinces were fanned into new life by rising winds.

Lands and Forests Department officials in Quebec blamed carelessness for the majority of the 80 fires and brush fires still burning.

In Ontario, while 164 fires were reported, burning, the Forestry Department issued statistics showing that 1,000 fires in Ontario, a total of 1,063 fires were extinguished after burning through 26,249 acres of Ontario's mixed forest lands.

Terribone Heights bush fires, in an area 25 miles north of Montreal, were fanned into new life by rising winds but as night approached there appeared little danger that the summer-cottage community would be wiped out.

Reports circulated that about 80 Communist sympathizers were arrested last week. Authorities wouldn't talk about the report. A later account suggested some of those involved were officers at the Chungking Province military headquarters.

Everyone in authority, however, admits the possibility of thousands of Communist in plain clothes being in Canton. They would arrive easily in the guise of refugees. Arms undoubtedly have been smuggled in also.

An army spokesman, meanwhile, said the situation has been stabilized on the front east and west of Hengyang. Nationalist stronghold 285 miles north of Canton.

Polio Centre Aids Patients in Iron Lungs

By Alton L. Bakeltes
NEW YORK, Aug. 23 — (AP) — At a new polio centre, iron-lung patients are helping each other get out of their respirators.

They are men, women and children who had spent months or years in the lungs. Some were at home, some stranded in hospital rooms. There might be one or two in a single hospital, rarely more.

All lived in an isolated world by themselves. Many appeared dependent to dependence on the breathing aids for the rest of their lives.

The new centre brings such patients together in one large hospital ward. There's an immediate boost in their morale. They begin living with friends who are in the same fix. When one learns to get out of his lung, it only for an hour at a time, the others are encouraged. Their own outlook no longer looks so hopeless.

Another benefit is more specialized care, at less expense and medical experts can learn more about how to help various patients overcome their handicaps.

The first such centre opened in Baltimore at the Children's Hospital in April, 1946, sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Of 14 patients admitted to the Baltimore unit, seven have gone home and are doing well. They are active within the limits of their handicaps, and use the iron lungs at night to recover from fatigue.

Patients at the Baltimore centre were adolescents or young adults from 15 to 25 years old.

Fellowship Awarded To Dr. E. M. Found

A Charlottetown doctor, Eric M. Found, M. D., has been elected a Fellow of the American College of Chest Physicians according to word received here recently. Dr. Found will be presented with his fellowship certificate at the next convocation of the College of Chest Physicians.

He was notified of his distinguished election by Dr. Chevalier L. Jackson, Chicago, chairman of the membership committee. He also received his membership card for the year 1949 and an order form for his Fellowship certificate from Dr. Jackson.

Dr. Found graduated from Dalhousie Medical School in 1935. Following a general internship at the Regina General Hospital, Regina, Saskatchewan, he spent three years internship at the Nova Scotia Sanatorium, Kentville, Nova Scotia where he studied under Dr. A. F. Miller, from 1938-1942. Dr. Found served as resident physician and surgical assistant to Dr. V. D. Schaffner, Nova Scotia.

In 1942 he returned to his native Province, and served as assistant medical superintendent at the Provincial Sanatorium up until May, 1949 when he was appointed Medical Director of Clinics, Department of Health and Welfare, Tuberculosis Division.

The American College of Chest Physicians is an international organization of physicians and surgeons and aims to carry the highest ideals of scientific endeavour and good fellowship in the practice of chest diseases.

One of the means used to protect the specialty of chest diseases, the treatment of chest surgery and to elevate the standards of the physicians who are specializing in the diseases of the chest is the establishment of minimum standards of training and experience for fellowship and membership.

Polish Settlement Corps Winding Up Operations in U. K.

By William Boss
LONDON, Aug. 23 — (CP) — The wailing with the quick, alert smile in a favorite Soho restaurant is likelier than not in present day England to be a former Polish officer.

Britain in the last four years has absorbed at least 76,000 Poles into her employment structure — both craftsmen and professional workers.

Now, having handled more than 145,000 former Polish soldiers—some 8,000 have returned to Poland and while other thousands have emigrated—the Polish Resettlement Corps is winding up.

It closes down in September after having been the agency through which the British Government at a total cost of more than $110,000,000 ($440,000,000) fed back into "civvie street" men of the Polish divisions which at the close of hostilities did not want to return to their Soviet-dominated country.

The corps has 4,000 personnel who are discharged at the end of September and various British Government departments will assume responsibility for them.

Initially there was strong resentment among labor unions, and the British Government's decision to give the men a chance to settle in Britain. But quickly the Poles won themselves acceptance by the industry.

Today, reports the Ministry of Labor, 9,000 ex-servicemen from the corps have gone into agriculture; 10,000 into agriculture; 3,000 into brick-making, 6,000 into the hotel and catering industry; 5,000 into wood and cotton mills; 1,800 to the railways, and 2,000 to the professions. Many others have made their own employment.

The Poles are eligible for citizenship, but being intensely patriotic and proud of their nationality, they seem unwilling to sever themselves so completely from their land. Only 4,000 have applied for naturalization.

Four British Unions Call For Cut In Cost Of Living

LONDON, Aug. 24 — (Wednesday) — (Reuters) — Four of Britain's "big six" unions today called for a government cut the cost of living.

The move brought to a climax months of negotiation between trade union leaders and Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, on wages, prices and production costs—key factors in Britain's export trade and the collar gap.

Attitude of the trade union leaders to the demand will be decided when the General Council of the Trades Union Congress meets tomorrow to give final approval to its economic policy report for the annual T.U.C. conference next week.

The four unions demand has been put on the conference agenda. They are the Transport and General Workers' Unions with 1,300,000 members, the Amalgamated Engineering Union, the Union of Shop, Distributive and Allied Workers, and the National Union of Railwaysmen.

The unions have made it clear that wage-pegging to keep down production costs is acceptable if the workers' real wages are boosted by the Government.

With the support they could expect from smaller unions, these four unions could influence the Government in a policy of pegging wages, profits and prices. It adds its conviction that this is still "the only possible policy for the unions to take."

The General Council has tabled a resolution that Britain's difficulties can only be solved by greater co-operation with the internationally-concerned efforts to maintain living standards and full employment. The resolution calls for "the greatest possible measure of restraint" in making wage claims unrelated to increased productivity, and promises continued vigilance by the leadership on prices and profits.

Both Car Ferries Operating Today On Borden Run

Traffic on the Borden-Tormentore route continues to be heavy and in view of this The Canadian National Railways will have both ferries on the run today, on the same schedule as prevailed during Old Home Week. The two ferries operated on Monday and Tuesday with the result automobile traffic was kept clear up on each quarter at Charlottetown.

Many favorable comments have been heard on the extra service provided. It is expected that after today the M.V. Abegweit will be able to handle the traffic until the Labour Day rush period when both the S.S. Prince Edward Island and The M.V. Abegweit will be in service.

Once the plane was spotted, a parachute-rescue which had been ready since yesterday afternoon — went aloft with the intention of dropping at the scene of the crash. However, the paratroopers reported after viewing the charred wreckage that there was nothing to be gained by jumping.

Flowers Attract Favorable Notice On Queen Square

A delight to residents and citizens alike is the beautiful display of flowers located in Queen Square. These flowers bear out the result of the fine care tended to them by Mr. Russell Gay, East Royalty and Mr. Lewis Curley, City.

The flowers are started under glass at Mr. Gay's plant and are transplanted twice. Mr. Curley pays constant attention to them, watering them twice a week and keeps the grass on the square cut and clean.

Approximately 3,000 plants go to make up the display. Some of the hardier varieties are planted around the first of June and others make their appearance when the season deems suitable. The project is financed by the Dominion, Provincial and Civic governments with each covering an equal share of the expense.

Among the varieties displayed in the various beds are: Annual Phlox, Salvia, Cactus, Spyr Marigold, Rose Morn, Petunias, Crystal Blue, Double Radiance Petunias, Lilliput Petunias, Snap Dragons, Alyssum, Galliardas, Canterbury Bells, Sweet Williams, Dwarf Marigolds, and Double Pink Petunias.

Compensation Board Activities

Since it began to function on July 1, the Workmen's Compensation Board of Prince Edward Island has entertained in all some forty claims, stated Mr. Horace Wright, chairman of the Board.

Of these, about 80 per cent are "minor" claims compensation being paid. At least one case is a permanent partial disability. The remainder of the claims are "minor", in which medical expenses only are paid.

Several appointments have been made to the staff recently and the Board's offices have been moved to the Harbour building.

Dr. F. W. Tidmarsh working with the Board as medical consultant and Mr. Lorne J. McLellan has been appointed Claims Officer. Mr. McLellan came to the Board from the New Brunswick Workmen's Compensation Board. He became familiar with the work in the Claims Department in his three years in New Brunswick.

The Board has been working under a disadvantage as copies of the Act have not yet been made available from the printers, Mr. Wright states. However, these have been promised for the end of the month and arrangements have been made to send them out to employers immediately they are available.

Employers appreciate the response from employers who have already co-operated in sending in their estimated pay-rolls and assessments.

Employers are advised that, in the event of failing to send in their estimated pay-roll and assessments when required, they are themselves liable for any compensation that might arise from accidents in their businesses.

Farmers employing labour may, at their own request, come within the scope of the Act.

that the Tito regime is a Fascist enemy of the Soviet Union and Communism throughout the world.

(Following up this theme the official Red Army newspaper in Moscow Tuesday declared Tito had founded a terror regime on the Gestapo model and would suffer the same fate as Hitler and Mussolini, but this time much "quicker".

The Communist press in Czechoslovakia, in a similarly threatening note, declared the Tito Government "a Fascist threat to the peace of the Balkans."

Mr. Nowlan said: "We never complained of the conduct—which conduct I presume means that the doors were open at certain hours and ordinary procedure complied with."

Returning from this delightful visit a business session was held for the reading of reports.

This morning the convention Mass will be celebrated in St. Dunstan's Basilica at 9 a.m. led by Rev. Francis McQuaid, Provincial Director, who will speak to the convention at 11 a.m.

St. Joseph's girls' choir will sing during the Mass.

Business sessions will be resumed at the Hotel at 10 a.m.

Worry Showdown Near

(As a result of the intensified propaganda offensive, some diplomatic observers in Belgrade have been wondering and worrying whether a showdown might be near in which force would be used.

In its new note, Yugoslavia said disputed questions would have to be settled "in accordance with, and in the spirit of, the international obligations undertaken by both governments."

Furthermore, the Yugoslav people "are under no conditions willing to allow anyone whomsoever to interfere in their internal affairs."

Emphasizing a determination to pursue an independent policy on foreign questions, the note stressed the "sovereignty, independence and sovereign state."

"The Yugoslav Government underlines that no pressure from the outside has so far had any effect on her internal policy or will it have in the future," the note said.

Rejects Charges

It called Russia's previous charges of imprisoning Soviet citizens "unfounded" and expressed Yugoslavia's "surprise that the arrest of a few white guards who are Soviet citizens could provoke such an insulting, harsh and unfounded note from the Government of the U.S.S.R."

The note described the white guards "people with a dark past" and accused Russia of ignoring the acts involved in the arrests in order to justify the Kremlin's current attitude of hostility toward the Belgrade Government.

At the same time, Yugoslavia berated Russia for "passing over in silence" its repeated requests concerning the repatriation of Yugoslav citizens, including children, now in the Soviet Union.

Yugoslavia said she does "not intend to enter into an argument" with the U.S.S.R. about the character of the regime in Yugoslavia, about the real purpose of the Cominform resolution (ousting Yugoslavia from the Cominform) and about whether or not Yugoslav economy has become an appendage to the economies of the capitalist countries.

(All these points were stressed in the strong Moscow note of last Saturday.)

Milietje Popovic, Minister of Foreign Trade, in a series of articles published here is accusing Russia of treating her Communist satellites in Europe like step-children and implying this is the reason for the long break with the Soviet Union.

Says Service Vote Taken Properly

OTTAWA, Aug. 23 — (CP) — C.M. Drury, Deputy Defence Minister, said today that votes cast by servicemen in the recent Federal election in the Nova Scotia constituency of Annapolis-Kings were taken in accordance with defence service voting regulations.

A prepared statement released by the Defence Department said Mr. Drury was commenting on suggestions that there was some irregularity in the service voting in Annapolis-Kings, specifically at the service polling station Greenwood.

When these suggestions came to the attention of the department, Mr. Drury said, the content of the poll at Greenwood was promptly investigated by an officer from Air Force headquarters at the instigation of the chief of the air staff.

The regulations, as required by the Defence Service voting regulations, were made known at the station at Greenwood and were in fact carried out there.
