City League Baseball

The eighth game in the City League Baseball schedule will take place this evening at 6 o'clock at the Abegweit grounds, when the Rovers and Stars will meet in the most important tilt in the first section of the League.

Should the Rovers continue their winning streak and defeat the Stars they will make the section look like a three cornered tie, that is providing the Anchors come back and take a fall out of the Stars on Friday night.

However the Stars have the section looking their way and intend to put it on ice by taking the Rovers into a trap.

Judging by the brand of ball these two aggregations can hand out, it looks from the gate at least that this evening's set-to will be long remembered by the baseball fans of Charlottetown.

ADVERTISING P. E. I.—For some time past a number of the schools throughout the province have been exchanging portfolios with schools in different countries, including England, Scotland, Japan, and several of the states of the Union. These portfolios contain descriptive matter and views of the country sending them. Yesterday the Guardian showed a portfolio prepared by the Junior Red Cross members of West Kent School. This one is going to a school in Idaho, U. S. A. It is very creditably put up and contains many newspaper clippings, photographs of island scenes, public buildings, recreation spots, bathing and numbers of native birds. There are also a number of original essays by the pupils all relating to local matters such as winter and summer sports, Arbor Day activities and, in short, practically everything connected with the provincial and school life. This portfolio furnishes a splendid advertisement for the province and the plan, for the origin of which we are indebted to the Junior Red Cross, is worthy of all possible help and support. It is not only of service in making the province known abroad but is an excellent exercise for the pupils. It also furnishes them with interesting matter concerning the school life of the countries with which they exchange.

Foreign demand for spring wheat flour was good and a fair trade was reported. The price of No 1 flour was steady at 61c. The price of No 2 flour was unchanged. No 2 Canadian western were quoted at 56c and No 3 c. w. at 58c, and No 1 feed at 56c per bushel. The price of millfeed were well maintained under a quiet enquiry. Yesterday the Guardian showed a portfolio prepared by the Junior Red Cross members of West Kent School. This one is going to a school in Idaho, U. S. A. AT ROTARY.—At the regular weekly Rotary Luncheon held at the Rose and Grey yesterday, a members "Field Day" was featured. Each member, as his name was picked out of a box, was required to speak for two minutes on his classification or some other subject. J. A. Robertson, Arch. Irwin, J. O. Hyndman, S. A. MacLeod, R. E. Much, R. A. Pendleton and C. H. Chandler, each spoke in turn giving the members some real food for thought along lines of civic interest and the welfare of the community. The Secretary read a telegram from President J. A. Webster who is now in Denver representing the Charlottetown Club at the International Convention of the MacLean Club. The stork made his appearance again and over the result Jim MacMillan was presented with a memento cup by Will Prowse in behalf of the club. The absence of Charlie Gallagher, who suffered an accident some days ago was regretted. Mr. J. B. Connelly of Moncton who was the only guest present, favored the club with two splendid solos which were heartily applauded. Tatarian Will Fletcher presided at the piano, Rotarian Jim Marley occupied the chair.

Dr. Archibald Speaks Before the Y's Men's Club

The speaker at the weekly meeting of the Y's Men's Club last evening was Dr. C. Archibald, who took as his subject his experiences as a physician in Labrador.

Dr. Archibald gave a very interesting description of his voyage into the North, and of the scenery and physical characteristics of the fact that the people of Labrador are very isolated lives, and seldom see either doctor or clergymen. The district had abundance of certain kinds of game, such as caribou, ptarmigan, and partridge, and the rivers abounded in trout and salmon. He mentioned that he had been hunting for bears, and that he had seen a number of fur bearing animals, more especially the white and silver fox, while the black and the blue fox were also trapped occasionally.

Dr. Archibald while in the Ungava country, near the MacLean Falls, of which but little is heard, but which bids fair to outclass Niagara in size and volume. It has a fall of 800 feet.

The chairman at last night's meeting was Y's Man Roy Cadmore, who at the conclusion of Dr. Archibald's talk extended to him the thanks of the other members of the club for his interesting and instructive address.

"The great test of time and experience has shown that the strong, unselfish service is in the selection of membership. In the contracts through which the current flows in each community—through trunk lines of power," said I. B. Sutton, district governor of the great Mexican district, and a hardware merchant of Tampico at the Thursday session of the Rotary convention at Denver. Mr. Sutton continued in part, as follows:

"Today we have confronting us a vast panorama, a picture no less beautiful as magnificent as the possibilities are in the world today to promote friendship through this organization of ours and to form and enlarge this brotherhood among men of all nations, there are yet those among us who fail to see the beauty of this picture; men who would call themselves Rotarians yet have failed to react to the opportunity to become Rotarians in reality.

"Given this great force, born of a rare conception of practical means of applying the Golden Rule to our daily life and business, a force now constantly regenerating itself throughout the world, promoting understanding and goodwill, who among us can estimate the ultimate result of the infinite power of this friendship or comprehend the extent of its development under those ideal conditions where there are no disturbing elements and where thoughts of altruism displace those of competition and envy?

"Experience has shown, however, that the human race although unevenly scattered around the globe with many different languages, characters, tendencies and colors, has social and community problems that resolve themselves into the same simple services in every civilized nation.

"A group consisting of the outstanding men of each distinct service is truly representative of a community. Worthiness recognized, distinction eliminated with honor alone dignifying the occupation, unselfishness becomes manifest and problems concerning the greatest good for the greatest number at once receive consideration.

"Great credit is due those responsible for having developed and standardized our outline of classifications. Without doubt, many additions and amendments will be incorporated in the course of time but it is through this plan, so clearly defined, that the Rotary code of ethics reaches out into every branch of community life and the time will come when that Code of Ethics will be observed and complied with in all its parts by all those who enter. There may be some present who would consider that as an Utopia, but such has always been the reaction to any great advancement at its inception, and time has undertaken to demonstrate, with marvelous examples, what advancement humanity is capable of achieving when men have the vision and the courage to undertake the task."

Spotted Fever Not Mysterious Malady

MONTREAL, June 17.—Shown a despatch from Moncton, N. B., reporting the death from spotted fever of a young man, George J. Y., who died in Moncton, N. B., today, after attending the Presbyterian Assembly in Montreal last week. Dr. S. Boucher, city director of Public Health, said that the cause of Mr. Wallace's death was not a mysterious malady but is simply another name for meningitis.

The director of health added that the malady was not a new one and while not common caused a small number of deaths in this city each year.

There is a spotted fever among animals, the fever continued, but this is of a different type altogether. The same name as applied to humans implies, in medical science "cerebro spinal meningitis."
