WILD CAT CONCERNS INJURING CANADA.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Thomas W. Gibson, Deputy Minister of Mines for the Province of Ontario, said in an interview that he is here in Great Britain to follow up the work of his departmental chief, Charles McCrea, through interesting London mining men, financiers and investors in Ontario mines.

Mr. Gibson did not think this feeling reasonable, because in England, itself, there is absolutely no regulation to prevent anybody from offering any shares in any concern, no matter how worthless. Whatever protection is given to the purchaser of shares in England is given, not by law, but by the London Stock Exchange, which requires evidence of the genuineness of a company before permitting share dealings.

Their failure had a tendency to discredit Canada, so Canada had a grievance against them equally as much as the English investors.

—FOREST RANGER SPENDS NIGHT IN TREE LIMB AS LIONESS SNARYS BELOW

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., Aug. 15.—With a wounded mountain lioness snapping at his heels, Tom Forsythe, forest ranger, spent Monday night perched precariously upon the swaying limb of a tree in the Santa Barbara national forest. Forsythe, who had been on fire patrol duty, had rolled up in his blankets for a night's rest when he heard the animal approaching. Firing into the darkness, he broke the lioness' shoulder, but the creature charged furiously at him. The ranger dropped his gun and scrambled for a nearby tree.

Throughout the night every move brought growls from the raging beast below. At break of day Forsythe cut a notched stick from the tree and fished his weapon from the ground.

A shot killed the lioness. And the ranger brought the animal to Santa Barbara Tuesday.

Saunders vs McCloskey at New Annan Races

The eight round bout for the P. E. I. light heavyweight championship at New Annan Races promises to be the best thing in the many art ever pulled off in P. E. I. both men are training faithfully and both are confident of success.

Saunders, whose admirers in the West are pulling strongly for him to get the belt, is working out daily at the Britannia Club in Summerside and is rapidly getting into shape. Chief Corigan reports that he has improved in style and speed since his last spring with Jack Wright who (by the way) is doing his "act courteous" and helping to put the finishing touches in Saunders for his bout at New Annan on Aug. 20th.

General admission to the bout is 75c. There are 80 ringside seats at $1.50. The "gate" is to be divided 60-40, which eliminates all possibility of "stalling." J. A. Ahearn of Tignish has been chosen as referee.

Sports at New Annan Races.

—MONTAGUE.—Divine services will be held in the Montague Methodist Church, Sunday August 17, 1924 as follows: 11:00 a. m., Lower Montague; 2:30 p. m. Sturgeon; 7:00 p. m. Montague. Everyone is cordially invited to these services. A meeting of the congregation will be held in the church at Lower Montague, Wednesday evening August 20th at 8 o'clock. It is requested that every member be present.

—DEPARTURE REGRETTED.—Mr. and Mrs. H. D. McLeod, for many years respected residents of Montague left on Tuesday last for Boston, where Mr. McLeod hopes to enjoy better health than he did while here. Mrs. McLeod will be greatly missed in connection with every undertaking in which the women were engaged, for she was ever ready to lend a helping hand. That Mr. McLeod will regain his health is the unanimous wish.—J.

—TROUBLE FOR NOTHING.—The heavy rains of the past few days, although greatly needed for the grain and root crops, has been a source of great inconvenience to the Montague people, as it made necessary the postponing of the horse races. The proceeds from the tea tables are for town improvements, and owing to the warm weather will have to be done over again. Practically every family in the town is helping out on this occasion.—J.

—PLEASED VISITOR.—The most far away visitor to come to Montague so far this season is Mrs. Kenneth Gordon, who came all the way from Los Angeles, California, to visit her parents Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel McLaren, and to enjoy once again the delightful climate of her native province. Mrs. Gordon showed remarkable courage in travelling this great distance alone, taking what is known as the Southern route, through Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and other States until she reached the Atlantic Coast, when she journeyed northward, stopping off at Boston where she visited a number of friends. Mrs. Gordon arrived here early in the summer and is now giving an account of the climate of California, that she delayed announcing her arrival, today however she has a different opinion, and will do all in her power to persuade her husband to return to this province. Mr. Gordon being a former resident of Brudenell, where he was born, Mrs. Gordon reports a great many Islanders in California, meeting them continually. In fact she likes them quite close to Mr. and Mrs. Jack McPherson, former residents of Montague. A rumor is in circulation to the effect that when Mrs. Gordon returns her mother will accompany her, this we hope is untrue, for Mrs. McLaren is one of the best women we have in the town, and to lose her would be a heavy blow to this community. In fact many think that she should have been given special mention in the report of the work done in the Women's Institute during the past year, especially as she gave of her time and talent in decorating the flag in honor of the fallen heroes. Meeting so many of her old friends and acquaintances together with our delightful climate has made Mrs. Gordon's visit such an enjoyable one that she intends remaining until October, certainly good news.—J.

—Mrs. Edward Kerr of Montague is on a visit to New Glasgow, N. S., visiting her sister Mrs. W. J. Brydges. A lady of Mrs. Kerr's charming personality cannot fail to make an enjoyable visit, and to have herself immensely popular with her new acquaintances.

TO CREATE LARGEST FOREST IN BRITAIN

LONDON, Aug. 15.—The British Forestry Committee is planning afforestation development in a huge area of East Anglia with the idea of creating the largest forest in Great Britain. Tree planting has already begun.

The area under development is a vast sandy waste land. The plan includes the erection of workers' holdings for 100 families. It is expected that the development will be profitable not only in the production of timber, but for the increased fertility of surrounding land.

Vatican Diplomats Busy With Three Treaties

(United Press)
ROME, Aug. 15.—Vatican diplomats are today in the midst of a feverish treaty-making activity. Three important treaties with Germany, Turkey and Roumania have converted the huge Vatican palaces into veritable conference halls.

The most abstruse problems for solution appear in the conference with the German representatives. There the Vatican diplomats have been called to wrestle with the knotty problem of exchange, the rise and fall of the dark, due to the fact that the German government is contemplating indemnification to the priests and parishes for the property appropriated by the convention of Weimar.

The German government in the Weimar convention took over all the church properties. Now comes the question of establishing the value of the vast seizure. The value at that time has certainly changed with the fluctuations in German money. To take the present value would also inflict a hardship for there is the hope that German currency will some day reach a more stabilized condition.

To arrive at a satisfactory conclusion on this point, the experts of the Vatican have been forced to their wits' ends to solve the delicate problem.

Mgr. Pacelli Takes Lead
Monsignor Pacelli, apostolic nuncio at Berlin, is the chief figure in these deliberations because of his knowledge of the German situation. Then, too, complicating it, is the question of treaties with the other states which make up the Reich. Monsignor Pacelli has already drawn up a concordat with Bavaria, which only needs the ratification of the Bavarian diet and the approval of the Pontiff.

The chief figure in the deliberations on Roumania is Monsignor Borgognini-Duca, the papal under secretary of state. Roumania is represented by ex-Minister Bacu and Signor Penescu, Roumanian minister to the Holy See. The difficulties presented in this conference are contained in the multiple religions now practiced within Roumanian borders. The chief points of the treaty have already been discussed in Bucharest but the details are taking the greater part of the time of the delegates. It is expected that within a few weeks all the elements will be overcome and the treaty consummated.

Pope Watches Turk Treaty
Pope Plus himself has been deeply interested in the treaty which is now in process of preparation with Turkey. For this, Monsignor Filippi was summoned from Constantinople. The chief discussion rests on the question of Catholic schools in the Turkish domain. The Holy See did not view with pleasure the order of the Angora government prohibiting the placing of the confessional emblems on private institutions. The order struck a great blow to the Catholic schools, which have important work in the great centres of Turkey.

The Holy See is now studying an agreement to take care of the particular order and some solution alike satisfactory to the Vatican as to the Turkish government is expected. The Pope showed his efforts towards conciliation by a donation of 300,000 lire to be devoted to the work of relief amongst the refugees in Turkey without respect to either nationality or religious faith.

Girl Won Dinner Bet As Stowaway

(United Press)
NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Winner of a wager, Anna May Gerry, of Portland, Maine, pretty, dark haired and just 20, returned today as a second cabin passenger on the National Greek liner King Alexander, after having made the trip from Boston to Patras, Greece, as a stowaway of a new sort.

Just before the King Alexander sailed from Boston on her last trip to Greece, Miss Gerry, a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, and of Boston University, attended a dinner and dance in that city, at which there was considerable discussion of feminine audacity.

Miss Gerry when asked if she included herself among the audacious, she declared that she did, and offered to prove it.

One of those present at the dinner then offered to wager her that she could not stowaway successfully on a liner leaving Boston, and Miss Gerry accepted the wager. The King Alexander was sailing the next morning. She packed her suitcase and walked up the gang plank, and selected a nice cabin for herself.

Two days out, the purser discovered that she had no passport and no ticket. He consulted the captain, and it was decided that the ship's officers had nothing much to do but be nice to their unusual stowaway. On the return voyage Miss Gerry occupied a second class cabin and continued in the good graces of the captain and the purser.

Today there was nothing for all concerned but to allow Miss Gerry to leave the ship. Representatives of the Travelers' Aid were notified and accompanied Miss Gerry as she started back for Boston to collect the wager. Miss Gerry was thought well able to take care of herself, but it was felt that the representative of the Travelers' Aid Society might well go along to see that she didn't stowaway between here and Boston.

"Fewer But Better Churches" the Motto

(United Press)
NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The annual report of the congregational churches of the United States has just been made public. A summary made by Rev. Charles E. Burton, the secretary, shows a notable tendency towards "fewer churches but better." The denomination reports a loss of one hundred and ten churches, but an increase of 3,322 members. The average membership per church, taking the country over, increased from 147 per church to over 150 members per church. This is accounted for by three reasons:

First, the concentration of population in cities from the country thus making the continuance of rural churches impossible.

Second, the wide use of the automobile allows many country dwel-
