

Give Your kidneys a chance
 Cleanse them regularly—as you would your intestines

It's good common sense to keep your eliminative organs clean and active. But do a complete job . . . include your kidneys. They work hard purifying your entire blood-stream 480 times every day and need attention and care quite as much as your bowels do.

Use Gin Pills regularly. They will soothe and strengthen your kidneys and help you avoid serious kidney ailments like Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago. Gin Pills are inexpensive, 50¢ a box at all druggists.

Country Court At Alberton

The first circuit of the County Court met at Alberton on Tuesday, Judge Innah presiding.

The only civil case taken up was that of Neil Buchanan vs. George Palmer. This was an action for the conversion of a sheep, which had disappeared from the plaintiff's flock some five years ago. Three years later the plaintiff had recovered from the defendant a sheep which he claimed to identify as his lost one, but on the same day the defendant took the sheep home again, and subsequently sold her. Several witnesses were examined on both sides, both as to the identity and ear-marks of the sheep in question and as to general phases of the sheep raising industry. After hearing the evidence, and the arguments of Counsel, His Honour held that the defendant had the fact of possession of the sheep on his side, and that his evidence in other respects was corroborated by that of the independent witness John McDonald. The plaintiff had not sufficiently proved the identity of the sheep to establish his ownership, and therefore could not succeed in the action. Mr. C. D. McCallum was counsel for the defendant and Mr. Thana A. Campbell for the plaintiff.

Three prohibition cases were then heard. In each case several witnesses testified that they purchased liquor from parties belonging to West Prince; each of them was fined two hundred dollars and costs of three months in jail.

A fourth prohibition case was then called. Inspector Kinch and Customs Officer Hardy gave evidence of pursuing the accused through a field, seeing him stoop down and deposit something on the ground, and finding on the spot a bottle containing a quantity of alcohol. Neither one knew the accused at the time, but Mr. Kinch identified him as the same man on whom Inspector Platts later served the summons in this case. Mr. Wilfred Tanton, for the defence, argued that the case should be dismissed, as the Crown had failed to establish either the identity of the man, or the possession of the liquor. Mr. Campbell, for the prosecution, submitted that the identity of the man had been proved beyond question, and that a prima facie case of possession had been made out. His Honour agreed with Mr. Campbell's contention, and held that the evidence produced by the prosecution was sufficient to put the accused on his defence, and that the Court must convict in the absence of rebuttal. Mr. Tanton stated that he did not intend to offer any evidence, and the defendant was thereupon convicted and fined $200 or three months in gaol.

Some other civil cases were reported as settled, and several were stood over until the August sittings of the Court.—S

LETTER OF SYMPATHY

To Mrs. Harry and Mrs. Golden Weeks, Pleasant Valley, P. E. I.

Dear Sisters—We on behalf of the members of the Pleasant Valley Women's Missionary Society feel we must express in some way our sincere and heartfelt sympathy to you both in the loss of your dear mother. We shall miss her in our meetings, where she was always ready and willing to do her part in everything pertaining to the welfare of the Society that she took such an interest in. There are some sorrows which seem too tender for words, and yet we often realize that loving hearts often help to lighten the burden of grief. We cannot understand why those sad separations are permitted, but by and by when our probation here is ended all the dark things will be made plain, the parting from those we love will only be for "a little while," but the joyful reunion will be forever and forever. And while we mourn she rests in God's fair Presence.

In Glory that no pain can mar, In emptiness and loneliness we linger, Silent the voice we loved, unseen the face, But while so many hearts mourn a loved one, In God's bright home a Saint had found a place.

That Car of Yours

BY WILLIAM ULLMAN
 HEART-TO-HEART TALKS WITH Automobile Owners and Drivers on How to Get the Most Out of Their Cars at the Least Expense.

MORE AIR WILL HELP.

Winter's decline finds the average motorist making more use of his car. The first balmy days of Spring impel one to take longer trips than usual. In such a case it is well to remember that the faster driving on such a voyage will be safer if five pounds additional air are put into the front tires. The impulse of the front end of the car to weave is diminished.

PLUG MEASURE PASSES

High compression engines require more precise spark plug gaps. This fact has made obsolete the old practice of measuring the thickness of the gap with a thin dime. Thin dimes vary in thickness. Spark plug gaps require less crude measuring methods.

RUST HINDERS COOLING

Why drain and flush the radiator with the passing of Winter? For one good reason, the rusty water in the system is harder to cool. It radiates heat far less quickly.

ALSO NEED CLEANING

It is not enough merely to drain out the lighter lubricant of the differential and transmission at this season of the year when a heavier grease becomes necessary. These parts should be thoroughly cleaned with kerosene as well. In some places, the shop is equipped to do this job with steam under pressure. It is more effective than the customary kerosene bath. The latter, however, will do.

SPARE SHOULD BE USED

The spare tire can be worn out by "a lack of mileage" is not altogether a joke as some car owners think. Putting it into service from time to time instead of waiting for a puncture or blow-out will result in sufficient discoloration to diminish the bad effects of the rays of the sun.

STARTERS STILL STICK

In spite of all the engineering progress presented in later cars, the old evil of the sticking starter has not been entirely abolished. If the trouble remains, the cure for it remains the same. It is to put the gear shift lever in high and rock the car back and forth. In the average case, this will snap the starter free.

WIRING CHECK NEEDED

When a bulb burns up brightly and then burns out, the source of the trouble most likely is a loose connection. Starting with the battery terminals, a check of the various connections usually will quickly disclose which is responsible. Motorists have spent considerable money in buying new bulbs and putting them into the sockets before checking for the trouble. It always means more bulbs.

IMPROVE HORN TONE

Horns develop hoarseness. The remedy usually is a simple matter of adjustment. A thin coin applied to the adjusting nut and a little energy are all the ingredients necessary to affect the remedy in most cases.

Skating has been more popular in England this winter than in years.

DANGEROUS PIECE OF ROAD

Quite a dangerous piece of road is reported in the Spring Brook District, where there is a very bad rut near Mr. Allan Doughart's residence, where there is a very bad rut as good as it once was, stated that a few days ago as Mr. William Osen was conveying Miss Greenan, Mr. Wesley Payne during his recent severe illness, to the Station, they narrowly escaped a serious accident.

Mr. Osen, who is no longer young and whose eyesight is probably not they were almost upon the "slew" before they knew it. The sleigh turned violently around throwing both occupants out. Miss Greenan landed on a snowbank with nothing worse than a severe shaking. Mr. Osen, however, was not so fortunate. He was thrown with much force against a birch tree, a large limb passing over his head. He says a few inches nearer would have meant his undoing.

Mr. Doughart and his son rushed to their assistance and helped Mr. Osen to his feet. After recovering the horse, which fortunately was a very quiet animal, having stopped with the overturned sleigh a short distance down the road, they were able to continue the journey to the station.

It will be remembered, this is the second time within a few months that Mr. Osen has been placed in an uncomfortable position. Late last fall in company with another man named Wm. Pickering, from the dairy farm, he went to the sandhills to attend some traps they had set there. The morning was fine but later in the day it blew a gale with furies of snow, causing the water in the Bay to become quite rough. Neither of them having much knowledge of handling a boat they were afraid to attempt the journey back.

As night came on, an as they had no food nor any means of making a fire, the prospect was not a pleasant one. On hearing of their plight Messrs. Wallace Graham and John Mathison launched a dory and rowed over after them, arriving home shortly after dark. A few years ago Mr. Osen was quite a noted baseball player, and even yet during the summer months there is nothing he enjoys more than a game with the "boys."
