Vivid Action And Suspense In "Joe Smith, American"

It is an inspiring story. "Joe Smith, American" which opened yesterday at the Capitol Theatre, Summerside, with Robert Young in the title role. He portrays the head of an average young American family and scores in a part completely different from anything he has ever attempted before.

Marsha Hunt appears as his wife, and ten-year-old youngster are their children. They live in a typical P. H. A. home, eat wholesome food, dress comfortably and drive a car. Their domestic life is happy and uneventful until the young husband is set to work on a secret bomb sight.

When his car is forced to the side of the road and he is quietly made a prisoner for four thugs. Young's escape by quick thinking is a dramatic piece of acting in which he saves the secret of a bomb sight. His keen intelligence while a prisoner in a hideaway E. H. and the city chieftain federal men race the gang, and one by one Young identifies them by remembering a spot of ink on a gray shoe, an old ring on a mustache, a scratch on a door, the battered hub cap on a car.

Gallant, witness pointed out Rensale Gallant in court as having worked at station. Sold Frank Gallant's car. As for the key no. 10, first order was for 6 barrels around 150 gallons. A truck came after 2 witnesses went home and didn't see the truck. Key no. 10, for 8 barrels this time Harry Gallant and another fellow came after 2 witnesses were testified to selling the key no. 10.

Testimony was given by a number of employees of Bruce Stewart and Company Ltd. with regard to the making of castings for Andrew Perry in February, 1941.

Leigh Simmonds, Belmont, Oct. 16, testified to being in Summerside a year. Runs filling station for Frank and Harry Gallant. Service station showing he had received a barrel of naphtha. Witness verified this and testified to the amount of how it was sold. Two cans went out to the ranch of Frank and Harry Gallant. He saw Jack Armstrong, Summerside, who was with Frank and Harry Gallant own the ranch.

Corporal Watson, R.C.M.P. (Summerside division) remembers being in the vicinity of the service station on July 13th last around 11 p.m. Witness saw a car drive around the road and he is quietly made a prisoner for four thugs.

Young's escape by quick thinking is a dramatic piece of acting in which he saves the secret of a bomb sight. His keen intelligence while a prisoner in a hideaway E. H. and the city chieftain federal men race the gang, and one by one Young identifies them by remembering a spot of ink on a gray shoe, an old ring on a mustache, a scratch on a door, the battered hub cap on a car.

Ordered three barrels of molasses. It was about going into Witness had not seen the man before or since. He went behind store and loaded them on his truck. Took them up the western highway to St. Nicholas Road and unloaded them. Left them on the side of the road. Saw nobody. Had been told by this man to do this. Weighed six or seven hundred pounds each.

He had a dump truck and used it to unload them. This man paid witness $5 for the job. This was the only occasion anybody had asked him to buy molasses.

Lloyd Perry, head of the Veterans Guard of Canada, stationed at Dartmouth, enlisted in September, 1941. Before enlisting Perry worked at the Greyhound Cafe. Donald MacDonald was the proprietor. Supplied meals at the Greyhound. Was paid twelve dollars a week. Perry worked for Perry and Harry Gallant but did not join the army.

Witness testified he never paid any rent for the ranch. Never went out to ranch after he leased it. Didn't give anybody permission to take possession of it. Witness testified there was another section of the Greyhound but he had nothing to do with it. Didn't know what kind of business it was. Witness was never in there. Didn't know if moonshine was handled there. Witness thought lease was for one year. When shown the lease he said it was for two years. Nobody had ever asked him for rent.

Cross examined by Mr. Noonan witness described where he has been posted since he joined up. Witness testified that he caught two internees who had escaped from Fredericton internment camp. Truman Tremouth, recalled, testified that this morning, Nov. 18th, 1942, he seized a still at the premises of Leonard Kirk Fitzpatrick in the basement.

D. J. Heath, recalled, last March made a search in Henry Showery Gallant's found 19 barrels in the cellar. Witness said he often searched West End Service Station. Give Verdict In Death Of Ian Darrach

The adjourned inquest into the death of Ian Darrach was resumed yesterday afternoon in the Summerside court house. Coroner Dr. W. B. Howard presiding.

Andrew Gallant, "I came up from down Water Street on Monday night and I was going into the kitchen. I went in and there were a few minutes when I started to lock up. Ian Darrach and Edward Chappell were there. There were two or three other fellows there also. Everybody went out and I turned on the lights. I stood by the stove. I heard John Gallant say 'you shouldn't have done that.' I was waiting at the door. I saw Ian Darrach on the broad of his back on the street. A little to the left of the Soviet door. I saw Howard and I called him up. We sat him on the door step. I had to hold him in position. He could not say anything. He was not at all moved. I said there is something wrong we had better get a taxi or the Police wagon. Just then a car came around the corner of Foundry Street. It was the Police wagon. I told them to take him to the hospital. They took him away."

Foreman asked if they were quarrelling when he, Perry, went into the Soviet. Witness answered no. Coroner asked "did you see Chappell when you went out?" Witness answered "I saw a man between the Sungio and Bank of Commerce." Witness did not recognize him as he had his back turned and was wearing a hat. Dr. J. O. Simpson, gave the result of the findings of the autopsy on the body. The body is that of a well nourished middle aged man. Rigor Mortis present in a marked degree. There is considerable post-mortem lividity of the back posterior part of the body. No marks on the skull cap were removed in the usual way and a long linear fracture noted extending from the corner of the forehead to the eye. This fracture extended through all layers of the skull and there was hemorrhage of the brain immediately from the fracture. Fracture at the base of the skull suggested that the fall was the cause of the injury and Dr. Simpson said that the fracture was sufficient to cause death.

After conferring the jury returned the following verdict: "We, the undersigned jurors according to evidence found and the said Ian Darrach came to his death from a fractured skull caused by a fall on the street after being hit by one Edward Chappell."

Chappell has been charged with manslaughter and is remanded in jail for the preliminary hearing which was set for Friday next at 9 a.m.

A BETTER WAY...

to a Brighter Day

GOOD FOOD IS GOOD SENSE. Never before has it been more important for you to buy wisely and eat well. Today, good health is an essential duty. And good food is essential to good health.

Include KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN in your "must" list. Remember, ALL-BRAN is more than a delicious, nourishing cereal. It's also a grand, laxative food that provides a "better way" to avoid constipation caused by the lack of the proper amount of "bulk" in the diet. But remember, ALL-BRAN doesn't work like harsh cathartics. It takes time.

Eat ALL-BRAN in tasty breakfast muffins or as a crunchy cereal every day... drink plenty of water... and see if you don't agree that ALL-BRAN is a better way to a brighter day!

Buy ALL-BRAN at your grocer's in either of the two conveniently sized packages. Order it in the individual serving package at restaurants. Made by Kellogg's at London, Canada.

Painful, Pus Filled Boils the Cause of Much Misery

If you suffer from boils you know how sick and miserable they made you feel. Boils are an outward indication of impurities in the system, and just when you think you are rid of one another crop up to take its place and prolong your misery. All the lancing and poulticing you can do may not stop more coming. To help overcome boils you should purify the blood, so why not give that old, reliable blood medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters, a chance to show what it will do in helping you get rid of them? Thousands have used it for this purpose for the past 60 years. Why not you?
