On his way here Mr. McLennan visited Chicago, New York and Boston and had an altogether enjoyable trip. He says there are many Provincialists in Vancouver and they are a credit to the land of their birth.

The quarterly Official Board of the Cornwall Circuit held its quarterly session in the Kingston Church on Wednesday, Nov. 29th. The meeting was well attended, great interest and goodwill was manifested by all the brethren in the discussion of the different topics brought before the meeting. Reports from the different preaching places showed the circuit to be in a prosperous condition, the finances being considerably ahead of previous years. The Rev. Hugh Miller, whose pastorage with this circuit will expire next June, has proved himself to be a faithful and energetic pastor.

The steamer Bridgewater arrived on Saturday with the schooner Daisy Vaughan in tow. She was expected here a couple of days ago but on account of the bad weather much time had to be spent in port. The Bridgewater was on her way from Louisburg with a load of material salvaged from the Norwegian Steamer Harold when she sighted the Daisy Vaughan ashore at Whitehead. She got hold of the schooner and pulled her into deep water, later starting for Halifax with her in tow. Captain Godfrey said the schooner, which was bound from Prince Edward Island to Liverpool with a cargo of potatoes and turnips, went ashore at one p. m. last Tuesday during a heavy south-east gale. The cargo is uninjured. The vessel is not making much water. She will go on the slip for repairs. She is now at Central wharf.—Halifax Exe.

A very pretty event took place on Tuesday morning, Nov. 28th, when John M. Quinn, son of James and Mrs. Quinn of Stanley Bridge, was united in marriage to Miss Emma Agnes, daughter of James and Mrs. Turner, Glyde River, at nine o'clock a. m. in St. Anne's Church, Hope River. The ceremony being performed by the Rev. A. A. McLaughlin. The bride was attended by Miss Bessie Brown of Charlottetown while the groom was ably supported by his brother Everett Quinn. The bride was given away by her brother Edward Quinn and looked charming in a gown of white satin with trimmings of white and gold and wore a white hat to match trimmed with white plumes and carried a valuable prayer book the gift of her aunt, Miss Florence Turner, sister of the bride, played the wedding march and at the conclusion of the ceremony the wedding party returned to the home of the bride's parents where dinner was served to the immediate relatives. About five o'clock in the evening the bridal party drove to the home of the groom where a reception was held. The presents were numerous and costly which goes to show the esteem in which the bride is held. Among them was a beautiful art square the gift of her brother John of Vancouver. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome seal coat. The Guardian wishes the young couple many years of happy married life.

The schooner Loyal, produce laden, summerside for Liverpool, while trying to make Isaac's Harbor last night in a thick snow storm, ran ashore on the back of Harbor Island, where she now lies in an exposed condition full of water. S. R. Giffin & Sons sent men and a gasoline boat to the schooner today and saved most of the deckload, consisting of bagged oats and cedar shingles. The schooner is owned by Captain Hutchison and his father, of Richibucto, and is not insured. The cargo is owned by George Smith, who was on the schooner and J. W. Smith, of Liverpool. Probably insured. If the weather continues favorable the captain may save the schooner.—Goldboro, N. S., Exe.

Editorially, the St. John Telegraph says: Canada's oyster catch, which one mainly from the Maritime Provinces, requires immediate and drastic attention. In 1882 Canada was at the height of its oyster production, and harvested 64,646 barrels. Since 1901 the yield has never risen above 40,000 barrels. In 1907 it fell to 27,299. By 1909 it had risen to 18,835. The greatest decline has been in Prince Edward Island, which fell from 57,042 in 1882 to 9,672 in 1907. New Brunswick, from 1885 to 1890, had an average annual production of 21,000 barrels. This declined to 12,470 in 1903; it has since been increasing slowly. While waste, neglect, and improvidence have been ruining the Canadian oyster industry, the demand, both local and foreign, has been increasing rapidly, and in twenty years prices have increased by 240 per cent. In 1890 the price was $1.90 per barrel. In 1908 and 1909 prices ranged from $6.50 to $7.00 per barrel. Canadians consumed in 1909-10, 389,500 gallons of foreign grown oysters, is spite of a duty of 17 1/2 per cent. to 25 per cent. on oysters in the shell, and from one and one half cents to three cents a pint for those shelled or preserved. The total value of oysters imported in 1909-10 was $369,166 and the duty paid on them was $43,669. Thus Canada is paying to other countries $350,000 a year for oysters which it could easily produce itself if the industry were carried on under proper conditions and the oyster beds were protected against illegal and improvident methods. The information given here is issued by the Dominion Commission of Conservation in a pamphlet written by M. J. Patton, M. A., assistant secretary of the commission. The facts are forcibly presented, and should create a strong public sentiment in support of the conservation measures proposed by the commission.
