GOOD FORM IN EATING.
Macaroni Cheese should be eaten with the fork.
Pineapple is cut into small pieces with fruit knife and fork.
Peas, served as a separate dish are eaten with a dinner fork.
Savouries are eaten with a knife and fork, or fork only, as desired.
Salad, which is usually served on salad plates, otherwise on small ones, placed to the left of each guest, should be eaten with a dinner knife and fork.
Entrees.—Those of a soft nature are eaten with a fork only, but for such entrees as small rounds of beef, sweetbreads, cutlets, etc., a knife and fork are necessary.
Chocolates, Marrons, Glaces, and Other Sweets, which are placed in fancy silver or china dishes, are helped by means of small tongs placed on each dish.
WELSH RAREBIT with a knife and fork. Cheese should be cut into small pieces and each placed on a small piece of bread or biscuit, which carry to the mouth with thumb and finger.
Fish.—This is eaten with a silver or plated fish knife and fork. Oysters should be eaten with a special oyster fork, otherwise with a small dinner fork. Lobster should be eaten with a "claw" knife and fork.
Pastry.—For this, only a small fork is necessary unless it be a fruit tart when a pudding spoon is also used. If made of stone fruit, the stones should first be separated, and placed on the side of the plate.
Jelly, Blancmange, Iced Pudding, Etc.—A fork is all that is necessary to use; but a spoon and fork are used for soft sweets, such as tarts, cake, maccadone of fruit, or where there is any cream, custard or juice.
Gooseberries, Grapes and Cherries are conveyed to the mouth with the fingers, and the stones and skins, which are placed for the mouth in the closed hand, should be placed on the side of the plate.
Fruits.—Apricots, peaches, pears and oranges should be peeled, cut into small pieces or quarters with a fruit knife and fork, and each piece conveyed to the mouth with the fork. Melons should be eaten with a dessert spoon and fork, so also should strawberries and raspberries, when served with cream.

NATIONS ARE USING 3 KINDS OF BULLETS
The various bullets used by armies of civilized nations admit of being grouped in three classes. One of these classes of projectiles is called the reduced calibre, jacketed bullet. The second class includes the leaden balls in shrapnel and the blunt-nosed bullet formerly in use in the British army and subsequently used by the Servians. To the third class belong the expanding bullets, the soft-nosed bullet and the dum-dum bullet. Some authorities speak of the first class as the pointed bullet. It has less stopping power than the other two. The greater part of the nations of the world use the ogival bullet, a pointed bullet, whose tip forms an obtuse angle like an arch.
The two bullets now in use, the ogival and the blunt-nosed, have a rotary and a wobbling motion. On impact they produce a wound like that made by the blow of a hammer. This effect seems to be observed at all ranges, but particularly at 1,000 yards. Here the gyroscopic steadiness due to rotation is lost; the bullet may even turn on its axis and produce explosive effects. Later the impact seems the only explanation of these explosive effects.
The unstable Japanese bullet, unstable because it is the lightest and smallest in use, makes at 800 to 1,000 yards perforations which are large, with explosive exits, and the soft viscera, a wide track showing a great deal of laceration. These effects are probably the result of the bullet's course, which is a tangent to the curve of the trajectory. Before it takes a curve, at very short ranges, it has effects less severe, but here its stopping power is less. In this respect it is much inferior to the blunt-nosed bullet. The action of both these types of modern bullets on the human body would at first sight seem to be the same, but careful inspection of wounds during the Balkan War shows that wounds caused by the sharp-nosed German or Turkish bullets were on the whole more favorable for speedy healing than those caused by the blunt-nosed Servian bullet.
There is, however, a marked defect of the pointed bullet. The result of shaving off the tip and shoulder to a fine point is to throw the centre of gravity very far back; this peculiarity tends to make the bullet travel on its transverse axis. This effect increases wounding power by increasing the area of the wound.

A Neighbor Told Him To Take Gin Pills
FOR THE KIDNEYS
If you want to know what Gin Pills will do for you, just drop a line to Mr. D. A. Yorke, at Belrock, Ont. He will tell you what Gin Pills did for him, after he had suffered with Kidney trouble for 15 years. Here is his letter:
"I suffered for about 15 years with my kidneys. I could get nothing to help me. The pain went all through my back and shoulders and down the sides of my legs. When I would sit down for a while, I would straighten up again until I would feel as if I were being pulled apart. A neighbor advised me to take GIN PILLS. I did so and six boxes cured me. It is about two and a half years since I quit taking them. My back is all right; no pains and no more backache. I feel like a new man for it all—they are worth their weight in gold."

HOME SWEET HOME.

I've bought goods at Glasgow, Belfast and Cork
London and Liverpool, and then in New York.
I've purchased in Paris, yes, been in Rome;
But say to you truly there's no place like home.
Have been to Chicago, I'm sorry to say,
I got what I ordered, but first had to pay.
When the boxes were opened I stood there alone
And said to myself goods are better at home.
The stove that I sent for had only three legs.
What's the use of a stove if it hasn't its pegs?
When I looked in the oven it was cracked to the dome.
Then I wished to old Mike I had bought it at home.
I'm now all filled up with this buying away.
I'll buy where I sell my good butter and hay—
If the Lord will forgive me no more will I roam;
Hereafter I'll spend all my dollars at home.

Hearing Is Restored To Deaf

Without Mechanical or Artificial Hearing Devices. Deaf Hear With Their Own Ears. A Wonderful English Discovery.

Thousands of people suffer from sarrhral deafness or poor hearing, who having tried specialists, advertised treatments, artificial ear drums, ear phones, electric vibrators and various mechanical appliances without success have at last resigned themselves to a "world of silence" thinking that nothing can ever restore to them their normal hearing. Yet their case is not hopeless. A remarkable scientific treatment discovered a little more than a year ago in England is making people hear after years of deafness and is also unequalled for quickly stopping the distressing head noises that so often the companions of defective hearing. This discovery is called Parmit and has attracted widespread notice throughout Europe where reports of the remarkable results it has given to deaf people have come in by the hundred.
The effect to produce it seems to be by tonic action to produce a stimulation necessary to reduce all inflammation, swelling, enlargements or thickening of the organs of hearing and to stimulate the entire auditory tract.
Parmit is now being sold by many leading druggists in Charlottetown and vicinity and a speedy trial is urged upon all who suffer from sarrhral deafness or headaches in any degree. Ask the druggist for 1 oz. of Parmit (Double Strength) and take it home and mix with 1/4 pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day and you should soon find a remarkable improvement in your hearing.
"IMPORTANT.—In ordering Parmit always specify that you want double strength; your druggist has it or he can get it for you; if not, send 75c. to the International Laboratories, 74 St. Antoine St., Montreal, P. Q., who make a specialty of it."

$8,500.00 Damages Awarded in Street Railway Accident
Nervous system so terribly shattered that paralysis set in. Examined by eleven doctors. Recovery attributed to use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. MAY WRIGHT, 113 1/2 King St. W., Toronto, has written of her wonderful recovery as follows—
"On May 25th, 1913, I met with an accident when a Bathurst St. car crashed into a Queen St. car and I was thrown over three seats and under the front seat. As a result my spine was badly injured and paralysis set in. My nerves were shattered and for a whole year I was in a completely helpless condition. I had no appetite and could not sleep and when it was necessary for me to appear in court I was carried in on a stretcher. I was examined by eleven doctors and among them were several of the very best medical authorities in the city of Toronto. Some of these doctors claimed I could never recover and the court awarded me $8,500.00 and costs.
The most wonderful part of it all is the benefit I have obtained by the use of Dr. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD. Gradually and certainly this great nerve restorative has built up the nervous system until I am getting back the old time health and vigor. I sleep well now, appetite and digestion are good, and I cannot say enough in praise of this great medicine."

WHEN PUBLIC OPINION IS ENTHRONED.
(Portland (Me.) "Express.")
We may well make the most of the few gleams of humor that just out of the prevailing gloom abroad. In the enormous flood of literature bearing on the war that is pouring on our shores is a book describing the formation and inner workings of the Russian army. Fortunately for himself, humor and introduces a story that must not be missed. It runs this way:
An officer questioning a recent recruit asked the man.
"Suppose you were on sentry duty in this town, and an uprising occurred, what would you do?"
"Shoot," said the recruit.
"Very good. But suppose you own mother and father were in the crowd?"
"Shoot them all down."
"Splendid. But now suppose you were encamped in the field, and you found a stray cow or calf, what would you do?"
"Shoot them both down."
"Nonsense! You should lead them by the horns to the General's (wife of the commanding general)."
"There was a moment of pause. And then the officer questioned further:
"Suppose you were to meet your commanding general, what would you do?"
"Shoot him down," said the recruit.
"The recruit thought a moment, and then replied proudly.

HERE'S A POSER
If you found a roll of bills in a shabby purse, showing that it probably represented the hard-earned wages of a working man, what would you do with it? Keep it, and so enrich yourself at the expense of some poor family's food and shelter? No, certainly not! Try to find the owner, and return it to him? Yes, every time!
There aren't many workmen losing money on the street nowadays, but there are more than you would suppose who are losing jobs, and jobs mean money, so it amounts to the same thing.
If it would give you real pleasure to hand a laborer back his lost money, it ought to be equally pleasing to be able to hand him back his job.
Simplest thing in the world to do! All that's necessary is to remember when you go into a shop to buy anything, that the article you pick out means somebody's job. If it's an imported article, well, that's a job for a fellow in some other country, but if it's "Made in Canada", it's a job for one of your fellow Canadian citizens, who for the time being, is a little down on his luck.
Take your handkerchief out right now, and tie a knot in it, just to remind you about Canadian Jobs for Canadian Workmen.
