the world, in Japan hundreds of millions of dollars are invested in the manufacturing industries and it was her own mercantile marine that carried the manufactured goods to the different parts of the globe. Her educational system is more efficient and nearer perfection than any other country's. Ninety six in a hundred, the highest ratio enjoyed by any nation, is the average number of literate people in Japan. These facts should be sufficient to disillusion those who foster the belief that the yellow race is inferior to our own in intellect.

These influences of western civilization were accompanied by influences exerted by the western religion and despite pagan examples and the exploiting of their native land by members of the white race, the Japs have felt the deep influence of the Christian religion, which has gradually won its way into their hearts.

There are now 250,000 church members in Japan and altogether about a million adherents to Christianity. The speaker considered the question as to whether the missions in Japan were worth while. A fact in their favor was the fact that conversions were not made by evangelistic efforts which resulted in wholesale conversion. During the first thirteen years of Christian missions in Japan, ten converts were gained. But since slow and steady stream of neophytes has been flowing into the mission churches. The good produced could not be estimated in numbers only. Among Japanese Christians were some of the country's greatest statesmen, noblemen and philosophers. Higher moral standards were being observed by the people and human life which had once been of no more consideration than animal life, was now taken at its true value.

In dealing with the Jap's character, the speaker mentioned its very melancholic cast. On the Japanese face there was always a look of pessimistic gloom and dark despair. The suicidal tendency of the people was alarming. Christianity was counteracting all this and today those who followed that religion could unmistakably be picked out by their bright and happy faces.

He impressed his hearers with the fact that the task was by no means yet done. Out of the rapidly increasing population, the number of heathens in Japan was never greater than it is today. The missions were the real work of the Christian Church whose duty it is to establish the Kingdom in every land.

The speaker had spent last Easter week in the Holy Land, where he had been deeply impressed by the most spectacular and dramatic religious ceremony he had ever witnessed. This was the Fire Ceremony, the holy fire-torch which emerged from the sepulchre was carried throughout the width and breadth of the land to light candles afterwards treasured by the natives. It was a figurative example of what the Church of Christ had to do.

Dr. McConnell, the next speaker mentioned his former association with the Charlottetown Methodist Church and went on to give a graphic description of what the Methodist Church is doing among the mission fields. He made a stirring appeal for whole-hearted support and pictured the still better good that could be done among the heathen nations.

Rev. R. G. Fulton was the last speaker and he stated his intention of not talking at any length. He mentioned that it was in the fullness of His experience that Jesus had delivered the command to His disciples that they go out into all the world and preach the Gospel. That command was to be taken literally and those who were unable to carry it out themselves should send representatives. It had to be fully realized that this could not be done without a spirit of sacrifice.

He concluded by voicing the appreciation of the visitors for the splendid entertainment and hospitality they had enjoyed during their short stay on the Island.

We shall see him, by and by,

Though the good Lord took him from us,

Yet we know his rays are just

It will all be plain hereafter

In his wisdom we can trust.

INTERNATIONAL FOX AND FUR SHOW MAY BE HELD HERE

Inauguration of Proposed Exhibition Should Prove Big Boon To Island. Idea Has Wonderful Possibilities.

A great deal of discussion, particularly with reference to the proposed International Silver Fox and Fur Show which is hoped will be held in this city during the winter of 1925, has followed the recent ninth annual meeting of the P. E. I. Silver Black Fox Breeders Association. While the matter more intimately affects the interests of fox men, there is no doubt but that the holding of such an exhibition would prove a great boon to the Island as a whole and provide a winter attraction which would stimulate general business conditions and be a distinct Provincial benefit.

The advantages to be gained by the establishment of the exhibition as a yearly institution were, in a recent interview, pointed out to the Guardian by a prominent provincial fox man. He tabulated the general benefits to be ultimately derived by the province and also the definite and specific benefits the event would secure for Island fox breeders.

In speaking of advantages in general he mentioned that the show would attract buyers and others interested from all over the world, and would be a wonderful boost for the province during one of its slackest periods.

Financially speaking there were inestimable possibilities. Although handicapped by distant markets, the fox industry has created for this province an annual revenue of $3,000,000. With the home market provided by the auction of furs, etc., which would naturally follow the exhibitions, fairer prices would be received and the yearly revenue could be expected to take an instant upward bound.

Referring to the benefits to be derived by those engaged in the industry, he stated that these were too many to enumerate. Among the outstanding ones would be the avoidance of the heavy risk attached to shipping domesticated foxes to distant points. The peculiarly sensitive temperament of these animals is well known and the great care that must be taken in transporting them is always a heavy item on the exhibitor's expense account. Notwithstanding this drawback, previous exhibitions, held at Toronto, have been fairly successful, even though they did not enjoy the attendance of anything near the full quota of the Island's best foxes, the best blood of the 20,000 animals that represent 75 per cent of all the foxes in Canadian ranches.

This is the principal reason why the show should be held here in Prince Edward Island, the cradle of the industry and the native heath of the Silver Black. Outside exhibitions may be continued, but to prevent an inevitable deterioration of their stock, foreign ranchers must turn to Prince Edward Island foxes for their new blood. Hitherto the Island ranchers have been going to these men, bearing themselves the incidental expenses and suffering from limited marketing opportunities. The proposed show would do away with all this, buyers would flock here from every quarter of the globe; an enlarged and fairer market would result; the animals placed on show would have the combined backing

Gleanings Here

And There

Rev. Allan MacNeil of Ridgefield Park, New Jersey left on Monday the twenty-fifth for his home in the United States. For more than two weeks he has been visiting his mother Mrs. Emily MacNeil of Tryon, who though in her eighty-eighth year is well and quite active. Up to a year ago she managed without any help to look after her comfortable home and farm. The past winter she spent with her family in the United States and will probably spend the coming winter there also. Her son is pastor of a large Union Church in New Jersey, only twelve miles from New York City. His many friends are pleased to welcome him to the land of his birth. On August seventeenth he preached very acceptably in North Tryon Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Alexander Morrison, a very highly respected resident of Tryon recently suffered a light paralytic shock which has affected his side and speech a little. It is hoped he may soon recover from his illness.

Mr. Norman Best, seventeen year old son of Mr. Thomas Best of Crapaud was buried on the twenty first in Crapaud Cemetery. Rev. Mr. Somers officiating at the house and grave. Much sympathy is being shown toward Mr. Best and family, as Mrs. Best died about a year ago with cancer. Norman, who was a bright boy, was only ill about forty-eight hours, being a victim of spinal meningitis, a most dreaded disease. This sickness and infantile paralysis of which there are some cases throughout the Province are causing much uneasiness in the minds of parents and others. It is reported that Heber, seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Younker of Kingston, has been laid up with this disease.

Mrs. Granger MacPhail of Argyle Shore is seriously sick at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. John MacLean of Long Creek. Mrs. MacPhail has been visiting friends and relatives in the hope of recovering her health, but it is not improving as her many friends would wish. Dr. Murchison of Bonshaw is attending her.

Mr. Angus Darragh of New Haven for the past fortnight has been confined to his home and bed through illness. His son, who has been residing in Windsor, Ontario, arrived home last week to visit his father.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bears of Charlottetown were visitors to Bonshaw on the twenty fourth, being guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geddie MacLeod.

Fine, growing weather with refreshing showers of rain has caused a great improvement in the crops during the past fortnight. The grain is filling out better and recent rains will help the straw, which in some places, especially on Star where it was quoted as saying light soil, will be shorter than last year.

Harvesting will be general by the end of August and with reasonably satisfactory weather there will be good average crops of wheat, barley and oats. The prospects for good crops of potatoes, turnips, etc., were never any brighter and farmers on P. E. I. have great reasons for being optimistic. No great losses from rust, hail or crop failures are usually experienced in the Garden of the Gulf.

After one year's residence in the land of Uncle Sam, Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn Gamble have returned to P. E. I. and are resuming farming at Gamble's Corner.

Should not citizens of this Province under the leadership of the government welcome back her sons and daughters to the many vacant homes and farms so numerous in recent years? In going through sections of this Island more especially in the Eastern parts one can see many homes once with inhabitants now vacant and the doors and windows boarded up. On inquiring the cause of such vacant places one receives various answers. In some cases parents had been living on the farms and their children working away in the United States. In course of time the parents have died and the children so far have failed to return. In some cases neighboring farmers have either bought or rented these vacant farms and do not need the extra residences or farm buildings. Would it not be a good policy to encourage the return of native born sons and daughters to their former homes? Our own sons who understand conditions here should be worth as much or even more than Hebrews or any other immigrants brought here at much expense.

Ford Gave Out No Interview, He Says

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 28.-Henry Ford, in a wireless despatch to his office here, tonight positively denied statements credits to him yesterday by the Montreal Star wherein he was quoted as saying that the Ku Klux Klan was misunderstood.

London Bridge To Be Tested

LONDON, Aug. 28.-The familiar rhyme, "London Bridge is falling down," loses its blithe meter when London's officials, who have received warnings that the ancient structure is bordering on the conditions described in Mother Goose. River workers report that one of the piers has dropped four inches under the stress of traffic thrown on the structure when the Water-bridge, another of London's famous structures, spanning the Thames became incapacitated for heavy vehicles.

Tests are shortly to be made to ascertain the repairs necessary to save London bridge, the original structure dating from 1176. The present bridge was rebuilt in 1831.
