COMPLETE RETURNS FROM BY-ELECTIONS

McCurdy's Majority Over Captain Dickson, United Farmer Candidate 1,505. Wigmore's Majority was 4,190. Great Demonstration for McCurdy in Truro.

(Special to The Guardian.) TRURO, Sept. 21.—After election returns are all in and it was definitely known Hon. F. B. McCurdy had been elected by a majority of 1,500, thousands of the people in the streets joined in the celebration. Mr. McCurdy addressed the crowd thanking the voters for their support.

A telegram from Premier Melchior was received by Mr. McCurdy in which the Premier congratulated him, expressed appreciation and thanked Mr. McCurdy for the support given the Government through the election of his colleague by the largest majority ever polled in a county.

Asked last night for a statement on the result of the election Mr. McCurdy replied: "I have been re-elected by a majority of 1505, I can say no more tonight." Capt. Dickson also interviewed and was more communicative—said his party fought a clean fight and that he was satisfied with the result as far as honest elections are concerned. He added that the United Farmers were not downhearted.

TRURO, Sept. 21.—Hon. F. B. McCurdy was returned by a majority approximately 1500 over the Farmers' Labor opponent, Capt. Hugh Dickson, in the bye-election held yesterday for the purpose of confirming the former's appointment as Minister of Public Works in the Meighen Government. Mr. McCurdy carried Truro town by upwards of two thousand of a majority and all but held his own in country districts which were expected to poll a heavy vote for the Farmer candidate.

St. Eleonor's Memorial Unveiled

In spite of the rain which fell at intervals during the ceremony, the unveiling of the St. Eleonor's memorial monument which took place Friday afternoon at two o'clock was a huge success; and a large gathering assembled to witness what was perhaps the greatest event which ever took place in the history of this district. The monument was draped with a large Union Jack; and a silk flag veiled the names of the fallen heroes. At the foot of the monument, on each side, was staged a gun and a cannon, and the foot of the monument was that beautiful symbol "Remember." Surrounding it were three banks of beautiful wreaths of flowers. The first bank was sent by the parents, relatives and friends of the fallen heroes. The second bank contributed by the people of St. Eleonor's, North St. Eleonor's and Linkletter, and the third bank by the school children of these three districts. In front of the monument was a wreath of alder berries in the form of an urn into which each pupil taking part in the exercise dropped a rose, and took their places in front of the monument before the ceremony began. Mr. Austin A. Seales, chairman, in his opening remarks explained the purpose of the gathering and the history of the monument, which was followed by the singing of O Canada by the school children, and prayer by the Rev. Mr. Hunt of St. Eleonor's. In the name of the G. W. V. A., Rev. A. K. Herman, Summerside and Capt. Stewart of Charlottetown made short speeches. Following an address by the Rev. Mr. Mitchell of Summerside the monument was unveiled by Messrs L. J. Gay and Collin Rogers, both war veterans of St. Eleonor's. Mr. Mitchell then read the names of the fallen heroes inscribed on the monument as follows:—James V. Bryenton, John W. Clark, E. Francis Goldthwait, C. Pope Howatt, Roy Ireland, Reginald C. Jeffrey, Archie M. C. M. Lefurgey, J. Franklin McCormac and another E. Thomas. Following the singing of the Maple Leaf Forever, stirring speeches were made by the following: Rev. J. J. MacDonald, and Rev. Mr. Harding. After a final prayer by the Rev. A. K. Herman, the ceremony was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

STILL INVESTIGATING WALL STREET MYSTERY

Death Wagon Was Seen Standing in Front of Assay Office for One and a Half Hours. Unimportant Testimony by Other Witnesses.

(Special to The Guardian.) NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The statements made by two men, one of whom claims to have seen the "death wagon," which carted the explosions, standing near the Assay Office on Thursday for one and a half hours before the explosion occurred and the other who claims to have seen three men running away from the scene just before the blast, furnished the most important developments in the several investigations that are being made of district. Other interesting developments of the day included the announcement by the District Attorney's office that Edwin P. Fischer, lawyer and former employee of the French High Commission, who sent postcard warnings of the disaster from Toronto had virtually eliminated himself from any direct knowledge of complicity in the affair by questioning. Receipts of warnings by Wm. H. Edwards, Collector of International revenue, that an attempt would be made to destroy the Customs House at two p. m. tomorrow are regarded by the police as a hoax. Joseph Mead, an agent for the Society of Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, is the man who claims to have seen the "death wagon" on Wall St. at 10.30 Thursday morning. He said that he had been sent to Manhattan from the Brooklyn Court to serve a summons and while walking up Broad Street, he noticed an old red delivery wagon in front of the Assay Office around the corner. He did not examine it closely as to contents of wagon but he described it as an ordinary dilapidated express wagon. The police attach considerable importance to Mead's statements and are using the material furnished in their investigation into the mystery of the wagon and its driver.

Tells Of Great Nile Irrigation

(Special to The Guardian.) TORONTO, Sept. 20.—Back to the American Continent after seven months work in connection with the Egyptian Nile River big irrigation project. H. T. Cory, consulting Engineer of the United States Reclamation Service, told an interesting story of the modern usefulness for which the historic waterway is now being prepared. Mr. Cory was loaned to the Egyptian Government by the United States to work in association with F. St. John Gebes, head of the Irrigation Service of India and Dr. G. C. Simpson, head of the Meteorological Service of Great Britain to devise a system for diverting the waters of the river in the flood season and conserve it for further usefulness during the dry periods of the year. "The idea was to prepare a project which would completely utilize the Nile for irrigation purposes," said Mr. Cory. "At the present time Egypt and the Sudan are partially irrigated by the diversion of waters from the Nile but the new plan is to conserve the waters at the flood season and thus irrigate the dry lands which heretofore have been in a badly parched condition. Mr. Cory stated he had spent eight weeks near the source of the Nile in the vicinity of the Lake Albert region. "The project has now been approved by the Egyptian Government," said the American Engineer, "and will involve the spending of $50,000,000 before it is completed."
