Metropolitan Chain Stores Purchased

52 Units Affected In Canada—No Change In Management.

According to a New York despatch directors of F. and M. Grand-Silver Stores, Inc., have approved the purchase of the entire chain of Metropolitan Chain Stores in Canada, of which there are 52 located in various centres of the Dominion.

Nine of the stores operated by Metropolitan Chain Stores are situated in the Maritime Provinces, one of which is located on Queen Street, Charlottetown. Actual possession of the stores will be taken on or about September 29, according to the despatch and will bring the number of Grand-Silver stores in the United States and Canada up to a total of 203, with a sales volume estimated in excess of $40,000,000 per year.

The change would not be said affect the management in any of the stores, the present general managers and the present buyers would be retained neither would it affect the different staffs. There will be no change in the name, metropolitan stores.

President Harold F. Stone, of the parent co., who is in a strong financial position intimated that the new owners would start a maritime expansion about the first of the year, with the possibility of locating new stores at Moncton and other points in the Maritimes not served at the present time by the Metropolitan stores.

It is interesting to note that Mr F. W. Grand's father commenced business twenty years ago with only one store and his son, now chairman of the Board of Directors operates over 200 stores in Canada and the United States.

PASSED AWAY LAST NIGHT.—The death occurred in the city last night of Mr. Clement Blanchard, a well known and highly esteemed resident of Charlottetown. The late Mr. Blanchard was in his 63rd year and up until a short while ago enjoyed vigorous health. However, all that medical skill, kind nursing and attention could do proved of no avail. The deceased was a valued employee with the firm of Davis and Fraser for the past thirty eight years where he was held in the greatest regard by his fellow workers and employees alike. He leaves to mourn besides a sorrowing wife, two sons and one daughter, namely Dr. James E. Frederick and Mrs. Matthew Lee, to whom the Guardian extends sincerest sympathy.

THE NEED OF LIVESTOCK

The unprecedented period of drought in the middle Western States of America, has resulted in the greatest shortage of grains and stock feeds experienced for the past thirty years. Many livestock breeders find themselves very short of feed and are reducing the number of animals they usually carry at sacrificing prices. Sheep have sold as low as $1.00 per head and other classes of livestock are correspondingly low; the result of this critical feed situation will soon be reflected in Canada where we have sufficient feeds to profitably maintain our average number of flocks and animals. Oats are at present lower in price than they have been since 1923, and other cereals and mill feeds are being quoted correspondingly low, and with pork ruling at from ten to eleven cents live weight there is sufficient spread to secure a fair profit by transforming such cheap feeds into pork. From four to five pounds of clean grain will make a pound of pork, therefore at present prices, it should be possible to command a fair price for our grain crop through the medium of livestock and obtain a large amount of fertility always sold with raw grains. The farmer who markets a grain crop must deduct the cost of fertility necessary to re-purchase what he has sold with the grain before he can determine the amount of profit obtained. Marketing of raw grain and hay is not considered good farming on Prince Edward Island soil. It is actually soil mining and it is regrettable too frequently to note farms that have been built up through following for many years a sound policy of livestock farming, fall into the hands of a farmer who crops it out cashing in on the wealth stored in the soil that should be maintained as an asset to the Province. If the man who makes two blades of grass grow where only one previously flourished, is a benefactor to the state, what can be said of the man whose destructive directorship causes one blade of grass only to grow where many blades formerly flourished?

THE SHADOW OF A NAME PETER VOLO TRIUMPHANT (By W. H. Goehner) Colt races are the barometer of the turf world. Each week during the racing season the winners of the two and three year old races at both of the light harness gallops show the families that are forging to the front and designate the strains that are getting the money. It was by this route that Peter Volo hopped into the blue almost over night like Jack on the beanstalk.

Back in the eighties of the last century when T. O. King started the futurity idea at Hartford here was a keen rivalry between the get of Electioneer and the descendants of George Wilkes. At that time a few from the Mambino line were also in sight, Patron being the most conspicuous. In 1892 when Belleflower won the futurity at Hartford her sire Electioneer was still at the head of Palo Alto. At that time his get held all of the world's records for trotters, Armanis, Palo Alto and Sunol having made their marks to high wheel sulks the preceding year over the kite track at Stockton.

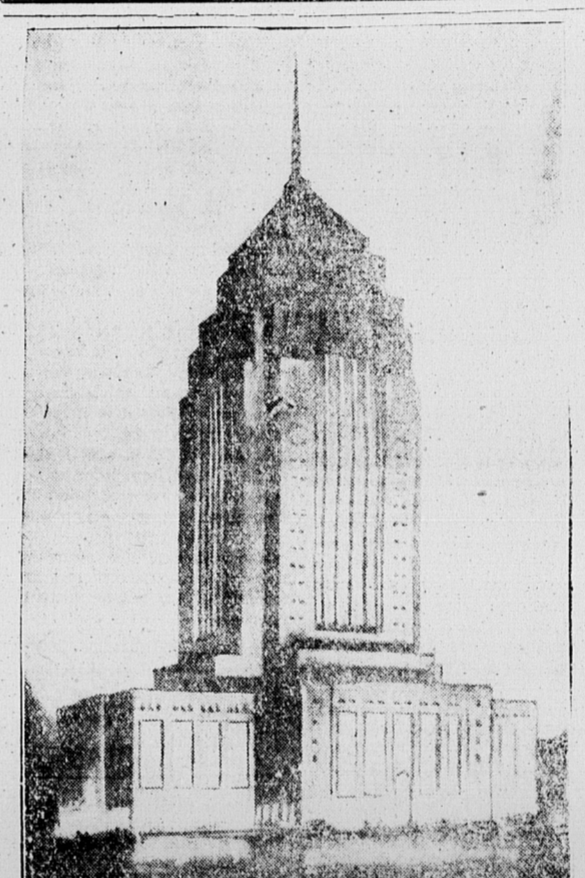

George Wilkes had been dead ten years. His sons were then among the leading sires, the rate of speed among their performers getting faster at each remove. Antell and Altman were the leaders among the Wilkes trotters. In 1893 Antell placed the three year old and were forty-three two and three year

THE SHADOW OF A NAME PETER VOLO TRIUMPHANT

When I am old and seared by sinful years, And time has traced its furrows on my brow; When these poor eyes, are dimmed with sorrow's tears, And age has robb'd the flower of youth ere now; When hoary hairs shall crown my drooping head And tottering footsteps lead me to the grave; When all the happy hours of youth are fled What is there left of life for me to crave? Perchance, in some quiet, lonely place I'll sit, To watch the splendor of departing day, Or dream—if feeble minds will dreams permit Of futile deeds that time cannot repay. I'll see the golden hours on fleeting wing Pass by, forgotten like a worthless name. The mournful winds my funeral dirge shall sing, While other dead enjoy immortal fame.

F. H. McArthur, Lorne Valley.

Winifred: "Did you reach the end of that new book you were reading?" Wilfred: "No; but I loaned it to a friend and that finished it." the province, with judicious use of concentrated feeds and fertilizers that have been proven profitable by a sex of every enterprising farmer in our most successful farmers.

station record at 2:12. In 1922 Alleton cut the station record at 2:09. In the nineties when the Kentucky Futurity which Ed. Tipton modelled after the Hartford Futurity became a fixture, the Wilkes family rushed in to the lead. The first five were won by Oro Wilkes, Beausetta, Oakland, Baron, Rose Crook, and Thorne, all of which belonged to that strain. In 1898 Peter the Great won. He traced to another Hambletonian line, his sire being a son of Happy Medium. Very few of those who saw him defeat Charley Herr and Limerick dreamed that they were looking at a colt that was destined to become a super sire as well as the founder of a family. Twenty-four of the thirty-seven Kentucky Futurities decided since 1893 were won by members of the Wilkes family, the last being coming through Guy Axworthy, sire of five winners, Arion Guy, Mr. McElroy, Alcen Guy, Guy McKinney and Isaac's Worthy. Four of the thirty-seven trace to Electioneer. His representatives were Beralma, Miss Adell, the Harvester, and Etawah. As the years rolled by Peter the Great moved up among the leaders. He was the first Kentucky Futurity winner to sire a winner. His representatives was Sadie Mac. She was followed by Grace, Peter Thompson, Peter Volo, Volga, and Ethelinda, while her son Peter Scott got Rose Scott, and the Laurel Hall, another son, contributed Walker Dear last year, making eight Kentucky Futurity winners tracing to Peter the Great, of which he sired six. Until 1925 there was a doubt as to which son of Peter the Great would take his place among the leading sires of colt stake winners. That year Peter Malby, Hollywood Susan and Tippiie Frisco directed attention to Peter Volo. Since that date he continued in the lime light until in 1930 the returns have been startling. Up to the middle of September he won at Syracuse in 207 four days after he faced Charlotte Hanover, another Peter Volo, out in 204. Corporal Lee also made a record of 2:10 at Cherry Park. Labor Day week he won at Indianapolis in 2:06 1/4. The three year old colt Cold Cash won six races in the three circuits without being forced to reduce the record of 2:05 1/4 which he made in a race over a half mile track as a two year old. Dermal and Charlotte Hanover each won two races in the three circuits. The filly's race in 2:04 1/4 at Springfield or the series which Dermal won in New York and Vermont at the fairs are not included. At Syracuse Charlotte Hanover trotted two consecutive heats in 2:04 world's record for a two year old.

CADET MATCH

The Cadet Match was fired on Thursday and Monday afternoon the 25th and 26th inst. There were present 59 cadets. Some very good scores were made. Conditions fairly good and the boys played the game well, with practice they will make good riders.

Old races for trotters and pacers decided. Of that number the Peter Volos won fifteen. In the three circuits colts by Peter Volo won forty-four races. The two year olds Protector and Corporal Lee, both of which were purchased unbroken out of the Walnut Hall consignment at the last New York sale, stand at the top. Each of them won eight races both of them won in the three circuits.
