SILVER FOXES

When You Buy Breeders from

The Silver Fox Ranching Co

You not only get the cream of the famous ORIGINAL P. E. ISLAND BLACK SILVER FOXES—the very strains that produced the world-record fur values—but you also receive with each animal purchased an ABSOLUTE TRUSTWORTHY PEDIGREE CERTIFICATE, under the Company's seal, for your protection and registration.

THE SILVER FOX RANCHING COMPANY was established in 1911, and at the very outset secured an aggregation of the choicest animals to be found in the ranches of the pioneers. With additions during the past year of several animals selected for their individual merit, the Company has a ranch unequalled in number and quality of parent stock. The matings are carefully made to prevent the deleterious effect upon the young of too close inbreeding, thus assuring strong, vigorous, richly furred offspring.

THOUSANDS WORK ON THE BUILDING OF PANAMA CANAL

An account of only one of the features of the Panama Canal will give some idea of the immensity of the work. Thirty-eight thousand men are employed, and each pay day, once a month and covering a space of three days, $1,500,000 is distributed to the workmen. The system of paying off is simple and orderly, and so devised that very little time is lost. The disbursing office is at Empire, and here Edward J. Williams, the chief disbursing officer of the Canal Commission, and his assistant, William M. Wood, together with a large corps of clerks and accountants, make out the pay roll for this army of workers.

Various systems of payment have been tried, but the one now in use seems to have worked out with the least friction. Every employe is given a brass check containing a number, which will identify him as long as he is in the employ of the Canal Commission. He is paid by the hour, and his foreman keeps his time. This is forwarded to the disbursing office and his pay certificate made out from this record. It is authenticated by the examining officer, and then returned to the foreman, who delivers it to the individual whose brass check number corresponds with the number on the certificate. The man is then told the hour and day the pay card will be in his vicinity, and he is expected to fall in line and receive his wages.

Pay day occurs on the 12th, 13th, and 14th of each month. During the early days of the work it was customary to issue checks on the United States to employes for such amounts as they required each month, as an accommodation in forwarding money to the United States. This, however, was abolished when it was discovered that some of the men were abusing the privilege by securing the checks for the purpose of selling them to the merchants and others to be used as a New York exchange, the checks being sent out of the country to be cashed. By the present system the "white men" are known as "gold employes" and are paid in American gold coin, and the negroes as "silver employes," being paid in Panama silver, equal to value in gold. For a time the white men were paid in United States paper, but it was found that the merchants and others shipped the bills out of the country as fast as they came in. The merchants were thus saved from paying bank exchange and the expense of furnishing this money fell upon the Canal Commission. This finally led to the payment of the "gold employes" in gold coin.—Leslie's Weekly.

THE BELTED PLAID.

The original dress of the highlander was the belted plaid. This was a piece of tartan cloth, two yards broad and four long, which was drawn around the waist in nicely adjusted folds and tightly buckled with a belt. The lower part came down as the knee in much the same manner as the modern kilt, while the upper part was drawn up and adjusted to the left shoulder, so that the right arm might be perfectly free. This upper part was the plaid, which was used as a covering for the shoulders and body in wet weather, and when the use of both arms was required it was fastened across the breast with a brooch, often curiously enriched. A brooch was also used to fasten the plaid on the left shoulder. To attire himself in the belted plaid required on the part of the highlander no small amount of dexterity. The usual way was to lay it on the floor and after carefully arranging the folds to lie down upon it and then buckle it on. The lower end was fastened at the right hip. The utility of such a dress in the highlands is obvious, for the plaid rendered the man indifferent to storms and prepared to pass a night in the open air in the most inclement weather, while the loose undergarment enabled him to wad rivers or ascend mountains with equal ease. It was thus particularly adapted to the warrior, the hunter and the shepherd.—London Mail.

Sales of Imperial Motors Increased 7000 p. c. in 4 Years

Sales of Imperial Marine Motors—just one branch of our business—have increased from 5 in 1908 to 350—or one a day—in 1912, a gain of 7000 p. c. during four years. During the present year the output was much larger and is expected to run over 500. Besides this our sales of stationary engines, boilers, saw mill and farm machinery, ship chandlery, etc. have been increasing all along, and our plumbing, steam and hot water heating departments have been worked to capacity.

What Increased Capital Means to the Business and our Shareholders

With the increased capitalization, made possible by the new issue of 350 shares of Reserved Treasury Stock, our business will be able to expand sufficiently to take care of the large amount of orders coming in daily.

With sufficient capitalization we will be able to save at least $4,000 a year on interest and discounts. This is sufficient to pay a 3 1/5 p. c. dividend on the entire increased capitalization.

You Save $21.30 on Every Share You Buy

The present value of stock is $121.30 a share under increased capitalization. Stock is selling fast, even more quickly than we anticipated, but to assure every share being taken up by the end of the month investors are offered stock at old par value, $100 a share. This offer will be withdrawn later, full premium being demanded on later sales.

The plant will be increased; the working force will be increased; our sales will be increased; we will be able to handle every order that comes to the shops—something we cannot do now—and assuredly pay a much larger dividend.

The Company has just completed an elaborate production of "EVANGELINE", Longfellow's famous classic. The production is in five parts, and was taken in THE LAND OF "EVANGELINE" at Grand Pre, and Annapolis Royal, where Evangeline spent her early days. SPECIAL ARTISTS WERE IMPORTED from New York for the leading roles. State rights have already been sold for "Evangeline" and, undoubtedly, it should be an EPOCH MAKING production.
