Speaking to The Guardian yesterday Mr. Stanfield stated that the change would be of much benefit.

By the new system in future Stanfield's Ltd, will manufacture underwear only, all grades and varieties, while in Amherst the Hewson Mills will manufacture a large variety of cloths for which they are famed, sweaters, sweater coats, knitted goods and specialties. Thus the two mills will confine their productions to lines which do not conflict.

It is also anticipated that a considerable saving will be effected in buying and selling and general handling of business. He pronounced the prospects to be unusually bright for Hewson's, the production being sold up for some
