The R.C.A.P. team from Summerside visited Borden recently and lost to the Nationals by the score of 8 to 2. From all reports the game was the roughest experienced by the team since the Nationals must be fairly strong judging by this score, and we'd certainly like to see them in action in the Crystal Rink at least once before the play-downs begin.

We don't get much news from the hockey centres of Borden, Bedeque, Kensington, O'Leary, Alberton or Tignish. If those centres would be so good as to forward us any hockey dope they happen to have we'd be glad to give it due prominence in this column. Far too large a proportion of our "Echoes" are from Summerside, and we'd be glad to consider this with co-operation from the centres mentioned above. Just in case you decide to drop us a line, the address is Box 680, Summerside.

The sympathy of their many friends in Bedeque is extended to the relatives of the late Mr. Henry Noonan prominent lawyer of Summerside. Mr. Noonan was well known here, where he spent his boyhood days.

Sport Echoes from Prince County The minor teams of Summerside have been taking it on the chin from the Charlottetown rivals with disconcerting regularity of late, but we westerners still have hopes that the boys will snap out of it before play-off time. The juveniles have split even in their games so far this season, winning five and losing five. They won two and lost two in competition with both the Charlottetown Abies and the Kensington Juveniles. They beat Prince of Wales and lost to the Charlottetown Kinsmen. The Midgets have won one and lost three. Our bantams have swept both their games, but haven't tangled with Charlottetown yet. Their two victories were over Kensington.

Is there a rule that juvenile hockey players cannot check in centre ice or did we just dream that one up? Seems to us there used to be such a rule but maybe it has been rescinded. We think it is too bad it has been, because it seems sensible to break in the younger players like you break in a colt for work—gradually. A youngster that hasn't come to his full strength can so easily be burnt out before he ever reaches the senior group if he is involved in too much rough play.

The game between Charlottetown Abies and our Kinsmen Juveniles was particularly rugged with more than the usual amount of hard bumping in the neutral zone.

Our midgets have been having a lot of trouble finding a youngster who can turn aside enough of the black missiles that come slipping goalwards to keep the team out in front of him in the old ball game. Trying to win a hockey match with a bad leak in front of the net is like carrying water from a well in a basket, mighty discouraging business. We can't help wondering, (we're nosey as all git out) if in the business of coaching the other players how to perform their chores, the coaches do not sometimes forget to have the net guardian supplied with a few tips on the art of keeping the red light at his rear from blinking. Old, experienced goal-tenders should be able to help the kids out no end by advising them how to play the angles, etc.

We simply have to take time out here to click out a staccato refrain of triumph for the Olympic victory of Canada's sports ambassador, Barbara Ann Scott. Never have the achievements of a Canadian athlete caused so much rejoicing as is the case with the queen of the ice lanes who is also queen in the hearts of all Canadian sport lovers. Summerside and Prince County add their huzzas to the general acclaim.

A bouquet for young Claud Rogers, goalie of the Summerside Kinsmen Juveniles! That his team was beaten 6 to 3 Friday night was no fault of his. And his masterful display of puck-stopping at the beginning of the second period when the home boys were playing four men against six won him a lot of local admirers.
