EARTHQUAKE IN A GERMAN TOWN

Lasts Several Minutes and Proves Alarming to Many Thousand People.

PLAUEN, Germany, Nov. 6—(Special)—The most violent earthquake ever experienced here terrified the inhabitants this morning. Houses were shaken and people fell panic-stricken into the streets. They are becoming less frequent but more violent. The temperature of the medical springs in the vicinity has increased fifteen degrees.

HELD A DEER TILL DROWNED

OTTAWA, Nov. 5.—Bear stories, of which there have been some prize-winning samples told lately, are now giving way among the hunting men to deer stories. And the most unique deer story and the strangest experience that has befallen any of the local nimrods in these waters happened recently to Alf LePage, and he has the goods to show. Running down a swimming, fugitive deer in a gasoline launch is a strange enough stunt. But it is stranger still, when, with no weapon to despatch the animal, the resourceful hunter seizes the animal by the horns and holds its head under water until it drowns. This was the weird experience which Mr. LePage met with recently. And the strangest part of it all is that this unusual hunting stunt took place up the Inlet, just off Roche Point, all within sight and sound of the electric lights, trams and railways of civilization.

DEATH OF WELL KNOWN HYMN WRITER

GALESBURG, Ill., Nov. 5—Mrs. Julia A. Fletcher Carney, who wrote "Little Things" and "Dear Gently With the Breeze," died here Monday. She was 85 years old. Mrs. Carney wrote "Little Things," better known on account of the first line, as "Little drops of water, first line, as "Little drops of water," when she was a primary school teacher in Boston in 1845. The first verses were written as an exercise in shorthand. It was suggested that the shorter the words the better the results, both in speed and accuracy, so Mrs. Carney sat down at a school desk and penned in steno-graphic characters: "Little drops of water, Little grains of sand, Make the mighty ocean, And the pleasant land." A Sunday school paper called upon her that same afternoon for some verse. She added three stanzas to the shorthand exercise, and the four have been a humble classic ever since.

THE HISTORICAL STORY OF DAMON AND PYTHIAS

For tonight only the presentation of the story of Damon and Pythias will be given at New Wonderland. This is one of the grandest feature subjects ever put on canvas and takes two whole reels in presenting. No detail of one of the sublimest and inspiring friendships the world has ever known is omitted, and the picturesque costuming the grand grouping, and magnificent detail, independent of the thrilling interest in the theme itself, make these reels out of the ordinary. Come tonight and see them for the opportunity does not offer again.

SERIOUS STORM ON MAINE COAST

Wind and Wave Do Great Damage And Several Schooners Totally Lost With Their Crews—Other Casualties Recorded.

BOSTON, Nov. 6—(Special)—The wind storm along the American coast has been very severe and caused great damage to shipping. Schooner Ida May, Capt. Gale is a total wreck near Jonesport. The life savers find no tidings of schooner's crew. It is possible that the men were rescued by some vessel. The crew consisted of captain Gale, St. John, Geo. Straight, and Leon Branscombe, Queens County, N. B., Samuel Redmon, Maitland and Carman Milner, Annapolis. The schooner was bound from New York to St. John with coal. It is supposed she was running to harbor at Machias when the mishap occurred. The Ida May was 120 tons register, built at Waterborough and owned by the captain and others. A despatch from Captain Belyea of the schooner R. D. Spear states his vessel was lost and crew saved. No particulars are given as to how and where the accident occurred. The Spear was bound from Philadelphia for Calais, coal laden and sailed from Delaware, October 27. She likely was wrecked on the Maine coast.

PENNY POSTAGE WITH UNCLE SAM

LONDON, November 5—Whitlaw Reid, the American ambassador, was the guest of honor at the Atlantic union dinner, given last evening to celebrate the establishment of penny postage between America and Great Britain. Speaking of the election of Mr. Taft the ambassador said: "The character and antecedents of the president-elect give the highest guarantee that the most powerful and most popular president since Lincoln is to have a judicious and able successor, trained to the business and quite competent to continue the great record made by recent administrations. Mr. Taft was brought up in an atmosphere of honorable public service and no American doubts that his experience fits him for his new post. The incoming administration will pursue the same foreign policy with which you are familiar. It will try to maintain fair dealing and friendship with all nations, particularly the friendship for the mother country." After speaking of those who brought about penny postage, Mr. Reid said that everybody would wish success for J. H. Heaton in his crusade for a penny a word cable rate. Lord Monkswell, Sydney C. The parties, therefore, stand seventeen to twelve. There are still five constituencies to be heard from returning seven members. These are Fortune Bay, Burgeo, Bonavista, St. Barbe and Bay St. George. Three members sit for Bonavista, the four other districts having one each.

SHORTAGE IN COAL.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 5—Still the cry of coal shortage comes from the western towns with an appeal for cars which it is impossible to supply. The coal stocks at Fort William and Port Arthur are ample for all requirements and it is the western towns that are short it is claimed that they are alone to be blamed as they were repeatedly warned to stock up before the fall rush began. Now the loading facilities at Port William are entirely inadequate to meet the demands and wholesale dealers are over four hundred cars short to fill their orders. As a result it may be weeks before some of the outside deliveries will be able to have their orders filled under present conditions. If there is any suffering, which is improbable, the people will have only their local dealers to blame so railway claim. Anthracite prices are unchanged at $10. per ton, figures which have prevailed for several years past.

PREFERENCE FRAUDS IN BRITAIN

LONDON, November 5—The long standing scandal of preference frauds is being brought before parliament by Mitchell Thomson Fountain. The principal of the commercial department of the government, board of trade recently declared in the evidence before the departmental committee, that certain foreign goods were very largely repacked here and declared as British on export, thus fraudulently securing a preference on entering the colonies. The British official attitude presumably is that the fraud is on the Canadian and not on the British exchequer and with this Canada must deal. There is little doubt, however, that strong Canadian representations to Mr. Churchill will lead to the enforcement of the existing law against wrong export declarations.

HOCKEY SALARIES TO BE LARGE.

HALIFAX, Nov. 5—Hockey salaries for the coming season are already spoken of, and the chances are that the players will receive even more than last season. A rumor that Arthur Ross had signed with Montreal for $2500 has been denied. Ross is wanted by Ottawa, and a determined effort will be made to retain him in the capital. An authority, from the managerial standpoint, in speaking of salaries to players, says a star should not get more than $800. The average man was worth much less. The season is only of ten weeks duration. He further claims that there will be a sudden drop in the fancy salaries paid to the stars, as the game cannot stand it.

Say, I'll bet you Taft carries your state." "All right," said Burns. "Well, how much money have you got?" "How much can you scare up?" asked the merchant. "I'll just take all you got."
