CHARLOTTETOWN AND QUEEN'S COUNTY

It pays to buy in this province.

Roland Kaye, city, returned Saturday afternoon from Summerside.

J. W. McIntyre, city, returned on Saturday afternoon from the west.

Mrs. R. G. Acorn, city, has arrived home after a month's visit to her parents at Amherst. She was accompanied home by her husband.

Jack Saunders, City, a member of the crew of the dredge Montague, which has been operating in Souris up to a recent date, has returned to his home.

The following mission room receipts are acknowledged in The Wesleyan—Granville $30, Alberton $42.50, Tryon $13, Cornwall $70, Alberton $32.50, Bideford $40, Murray Harbor $32.

George H. Murdock, Edmonton, who has been visiting in th s city for the past two weeks, leaves this morning en route to Boston and New Jersey where he will pay brief visits with relatives before returning to his home.

Last evening in the Anglican Church at Rustico Rev. Wm. Trivett, son of Rev. Mr. Trivett, rector of Milton parish, preached most acceptably to a large congregation. Mr. Trivett was listened to with interest in St. Peter's Cathedral in this city on Sunday evening when he delivered a specially helpful discourse.

Shipping in the port of Charlottetown for the season of 1912 is now over with the exception of the winter steamers and it has been remarked that the past year has been one of the busiest seasons for a number of years. A great deal of produce was exported via Charlottetown this year and it will be remembered that it required extra trips by some of the steamers in the trade to relieve the congestion at the conclusion of the season. There was not any remarkable change in the quantity of imports but almost every inward steamer had good general cargoes.

The Victorias and Abegweits of this city each had a hockey turnout at the Arena Rink Saturday night. The Victorias had practically the same men on the ice as they had last year, though a number of the familiar faces were absent. The Abegweit ranks were somewhat changed and new men appearing for practice lent additional interest to their practice. Both teams had good workouts and there appears to be an abundance of good material for the coming season. The Crystals of Summerside got in their initial practice one night before the two Charlottetown teams and it has been stated that they have a large number of stickhandlers who will prove eligible for a place on their senior team.

A Cambridge correspondent writes: A Christmas tree entertainment was held in Cambridge Hall on the 26th inst. The hall was literally packed and beautifully decorated. Both young and old were present and all enjoyed a pleasant evening. The Superintendent of the school was called on to act as chairman, which he did in an efficient and pleasing manner. After a well equipped and interesting program had been delivered by the school, an interesting address was put forth by the Rev. A. Grey on behalf of the program and school and its advancement. Then the audience was interrupted by the coming of Santa Claus, who was heartily welcomed by all. He distributed the presents from the tree, which was highly decorated with gifts for the many attendants. The order of the vast company was excellent. The program closed with a chorus by the choir.

The Hotel Dufferin, St. John, issued for their Christmas dinner menu, a souvenir that surpasses in beauty anything yet received by The Guardian. The Christmas spirit prevades the entire souvenir which is in book form, the cover being a handsome shade of dull green suede with the season's greetings and the Hotel's crest embossed in gold thereon, the cover being attached by a green silk cord. Each page has a scene or decoration surrounding the different courses bearing on the festive season, while the first and last pages have a message of friendship and good will to the stranger. The artistic work is another evidence of the capabilities of the genial manager, John H. Bond, who is well known to the travelling public of this Province. The menu, itself, was a gem of culinary art, and from fish to dessert, contained every delicacy skill could devise or money purchase to make the Christmas dinner one long to be remembered.

Rev. J. W. McConnell, Sydney, formerly of this city gave a lecture on The Beauty Spots of Europe, recently.

Rev. Richard and Mrs. Opie, Oak Bay, N. B., formerly of this Province, recently celebrated the 30th anniversary of their marriage.

In most of the City Churches on Sunday the Christmas music was repeated, while the pastors in practically every church delivered eloquent discourses touching on the old and the New Year.

Service was held in the Baptist Church at Marshfield on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, Rev. Z. L. Fash of this city officiating. The service was a helpful one and the singing of Miss Crosby was much enjoyed.

There has been a re-organization of the staff of the Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Company which now controls the telephone service of Nova Scotia and practically controls also the P. E. Island service, being largely interested in the company operating the Island 'phone service. So that now the Maritime Company may be said to operate about 16,000 'phones including 1100 on P. E. Island. During the past year the shareholders in the Eastern Telephone Co., the Valley Telephone Comp any, the Antigonish and Sherbrooke Telephone Company at special meetings decided to dispose of their entire plants to the Maritime, and only last week the latter concern purchased at sheriff's sale the Queen's County Telephone Company. So that now it has control of the situation in Nova Scotia and P. E. Island. The management is planning to give the public an improved service and the best value possible all along the line, and a number of improvements are contemplated. It is announced that the first change will go into effect Jan. 1st, and will thus be the Maritime Company's New Year present to patrons, being a reduction of $2 each for extension telephones. Thus a business man having a telephone on his premises for business purposes and an extension telephone at his own desk will pay $2 less for the service than he is doing this year and has in the past. Changes in comtemplation all have in view further popularizing the service.—Exc.

[illegible]T IS TOLD

[illegible] as we stand in our lot at the [illegible] of the day. [illegible]nd what then? The years haste a[illegible] but the record of the years [illegible]mehow still remain. Their thoughts, [illegible]eir actions, even their purposes [illegible]nd unrealized hopes, will not pass [illegible]orgotten as a dream. They will a[illegible]bide somewhere, somehow.

The man that lives his life so that the memory of it will show at least earnest and holy and unselfish purpose; the man who, in trust of the love and kindness of his God, is not afraid to face the record of the service and life of the years, need not worry over-much at the quickness of their flight.

The years are hurrying past, but they are nevertheless laying up their great and enduring store of character and achievement that deed and thought have gathered. "As a tale that is told" does not by any means tell all the story.
