FOR EVENING WEAR.

Gauze Frock With Chantilly Lace. A Striking Princess Gown.

A gauze frock seen recently was in an ivory shade incrustated with large motifs of chantilly lace. The perline of this was composed of finely plaited mousseline and chantilly lace finished by a sky blue waistband. The hat which accompanied this was of white crinoline trimmed with blue ostrich feathers.

A striking evening gown seen recently was cut princess, with a triple skirt of black tulle and an overdress arranged in long points of jet paillettes softened by a berth of black mousseline de sole incrustated with sequined flowers. The loose hanging sleeves were of black tulle studded with paillettes and bordered with black chantilly lace.

White and green and white and rose are combinations much in evidence among the new frocks. A smart chiffon frock cut somewhat princess was trimmed with rose and pink embroidery down one side of the bodice and all around the hem. It had a shaded sash of green and pink taffeta trimmed with alencon lace, this same lace forming a fichu and tiny chemisette.

A good many hats made of lace and tulle are worn with these light dresses. For traveling and country hats the neat forehead shape has been revived, while a four cornered hat is offered instead of the old three cornered model.

MILLINERY STYLES.

Hats With Higher Crowns—Wings and Bird Trimmings.

Later on hats will assume more height in crown. The early autumn headgear shows a return to Tyrolean shapes. Some of the simple ones are trimmed only with fantastic rosettes in moire, with quaint buckles.

Birds and wings will play an important part in autumn headgear. There is a new bolero which is a kind of early Victorian sack coat with a pompadour sleeve. The prettiest model is in very fine cloth trimmed with moire rosettes and undersleeves made entirely of lace applique.

If a woman is to wear skirts which clear the ground she must be careful in the selection of her shoes, as only the smartest should be worn with such a costume.

Linen and alpaca coats are very nice as a protection from the dust, but a fawn or blue cloth coat lined with plaid is useful for cooler days and is always smart.

The black, wide taffeta bows tilted back on the coiffure are most attractive. Last year they were worn at the back of our hats, but now they are worn at a headress, and very charming they are. Of course they do not suit all styles, but a few women look delightful in them. How long the future for taffeta has lasted!

The cut shows a hat of rough cere straw trimmed with brown tulle and eye brown birds. JUDIC CHOLLET.

SETTLED BY COMPROMISE.

CHICAGO, November 4.—The threatened federal strike of the stockyard employees was averted yesterday by the representatives of the packers agreeing to an increase of 10 per cent, in wages of the cannery men who want to strike several days ago.

SIMPLEST FOOD BROUGHT PAIN

Till Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Cured Marie A. Bujold's Dyspepsia—She has had no Return of the Trouble Since.

"For two years my life was a burden. I could not take the simplest food without having a pain across my stomach. I consulted doctors, but they did me no good. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cured me, and I have had no return of the trouble since."

This is the statement of Marie Aun Bujold, of Maria Cap, Bonaventure Co., Quebec. It is a message of hope and warning to the Dyspepsia burdened people of today. No disease is so common as Indigestion, and it is this very fact that makes it dangerous. It is so common that many people accept it as part of their daily work. They do not stop to think that it is warning out their bodies, breeding Appendicitis and other immediately dangerous complaints, as well as making them easy victims for any infectious or contagious diseases that may be floating in the air or water.

It is easily cured by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. But remember reading of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will not cure it; taking Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will.

DREDGE BOILER EXPLODED.

MONTREAL, November 4.—The boiler of the government dredge J. I. Tarte, at work in Lake St. Peter, exploded last evening, instantly killing the engineer, J. Paul, of Sorel, and injuring two other men. The explosion was caused by low water in the boiler.

"77" Prevents and Cures COLDS

"It's easier to stay well than to get well."

Most all diseases in this latitude are caused or aggravated by taking Cold. The immediate use of "77" at the first chill or shiver prevents a Cold. The continued use of "77" breaks up a Cold that "hangs on."

Amusing Story of Late Phil May.

An amusing story is told of the late Phil May, the famous English cartoonist, and a conjurer at the fair at Stratford-on-Avon. Phil was in the crowd which had gathered to watch the very clever gentleman who was wrapping up sovereigns and half crowns in pieces of paper and selling them for 2 shillings. The "sharp" had a beautiful face—such a face as Phil May loved to draw. So he sketched him furtively. But the gentleman saw him, and made a speech forthwith: "If that there celebrated portrait painter with the tight breeches on will 'and up the picture, the equally celebrated benefactor to 'oomanity wot is givin' away quids for coppers will reward him accordingly!" he shouted.

Phil, with a twinkle in his eye, handed up the drawing. The conjurer was delighted with the sketch, and pinned it to the tailboard of his cart. With another preliminary speech he threw three sovereigns and several half crowns into a piece of paper, screwed it up and handed it to the artist. "You'll be president of the bloomin' Ryal Academy some day, young man," said he "Here, catch!"

"A bargain's a bargain," said Phil, walking off with the packet of gold and silver.

He confessed afterward, when he opened the packet and found two pennies and a halfpenny in it, that it was the most entertaining commission he had ever been paid for.
