LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK CROSS, FEVERISH

When constipated or bilious give "California Syrup of Figs."
 Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.
 When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.
 You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative"; they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.
 Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

BRIEF FILED AGAINST HORN.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The government brief in the case of Werner Horn, who appealed from the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals affirming a decision by the United States District Court for Massachusetts denying a writ of habeas corpus, was filed in the Supreme Court today. Horn is charged with violating the United States law against shipping explosives on railroad trains, an act he is alleged to have committed in order to blow up the International bridge of the Canadian Pacific Railroad at Vanceboro, Me., in Feb. 1915.
 The government holds that the appeal is frivolous, as the Supreme Court has no jurisdiction in appeals from the Circuit Court in habeas corpus proceedings. Horn claimed immunity from prosecution because he was a reservist officer in the German Landwehr and contended that in blowing up the bridge he was committing an act of war. This the government regards as an idle effort at defense, inasmuch as there is nothing in international law affording such protection on neutral soil.

WOUNDED ISLANDER RECOVERING IN HOSPITAL

This letter is the outcome of a meeting between two soldier brothers Pte. H. A. McLean, now wounded and Gunner M. C. McLean, who met in London, England, after a separation of eight years. They are sons of Mr. Wm. L. McLean, Peters Road, P. E. I.
 King George and Queen Mary's Club for the Overseas Forces, London, Dec. 23rd, 1916.
 Dear Father and Mother:
 I have just had supper and am feeling more like sitting down a while, than walking around, so I will write you a few lines. I came up to London three days ago, and as usual I am parading around seeing all I can. The weather here is so damp and foggy that it makes it uncomfortable when out of doors but we are used to it now. Yesterday I went up to the hospital on Endell St. where Harry is, and although it was not a visiting day, I got in, and found him alright, but didn't know him at first, and he didn't know me. He has a fierce moustache—beats mine all hollow in color and variety. Outside of that he looks great—rather thin yet, and showing the effects of what he has gone through. The only thing that looks the same about Harvie is his hair, and I would know that if I hadn't seen him for twenty years.
 He is fast on the mend now. The wounds on his right arm and hip are entirely cured. He showed me those, but his knee and ankle are still bandaged up.
 I spent two hours with him yesterday, and two more this afternoon.
 Today he was up in his chair wheeling himself around, when I came in.
 The nurses are decorating the hospital for Christmas, and all the soldiers who are able, were helping them.
 Harvie is not able to walk yet, as his knee does not bend. After the wound gets better, they will bend it gradually by electric massages.
 He told me that when he came here to the hospital, as his leg was pretty badly mangled up, the doctors were talking about amputating it. He told one of the doctors not to do so by a—sight, as long as there was anything left of it.
 I must close now for this time. I will be able to see Harvie a couple of times yet before I go back.
 Your loving son,

 P.S. I saw Lockwood Grey yesterday. He is well and looking fine. Leslie Macdonald is in London somewhere, but I can't find his as yet.

THE TURKS MUST LEAVE EUROPE

NEW YORK, January 11.—Turkey in Europe must go. The entente powers are confronted by weighty problems in the near east which must be settled once and for all, before there can be any talk of a lasting peace between the warring nations. For the past quarter of a century these problems have been steadily growing, and they now occupy the chief concern of British statesmen. The fate of the thousands of Armenians who have been wilfully slaughtered by the Turks, under the direction of their Austro-German allies, is just as vital to Britain as the fate of Belgium.

 It would be the basest treachery to the lives which already have been sacrificed if the aims of the Allies were not realized.
 It was for this reason that President Wilson's peace note was not welcomed in England, desirous as we are of a peace which shall secure the objects for which we have waged war, for which, as Mr. Lloyd-George recently remarked, hundreds of thousands of our young men who never dreamed that they would have to be soldiers, have given their lives.
 The note was not welcomed because it did not take these objects into account, and indeed because it reflected a misconception as to the nature of the war which was nevertheless recognized as natural in a distant country.

 The misconception is no doubt our own fault. Perhaps we should have taken more vigorous steps to set our case more fully before America.
 I believe that England would be ready to make peace tomorrow if the central powers would grant the allies their demands for other peoples and not for the allies themselves. The allies are seeking nothing for themselves, but merely to restore the invaded territory and fugitive governments of the weaker powers to their original possessors, enabling them to continue their national life without fear of "mailed fist" lurking in its shadow.

A Wonderful Remedy For Coughs and Colds

The reason chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis yield to Vinol is because it is a constitutional remedy. Unlike cough syrups, Vinol removes the cause. This is due to the wonderful combination of the oldest and most famous reconstructive tonics.—Beef and Cod Liver Peptones, Iron and Manganese Peptones, Glycerophosphates, etc., with a mild tonic wine. This is a splendid remedy for coughs and colds.

Do Us a Favor

Come in and see "Heart Songs." Go over a few of the pages. Look for your favorite piece. It is there. Compare "Heart Songs" with any other song book you have ever seen. We know the result; you will not go away without a copy of the

Charlottetown Daily Guardian's Beautiful Big Song Book

"Heart Songs" is not a mere collection of words and music thrown together to make a song book, 20,000 people voted the songs in "Heart Songs" the songs of the American people. Four years we required to reach a verdict and the result is "Heart Songs," the song book of the American people.
 Many of these songs cannot be found in any other collection. They came in yellow, time-worn, tear-stained sheets—that had been sacredly treasured from childhood—some were written out from memory—others were given by titles only— or remembered verses involving a long search to obtain the whole. Of the thousands received it is safe to say that the several hundred finally selected—as having the largest number of votes and the highest endorsement—represent today the taste of the American people in its choice of music. We believe that the distribution of this unrivalled song collection will bring more happiness into the homes of our Readers; will do more to make the home attractive to young and old; do more to inculcate a love for music; to soften, elevate and refine the home life; to cultivate the noble and higher virtues of the fireside—than any other means we could adopt.
