DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED AND SHOT HIS COUSIN

NEW GLASGOW, July 20.—Last evening Alonzo Heighton, 15 years old, living at Asphat, Stirling, took his rifle from his room upstairs with the intention of going out shooting.

On coming downstairs he met his little cousin, Annie White, only thirteen years old, standing in the kitchen with her little baby sister in her arms, tugging the little one to sleep.

As he passed along she said: "You can't shoot me," in a joking tone, and he in a gay mood, not knowing the gun was loaded, threw the rifle to his shoulder and pulled the trigger.

The bullet, which was present in the rifle, was sent crashing through the brain of the little girl, entering under her left eye. Death was almost instantaneous.

Only a couple of months ago Mr. and Mrs. White lost their only son.

SOURIS RACES

(From yesterday's Evening Guardian) Nearly three thousand people witnessed the horse races at Souris yesterday afternoon. This was the first race meeting on the Souris track for nearly fifteen years. The committee in charge of placing the track in such perfect condition are worthy of the highest praise. The track, outside of Charlottetown, is the fastest and prettiest in the Province. The Souris Band furnished good music. The three races were all hotly contested. Dr. Sharper won his race in splendid style and finished the third and fourth heats in 2.20 flat, which were the fastest heats ever trotted on the track.

King Dadds, the handsome stallion owned by H. H. Acorn, Souris, won his race in three straight heats, the fastest time being half in 1.12, mile 2.29 1/2. Dadds' could have easily trotted the mile yesterday in 2.24 or better, had he fast enough company to force him the last half.

Dixie Girl, the beautiful pacer owned by J. A. Henderson, won the 2.30 fastest time being 2.24 1/2.

The Souris Trotting Park is not only one of the best appointed race courses in the province but is unquestionably the most beautifully located. At a convenient distance from the railway, visitors by rail were given an opportunity to stop off at the track or proceed to Souris, a half-hour drive, to the most popular seaside resort in the province. From this elevation the town presented a truly beautiful appearance. Its pretty dwellings and commodious stores were gay with hunting, the citizens having taken an afternoon holiday in honour of the reopening of the race course which some years ago was one of the great attractions and which, after yesterday's magnificent success, will doubtless be one of the annual outing places for lovers of horse racing.

The attendance was large, estimated at about 3,000, and representing practically the whole province. Yet in all this large assemblage, to the credit of the management and of the town, there was not a single case of disorderly or unseemly conduct and not a sign of drink. That the Prohibition Act is being well observed in Souris and the surrounding country was fully exemplified in the sober, orderly and happy crowd of men, women and children that enjoyed the half-holiday as well as the races.

The Souris Brass Band enlivened the proceedings with numerous selections excellently rendered. Booths on the grounds, well supplied and well waited upon, provided eatables and refreshments. Altogether the visitors were unanimous in declaring the day spent at Souris one of the pleasantest of the season's outings.

OH, VERY WELL "What's the matter with your billy goat—he looks sick." "He just ate a tin can." "Why, I thought they considered tin cans a delicacy." "They do—but this had never been opened and he got a taste of the meat."

BUY MACHINE GUNS

Sir—Messrs Matthew and McLean deserve great credit and the thanks of every patriotic Prince Edward Islander for their contribution of $1,000 for the purchase of a machine gun.

It has occurred to me that their example might be followed by other wealthy men of this island, especially in connection with the artillery corps which is now being organized, so that our brave volunteers might be equipped as the Germans are, with a machine gun to every twenty-five men.

There are many fox magnates here who can afford to run an auto three days in the week, the cheapest of which costs the price of a machine gun. Could not these come forward and emulate the example of Messrs Matthew and McLean, of Souris, and help to keep the Germans out?

If the German Supermen once got in neither fox ranches or autos or anything else would be of much value here.

Also a general subscription could be opened for the smaller fry, so that all would have a chance to do their bit. Holy Writ enjoins us in times of danger to sell our coat and our sword, which in modern vernacular might be translated, sell your foxes, your extra horses, your autos and your luxurious carriages and buy machine guns.

I am, sir, etc., PATRIOT.

CUNARD SAILS FOR LIVERPOOL

(Special to the Guardian.) NEW YORK, July 23.—The Cunard liner Ordana, laden almost to capacity, or close to 11,000 tons, chiefly war material for England, sailed to-day for Liverpool with 15 cabin, 75 second cabin and 105 steerage passengers, including 22 American of all classes.

Spv Trapped by Canadian

LONDON, July 22.—Thanks to the smartness of a Canadian soldier, a German spy has been discovered and sentenced by a British magistrate to six months' hard labour. Carl Amundus, a native of Hamburg, was charged with failing to register himself as an alien and with attempting to elicit information regarding the movement of troops. He left Hamburg last year and went to Boston. After some months he shipped as a trimmer on a vessel bound for Gothenburg. The vessel was stopped by British cruisers as a carrier of contraband and brought to Avonmouth. Amundus obtained a military pass to Bristol docks, made out in the name of Charles Stephens, and the prosecution contended that he would be able to despatch, by the wireless messages, which would be free from censorship.

SIA BEARING THE BRUNT OF WAR

LONDON, July 22.—A despatch to the Daily Telegraph from Petrograd says: "Complaints are beginning to be heard that Russia is bearing practically the entire brunt of the war. These complaints are not confined to the mass of people who are not in a position to judge what is really happening on any front."

"For the second day in succession the military critic of the Rusky Invalide, who is in close touch with the general staff here, contrasts the furious battles which are being fought in a dozen different directions within the frontiers of Russia with the apparent acquiescence of the British, French and Italian armies.

TURKEY WANTS SEPARATE PEACE

GENEVA, July 21.—Nejmekden Effendi, Turkish Minister of Justice accompanied by Fasan Effendi, is expected here tomorrow from Vienna, for the purpose, it is reported, of opening separate peace negotiations with the trifle entente. It is stated the delegates are invested with full powers. Recent dispatches stated that the Turkish Minister of Justice with a fellow delegate was on his way to Switzerland and to meet a representative of the entente powers. They were reported July 14 as having passed through Sofia, Bulgaria.

IS "THE PATRIOT" PRO-GERMAN

(Continued from page one.) front were not only infamous but stamped with disloyalty. The charge was untrue in every particular. (Applause.) It had as much justification as the malignant attack on the management of the Summer School. The special committee in charge of the oats had done their duty to the full and there was not one particle of ground for the slander about negligence on their part. When the war broke out, it would be remembered, and other provinces came forward with offers of assistance to the Mother Country, there was a general desire on the part of the people here to give similar assistance. The Government issued invitations to all those who were willing to assist in such a scheme, and a large meeting was held in the Assembly Chamber to devise ways and means. A general committee was appointed without regard to political opinions and with no other qualifications than general fitness for the work they had to do. This committee subsequently met and worked, including a general charge of the grain and attending to the dispatch. This sub-committee was also appointed without regard to politics and solely on account of its fitness, and they did their duty to the full.

The committee thoroughly understand that, in the present emergency, the assurance that the charges made in this issue of the press were not only false but unpatriotic and made with the object of deceiving and misleading the loyal people who gave of their generosity for the benefit of the overseas forces, is not only a matter of course when the British Empire is at stake that means to civilization and humanity was being tried as it was never tried before, when every thought and consideration should be bent and extended to save the Empire and all that she held dear, that was the time when the press should have been disinterested and dispassionate in the minds and hearts of loyal and true-hearted subjects of the King. If ever there was a time when the voice of envy, malice and uncharitableness should be silent it was now when so much hung in the balance. It was no slight burden to carry the responsibility of government in this province; it was a much heavier burden to carry on the government of the Dominion of Canada to help and to hinder those who shouldered the responsibility. (Applause.) If they wished to do their cause an injury; if they wished to help the cause of their enemies; if they wished to encourage Germany, no better way could be imagined than by attempting to shake the faith of our people in those entrusted with the management of their affairs. There was no better means of doing this than by wantonly and persistently attacking those who were trying to do their duty to the limit of their power.

Every inspector, every man and every woman who had assisted in anyway in making the Field Service Fund the success it undoubtedly was must feel the attack made upon them as the essence of meanness, as the outcome of spite of a lack of patriotism which was deplorable and criminal, in this hour of their Empire's peril. (Loud applause.)

TEACHERS REMAINING HOME.

Proceeding to give much helpful advice and encouragement to the teachers in the work of their choice, the Premier next dealt with the hopeful outlook of education in the province. There could be no greater satisfaction than that the tide of emigration had ceased and that the work in the schools was more satisfactory than for many a long year past. The growth in attendance had increased by 1,010, and he hoped by their efforts before very long to look back on the highest mark of the past as the gauge by which to note the increase. The teachers attending the school had gained the highest credit for their excellent attendance, for their keen attention and their unusual capacity in taking part in the course. As long as the present Government had anything to do with the management of the affairs of the province they would never forget the importance of the teachers' work, nor how necessary it was that proper provision should be made for them. (Applause.) In the past they had done what was possible; in the future they would hope, with greater possibilities still, and always and at all times, to keep in mind the vast importance of their services to the country, and how much was required of them. He could say they would be able to meet the great requirements of their high responsibility. (Applause.) He hoped when they returned to their schools it would be with new vigor, and new health and that they would strive to make the work of the coming year exceed in value and efficiency and in satisfaction all that had been done in the past. (Applause.)

A Big Hail Storm At Bedford, N.S.

BEDFORD, N.S., July 22.—The residents of Bedford were awakened Sunday morning by a thunderstorm of unusual violence. Lightning flashed, the thunder rolled, and rain descended in torrents. It was in violence, almost were soon rushing down the hills to Bedford Basin. Then came hail and such hail as had never before been seen in this country in the memory of the oldest inhabitants. Not the small hailstones we are accustomed to, but chunks of ice, some of them fully one and a half inches in diameter, and coming with a tremendous force, which clipped small branches of trees, strewed the ground with leaves and left a trail of broken window glass in the wake of the storm. Many who had not been roused by the thunder breaking the windows of their bedrooms, and before the storm passed much damage had been done to furniture—in one case a piano was badly damaged by the water. The houses from Chapel Hill east suffered more or less damage and scarcely a house escaped with unbroken glass, a great source of interest and wonder to the many motorists who passed during the afternoon.

NOT A THREAT, BUT—

"I want you to understand" said the practical politician to a delegation of citizens who had called to discuss some of his handiwork, "that I am not in politics for my health."

BRITISH GOVERNMENT EXPRESSES REGRET TO NORWAY GOVERNMENT

(Special to the Guardian.) CHRISTIANIA, via London, July 23.—The British Government, through Sir Edward Grey, expressed regret to the Norwegian government of violation by British warships of Norwegian territorial waters, especially by the seizure by an auxiliary cruiser of a German steamer inside the three-mile limit.

BRITISH CABLE STEAMER IS WRECKED AT FIJI

(Special to the Guardian.) HONOLULU, July 23.—The British cable schooner Strathcona, enroute from Auckland, N.Z., to Fanning Islands, Honolulu, is a total loss in the South Pacific, near the Fiji Islands, according to information brought here to-day by the Union liner Niagara.

Censorship Now In Force in Canada

(From our own Correspondent.) OTTAWA, July 23.—There will be published in the Canada Gazette tomorrow a new order in council establishing censorship in Canada. Large powers are taken by the regulations. One clause provides for the appointment of a censor to censor the product of any publisher or printing firm and that after such appointment it is to issue no literature uncensored. The printing of any news concerning war operations or operations, or criticisms or comment upon the policy, proceedings or action of the Government of any neutral state, if such would interfere with the success of the Allied forces, or prejudice Allied relations will be deemed a contravention of the censorship order. Prosecution is to be taken by the Attorney-General.

Imprisonment not exceeding two years and a fine not exceeding $5,000 is provided for convictions of indictment and imprisonment not exceeding six months and a maximum fine of $2,000 is provided for summary conviction. The Secretary of State, under whom the censorship is administered, may also close up any offending establishment.

PLOT TO BLOW UP AN ONTARIO PLANT

SARANA, Ont., July 21.—Notice has been given to the local authorities that there is an Austrian boarding housekeeper in the south wars, who has received an offer of $600 from a German secret association in Port Huron if he will blow up the plant of the Mueller Mfg. Company in this city. The story is told by a Russian who has been staying at the house, and heard remarks passed between Austrians. The case will likely be investigated, as the firm lately received a threatening letter from the United States.

Italians Captured 3,476 Russians in Three Days

(Special to the Guardian.) LONDON, July 23.—The Daily Telegraph's Milan special says further progress by the Italians in the battle of Carzo Hills is indicated by the capture of 1,000 more prisoners, making the total number taken within the last three days 3,476, including 76 officers. A quantity of rifles and ammunition and several machine guns also fell into the hands of the Italians. On a sixty mile front of this fighting along the peaks the Italians have 600,000 men, while the Austrians in their wonderfully fortified position are estimated to have 400,000. Italian guns are now able to shell Austrian positions on Monte Santo, a peak some 1,300 feet high, which had been fortified by the Austrians, as well as other hills which protect Gerzina on the north.

GERMAN SOCIALISTS ATTACK GOVERNMENT

NEW YORK, July 21.—The ever increasing volume of discussion of peace conditions in the Socialist press is embarrassing the German Government, which is taking vigorous measures to stifle it. Small newspapers like the Friere Press of Elberfeld, the Volk Zeitung of Dusseldorf, and the Arbeiter Zeitung, of Duisburg, published the common declaration that they cannot take part in a discussion of peace, as the censors before publication strike out all reference to it.

GERMAN SOCIALISTS ATTACK GOVERNMENT

These newspapers support the view of those who blame the Government for the war, and oppose all annexation. As the official Socialist party practically supports the Government, its organs, the chief of which is the Vorwarts, are little troubled by the censors. The Government hopes by suppressing the newspapers of the dissident Socialists to obtain more influence over the masses by means of the official Socialist press. The Government of Kiel has suppressed all newspapers in his district which do not preach a continuance of the war until the Germans conquer. The Austrian Socialist press is also beginning to attack the Government.
