ALLIES 8 MILES FROM SAARBRUCKEN

House In Secret Session Yesterday

OTTAWA, Nov. 28—(CP) — The House of Commons adjourned tonight after a six-hour secret session during which Defence Minister McNaughton gave information about Canadian armed forces.

The session, the first secret session and the third since the beginning of the war, was given facts that for security reasons could not be made public.

The sitting began at 3 p.m. E.D.T. and adjourned at 6 p.m. for the dinner recess. The members returned to their seats at 8 p.m. E.D.T. and remained behind closed doors until 11 p.m.

At the adjournment, Speaker J. A. Glen issued the following statement:

"The House of Commons held a secret sitting from 3 p.m. today. General the Honorable A. G. L. McNaughton, Minister of National Defence, was present and gave information respecting the Canadian forces."

Under the Defence of Canada regulations the Speaker's statement was all that could be published on the sitting.

Tomorrow the Commons will resume its public sittings and continue debate on the Government's vote of confidence motion.

Col. J. L. Ralston, former Defence Minister, is expected to participate in tomorrow's debate and probably will indicate how he will vote on the confidence motion.

While the secret session, originally expected to last only an hour, was in progress tension remained at the high level that has prevailed since the passage of an order-in-council making 16,000 draftees available for service overseas.

Three Progressive Conservative members, Joseph Harris, Toronto-Danforth; Hon. W. Earl Rowe, Dufferin-Simcoe, and C. E. Degmond, Kent, remained away from the sitting because they were opposed to the House meeting in secret.

Quebec Liberals In Caucus

Quebec Liberals met in caucus before the House opened and War Services Minister LaFleche said on leaving that the meeting was "cordial" and that there would be no more bolters from the Liberal party over the conscription issue.

Three Quebec Liberals have crossed the floor since the overseas conscription authority was announced last week. They were Charles Parent (Quebec West and South), J.F. Poulliot (Temiscouata) and Wilfrid LaCroix (Quebec Montmorency).

The caucus, lasting almost three hours, was addressed by Prime Minister Mackenzie King, who was accompanied by Defence Minister McNaughton. It was understood Mr. King told the members they should consider who would take his place if they voted against him in the House and led to the defeat of the government.

One member said he had the impression that some of the Quebec members would vote against the Government because they opposed conscription for overseas, but that they would not cross the floor and would continue to support Mr. King.

Many members were reported to feel that partial conscription as made effective by the Government was more acceptable than total conscription suggested by opposition parties.

Protests Secret Session

Joseph H. Harris (PC - Toronto Danforth) left the House soon after the secret sitting opened, saying he protested against holding the meeting behind closed doors.

Mr. Harris said the procedure was entirely irregular. If secret sessions were held in the British Parliament it was by agreement of all, but there was no such agreement in Canada.

Under censorship rules nothing may be published on the proceedings of a secret session except such report as may be communicated through the Speaker of the House, Hon. J. A. Glen.

The last secret session was held in 1942 when war developments, including the sinking of merchant ships within Canadian territorial waters, were discussed.

War Situation Last Night

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
(Associated Press War Analyst)

An ominous Allied northward drive out of the fast expanding bulge on the upper Rhine at Strasbourg is taking shape.

Berlin admits German forces are in flight from all northeastern Alsace. They are protected by rearguards, but have no formidable river line like the Saar or the Rhine behind which to rally at the German-French frontier.

The absence of a strong water barrier makes that sector of the Franco-German border on the north face of the Alsace salient between the Rhine and the Saar more vulnerable than any other on the front. It is flanked for a short distance west of the Rhine by the Lauten and also east of Saarbrucken by the Blies tributary of the Saar. For the 35-mile span from Wissembourg to Gersheim, however, there is no continuous river line along the frontier. Only the wide and deep Pfalzerwald Forest area in the centre offers a natural defensive terrain. It is against this weak link on the southern flank of the German west Rhineland that the U. S. 3rd Army is swinging with 7th Army support.

Berlin commentators stress the prediction that the German retreat will continue beyond the frontier itself until it reaches the fortifications of the Siegfried Line perhaps 10 miles back. Their purpose may be to prepare the home front for the widest and deepest Allied penetration of German soil at that point.

There are indications that the stubbornly held enemy bridgehead west of the Rhine close to Basel probably has been eliminated and with it the last threat to communications of the French forces which burst through the Belfort Gap to take Mulhouse. If that is true, early clearance of the southern Vosges of the last German invaders is to be expected, freeing the American 7th Army and the French 1st Army to aid the 3rd in a break-through into the Saar Basin area from the south.

A deep Allied penetration of the Saar Basin would nearly split the west front in two and jeopardize the German stand west of the Rhine to the north almost as much as would an enemy collapse on the Roer, the Meuse, or anywhere else except on the dormant Neder Rhine segment in Holland.

Endowment Fund For St. Peter's Cathedral Among Brecken Bequests

Substantial legacies, including a $30,000 endowment for St. Peter's Cathedral, plus an unstated amount from another fund, were left by the late Mr. Lilth Brecken, Charlottetown, former deputy prothonotary of the Supreme Court, who passed away recently.

Other bequests include $11,000 to the Charlottetown Y. M. C. A. as a contribution towards the construction or acquisition of a new building; $10,000 to the University of King's College, Halifax. $7,000 to Hugh Simpson, infant son of Hugh M. Simpson, Charlottetown; $6,000 to the Prince Edward Island Division of the Red Cross Society; $4,000 to the Protestant Orphanage; $3,000 to the Children's Aid Society; $3,000 to the Charlottetown Free Dispensary; $3,000 and furniture to Elizabeth M. Mutch, Charlottetown; $2,000 to Reginald Hebert Rogers, prothonotary, Charlottetown; $1,000 to Laura Thompson; and $1,000 to Harold Buell, deputy prothonotary.

The will decrees that the residue of the estate be distributed in proportion to the respective legacies but that the bequests of $2,000 to Laura Leigh (deceased) and $35,000 to St. Peter's Cathedral remain unchanged by the said distribution.

Memorial Fund

With regard to St. Peter's Cathedral, the will provides that the sum of $35,000 be set aside upon trust and that the William Ralph Brecken Fund be added thereto and the aggregate paid over to the Cathedral trustees as a perpetual endowment in memory of Mr. Brecken's mother, the endowment to be known as the Helen Brecken Memorial Trust, and to be used for religious and charitable purposes in the discretion of the trustees.

The amount of the William Ralph Brecken fund is not stated, but it is referred to as a fund which reverted to the deceased under the will of a late uncle and as being for the most part invested in mortgages.

The will provided that during the life of the deceased's cousin, Mrs Laura Leigh, the William Ralph Brecken fund was to be kept separate from the other monies and property of the estate and paid to Mrs. Leigh. After her decease, if she should predecease Mr. Brecken (as she did), the fund and income therefrom was to be set aside and held as forming part of the Helen Brecken Memorial Trust, as above noted.

These hauls, along with 20,000 taken by French forces of the interior, brought the total for the 21st Army group to 222,735.

DRAMATIC STORY OF BRITISH SACRIFICE TOLD IN NEW REPORT

LONDON, Nov. 28 — (CP) — The story of a nation that in five years of war has seen one third of its homes damaged by enemy action, half its population moved to meet wartime production needs and the riches stored up by past generations dissipated, was told today in a figure-filled, 64-page booklet.

The nation is Britain and the booklet a white paper entitled "Statistics Relating to the War Effort of the United Kingdom."

Grim statistics told the story of the United Kingdom's war contribution:

Five and one-half million Britons, including killed, missing and prisoners, serving; total casualties of 733,030, including 136,115 civilians killed and wounded and 29,629 merchant seamen killed; the export trade, basis of Britain's wealth and power—virtually abandoned; overseas gold reserves spent on war materials; more than 5,500 factories damaged; monotonous diet; strictly rationed clothing; high taxes.

"We have sacrificed most of our Victorian inheritance," said Information Minister Brendan Bracken at a press conference after the release of the document. "What was the treasure of our grandfathers has gone, and it has been well and gladly sacrificed."

The tremendous, outstanding fact was that "the total war effort of the population of Great Britain per head is greater than that of any other belligerent," he added, explaining the white paper had been "compiled by a grateful government so that the British people may now have a proper measure of their achievements during the heroic years through which they have passed."

"It will, I am sure, be welcomed by our brethren of the British Commonwealth who shared with us the honor of standing alone against a monstrous tyranny during the year which decided the fate of civilization."

Gives Expenditures

In terms of finances, the white paper showed expenditure increased from just over £1,000,000,000 (about $4,500,000,000) in the last peacetime year to nearly £6,000,000,000 in 1943. Nearly the whole increase was attributable to the war. This did not include the value of resources received from Canada and the United States under mutual aid and lend-lease.

The white paper said that "during the first years of war it was necessary to keep up our exports in order to pay for imports of food, raw materials and munitions needed from abroad."

On the question of aid from the Commonwealth, Mr. Bracken declared: "We have not attempted

Power Through With Politics

MONTREAL, Nov. 28 — (CP) — Hon. C. G. Power, who resigned last week as Air Minister, said here today he was "through with politics" and did not plan to run again as member of Parliament for Quebec South. Mr. Power passed through Montreal en route from Ottawa to his summer home at St. Pacome, Kamouraska County, Que., where he will recuperate from a recent appendicitis operation.

Mr. Power, who was a lawyer in private life, said he would resume his practice, probably in Montreal. Formerly, he practised in Quebec

Says Nazi V-Weapon Caused Explosion

LONDON, Nov. 28 — (CP)— The Bratislava Radio in a German language broadcast said today that "yesterday's explosion in Derbyshire was caused by a German V-weapon." The enemy broadcast apparently referred to an explosion near Burton-on-Trent, Staffordshire.

There, the death toll from the blast by an R.A.F. underground bomb depot which devastated the countryside will exceed 160, the Press Association said.

The tremendous blast, heaving up soil, buildings and livestock over a wide radius, and making craters 250 yards across, shocked the people of nearby villages as if an earthquake or a great bombardment had hit them. Many ran for air raid shelters, or huddled against brick blast walls.

More than 24 hours after the explosions—starting apparently from a single bomb and then spreading swiftly—the search continued for those missing.

Round about the subterranean storage dump—described as a modern Aladdin's cave filled with many millions of dollars worth of bombs, sufficient for hundreds of major attacks on Germany—the landscape resembled a no-man's country: grass and other vegetation were burned, jagged pits were on every hand and hundreds of cattle and sheep lay dead in the fields. In one village every house was damaged by the explosions. A village school was badly damaged but not a child was hurt.

None of the rescued men could tell their questioners what had caused the explosion. This theory was submitted to the coroner by a former officer in the Royal Engineers who had an important job at the dump: "What appears to have happened is that one bomb exploded and the rush of air acted as a detonator for all the bombs in the dump."

Wilfred Lord Of Halifax Missing

HALIFAX, Nov. 28 — (CP) — Police were searching today for Wilfred Lord, 50, of Halifax, who disappeared Sunday. Lord has not been seen since leaving his home to go to the waterfront.

Yank Troops Enter Reich At New Point

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

PARIS, Nov. 28 — (AP) — The United States 3rd Army penetrated Germany afresh along a seven-mile front 3 1-2 miles from Saarlauten today and pressed a drive eight miles from Saarbrucken in the day's most notable territorial gains on the embattled western front.

To the north the United States 1st and 9th Armies slugged doggedly ahead over the sodden Cologne plain against the Germans' tough Roer River line towards the fortress cities of Duren and Julich. The British 2nd Army front, on the left flank of these formations and extending northward into Holland, was comparatively quiet.

(A field dispatch from Ross Munro, Canadian Press War Correspondent, dated Nov. 2, disclosed that Canadian forces have been holding a narrow strip of German territory just across the Netherlands border east of Nijmegen. (This was the first dispatch from the front reporting Canadians were on German soil. Prime Minister MacKenzie King announced in the House of Commons at Ottawa Monday that Canadian soldiers now are fighting on German soil in some places.)

On the Alsace front in the south, the United States 7th and French 1st Armies were clearing the remaining Germans from the Vosges mountains and the Alsatian Plain to the east, and strengthening their northern flank after widening the Caverne-Strasbourg corridor to 20 miles.

From north to south, the continuing heavy offensive against Germany brought these developments:

On the British 2nd Army front in Holland and Germany, north and northeast of Geilenkirchen, activity was confined to patrols and heavy artillery duels. British parties clashed with the Germans on a railway bridge at Roermond, where the Roer enters the Maas, but by daybreak both sides had withdrawn.

The 9th Army completed capture of Kirchberg on the west bank of the flooded Roer less than a mile from Julich, near the east bank. They also took Barmen, north of Julich, and Altdorf on the south. Koslar and Mersenhausen were being cleaned out despite fierce German tank counter-attacks.

A half-dozen miles south, United States 1st Army infantry pushed east astride a prized enemy motor route, fighting their way into Jungersdorf, four miles from Duren, in a three-pronged assault that carried another 1 1-4 miles into the Roer River defences.

Jap Planes In Big Raid On Yank Ships

MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, PHILIPPINES, Nov. 29 — (Wednesday) — (AP) — Japanese torpedo and dive bombers swarmed down on United States warships and transports at Leyte Gulf Monday in the heaviest such raid since reinvasion of the Philippines and United States destroyers the same night negotiated treacherous waters to shell Ormoc in their first penetration of the Philippines inland sea.

The actions, on opposite sides of an island where storms stalemated the ground action, were announced by headquarters today.

The enemy planes, boring through intense ack-ack from the warships, attacked units which included a battleship and caused unspecified damage.

Labor Leaders Support King

MONTREAL, Nov. 28—(CP) — A group of seven French Canadian labor leaders in a joint statement today urged their compatriots to join them "in a converted effort to state the true sentiment of French Canada" with the motto: "No election—victory first."

The labor leaders represent unions affiliated to the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and the Canadian Congress of Labor.

"Faced with this political manoeuvre," the statement said, "we have but one duty: support a government which alone, in the present circumstances, can save national unity and prevent anti-French elements from taking over with as their sole purpose to keep Quebec in bondage and crush organized labor in Canada."

C. P. R. EARNINGS

MONTREAL, Nov. 28 — (CP)— Canadian Pacific Railway Company today reported net earnings in October at $5,758,530 as compared with $5,841,417 in the corresponding month in 1943, a decrease of $82,887.

Gross earnings increased $1,816,525 at $28,160,691 and expenses were $1,899,412 higher at $22,402,161.

Net for 10 months this year was $32,379,651 against $38,603,278, a decrease of $6,223,627.

Zombie Leaders Reported Using Threats To Hold Drafted Troops In Camp

TERRACE, B.C., Nov. 28 — (CP) —A regiment of N.R.M.A. infantry from Saskatchewan, on draft for service overseas and due to leave Terrace, remained in camp late today under threat of armed violence by striking Home Defence troops.

The striking troops were classed as mutineers, it was understood, since they interfered with other troops in the performance of their duty.

No official announcement had been made on the matter up to mid-afternoon.

A waiting troop train stood idle on a siding and the drafted soldiers remained at their camps.

Threats and Intimidation

Threats and intimidation were being used by leaders of the recalcitrant Home Defence troops here to keep less fervent members in line, inquiries among the men disclosed today.

The anti-conscription group of soldiers were picketing members of the Saskatchewan regiment and members of the latter unit said the demonstrating Home Defence men had ammunition and gave the impression of being perpared to use it.

"We have ammunition too," said a member of the regiment from Saskatchewan. "But I wish we didn't. The way things are now it would be too easy to start bloodshed."

Members of the regiment from Saskatchewan said they were willing to obey the order moving them out of Terrace. Some soldiers expressed the opinion that the disobedience movement was being kept alive by a group in the French Canadian unit from Quebec.

The beer parlors and liquor store in Terrace village were closed today by order of the British Columbia Liquor Commission.

Personnel of the Royal Canadian Air Force detachment at Terrace have been confined to barracks.

One soldier told a reporter that although he was taking part in the demonstration he was not quite sure what the root of the trouble was.

"Our regiment arrived here the day before yesterday," he said. "Men of a regiment that was due to leave Terrace on draft today have been told by other Home Defence men that if they prepare to leave they will be shot at. They mean it, too, and they have plenty of ammunition. I think that there is going to be serious trouble here."

Another soldier, carrying a rifle over his shoulder, said that he had just attended a meeting attended by most of the Home Defence troops. He said that an officer had tried to address the meeting, but the men refused to listen to him and had broken up into small groups and returned to their various camps.

This soldier said that the men were demanding "total conscription," but did not elaborate on the point.

The attitude of the men as they marched from camp to camp was described as one of "apparent good nature." Some of the men carried rifles and others had Bren guns.

OTTAWA, Nov. 28—(CP)—Postmaster-General Mulock said today in a statement that "everything possible" was being done to improve mail services to and from Canadian servicemen held prisoner in Germany, and added that "early improvement is looked for."

He said military operations on the continent have disturbed prisoner-of-war mail services, especially since the liberation of France resulted in the discontinuance of the former German air mail service to Portugal over which such letters were carried.
