EXPERT TUBE HOCKEY

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—A rare case of the personality of the subject of a portrait shadowing that of the artist came to light Saturday when it was announced that Mary Coleman, Nell, had purchased a portrait of Nell Gwynne from a private collector.

The value of the portrait of Nell Gwynne depends a great deal on the little orange girl of Covent Garden, the most popular of King Charles' mistresses, and a woman who was loved among all classes in her time. By artistic standards alone, the value of this work of Lely has been placed well below $10,000 but the personality and history of Nell Gwynne, it is felt, will make it much more valuable.

HER GRITTY GARB

English paper—they left London en route for the Continent, the mid's costume being of desert and with shoes and stockings to me, with a black velvet hat.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Sundry of the new satin tunic blouses have the same do chine pleated vest in a contrasting color. Thus to see profile with tortoise, cranberry with black, black with periwinkle and tortoise with mahogany.

"Pastigrams"

The moving picture effect for which scientists and inventors have been striving for years.

—ILLUSTRATED LECTURE.—
The New Baptist Hall at Summer-side was filled to capacity on last Thursday evening to hear Rev. J. H. Copeland lecture on "The Life of Christ." Mr. Copeland evidently believes that the eye is the keener of the five senses as he had no less than 120 lantern slides for illustration of his story. These slides were very beautiful being true reproductions of some of the famous masterpieces and harmoniously and tastefully colored with strict respect for the originals. The pictures as they appeared were delineated by Mr. Copeland, the slides following one another in entertaining continuity for a perfect theme. Mr. Copeland is not only a pleasing speaker but has also a rich singing voice, of baritone quality and his singing was a rare treat. Additional features were vocal numbers by Mr. J. P. Pogson and vocal quartettes by Dr. and Mrs. Leard and Mr. and Mrs. Pogson. Mrs. Dobson was the accompanist. There was also a sale of candy for the mission band. Rev. A. K. Herman the pastor, led in prayer and also expressed the thanks of the assembly to Rev. Mr. Copeland for the excellent evening's entertainment.

French Shipyards Busy With Naval Orders

(Special To The Guardian)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Reports received here through official channels indicate that every shipyard and plant in France is busy with naval orders. Some are building ships for other governments in addition to orders placed by the French Government.

The naval program is chiefly devoted to turning out such craft as submarine light cruisers, torpedo boats and destroyers, which were not limited by the five-power naval treaty which grew out of the Washington Arms Conference.

On October 1st the submarine Souffleur, the largest yet designed for the French navy, was launched at Cherbourg, the second vessel of this type, which is to be followed by four others. These submarines were authorized in August 1922.

The Drowning Of R. C. M. P. Officer In Arctic Region

(Special To The Guardian)
OTTAWA, Nov. 16.—The final report of the death of Constable MacDonald has not yet been received by me," stated Commissioner Starnes, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, when questioned today in regard to the drowning near Bailey Island, in the Arctic Region, of Ian Moore MacDonald formerly of Lunenburg, N. S.

"The investigation, however, is being continued under inspector Caulkin of our northwest territories Division," stated Commissioner Starnes, "and as soon as every available fact has been gathered a full statement will be forwarded here."

From the information received at headquarters so far, it is believed that this is a case of purely accidental drowning. That the late R. C. M. P. Constable was at the time of his death, making a trip on one of the trading schooners, and several hours before he was missed had been seen making towards the rear of the vessel. The night was particularly dark, and apparently he stepped overboard and fell into the icy northern waters, without his predicament being discovered.

Ban is Placed On Human Air Mail

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16.—After he had been decorated with $718.08 worth of air mail stamps in anticipation of an air mail trip to New York, Chester N. Weaver, San Francisco automobile dealer, was "barred from the mails" by a ruling from Paul Henderson, second assistant postmaster-general.

Mr. Weaver was rejected as a piece of human mail when a telegram was received from the second assistant postmaster-general, saying that "nobody is to ride in air mail" except department officials.

The telegram added that "sooner or later" it may be possible to carry passengers.

Declares She Was Offered Jewelry

revelations centering on the business affairs of two second-hand dealers named Mendelson and called the attention of the chief of police to these men in emphatic terms, declaring that he was absolutely convinced they were in collusion with thieves.

Mrs. Albert Drouin, testified today that she had been robbed of jewelry to the extent of $3,000. On reporting the theft she was asked by Detective Gauthier, she said, to go to the store of Simon Mendelson to identify some jewelry there. She found only a small part of her own property and Mendelson told her she could have it for $35. On the advice of Detective Gauthier she consented to re-purchase it.

Withdraw Consent.

Later she withdrew from the transaction, at the same time notifying Mendelson. The latter phoned her that the individual who had sold him the jewelry had been in the store and he (Mendelson) could have located the rest of her property, but her reputation "settled the matter" as far as he and she were concerned. No action had been taken against Mendelson.

Similar cases regarding the same people were given in testimony by H. E. Yale, of the Yale Lithographing Company, where a stolen typewriter had been located at M. Mendelson's, while H. Lyons, of the Merchants' Association told of a theft of 35 cameras from the British Import Company, 13 of which were found in Simon Mendelson's place.

Many Articles.

The same witness told of a comptometer, stolen from Scythes & Co., and located at M. Mendelson's, but this had never been recovered. In each case the Mendelsons asked small sums of money for the return of the articles. Another typewriter stolen from a man named Daggle, was found in a second-hand store conducted by Louis Haber. Mr. Lyons delivered an ultimatum to Haber that the machine must be returned without the payment of $15 that Haber asked, with two hours. This was done.

The production of this evidence brought some stern comments from Mr. Justice Coderre regarding the Mendelsons being permitted to continue this business when the police knew that these things were being done. He declared that their licenses should be revoked. "It is in the interests of all, including the police," said His Lordship, "that licenses in such cases should not be granted. It is an arrangement that exists between thieves and certain receivers and it should end and there is a way of ending it. Either our police are powerless and the public is suffering because of this powerlessness, or they are in league with thieves."

Move For Alliance

In the giant struggle with Napoleon, at the end of which all the powers guaranteed Belgian independence. It was because Germany broke that bond and invaded Belgium that England went to war, and since the war there is no doubt that the English have looked with no little suspicion on the Franco-Belgian alliance while the Belgians on their side, and especially since they were induced into the Ruhr operation, have sometimes regretted publicly that they had made their only alliance with France.

Playing Big Role

Hymans, who is one of the most astute foreign ministers now in Europe and is besides a shrewd associate in all League of Nations work, has seen before him a fine opportunity for extending that alliance to the betterment of not only his own country's position, but that of all Europe. At Geneva Belgium helped in the formation of the protocol, as she had helped in the previous year the plan for treaties of mutual guarantee.

Now with frank insight into the motives and policies of all countries involved, Hymans sees that the protocol, like the other plan, has but little chance of being accepted. Over a year ago in the interview he declared his opinion that the league and the world were not yet ripe for the acceptance of any general peace plan. But he is not discouraged. He thought the league should go on discussing plans and keeping the subject alive in forefront, but now, as the responsible foreign minister of his country, he is anxious to see something else, something practical, being done for the consolidation of the authority of those countries of Europe whose desire for peace is solid and unquestioned. He sees that possibility in the formation of a three-cornered entente between the three Allies. He is playing a big role and playing it skilfully.

Yesterday's Market Report

(Canadian Press)
MONTREAL, Nov. 16.—The feature of the local grain trade on Saturday was the marked improvement in the demand for spot buyers for oats and a fair amount of business was done in Canadian western grades, of which No. 3 grade sold at 6 1/2 cents per bush over the Winnipeg November option C. I. F. Montreal.

Ontario oats were stronger and prices were marked up 2 cents per bush. No. 2 white sold at 62 cents, No. 3 grade at 60 cents, and No. 4 grade at 58 cents per bush. Ontario malting barley was 1 cent per bush higher at $1.09 for No. 3 extra and $1.08 for No. 3 grade extra.

The outstanding development in the flour situation was the strong feeling that developed for wheat grades and prices were advanced 10 cents per barrel and broken lots 20 cents per barrel. This was attributed to the strength of raw material and the smaller offerings from millers. There was no change in winter wheat prices. The demand for all lines of mill feed is steadily increasing and a fairly large business was transacted and the undertone continues firm although no actual change occurred in prices. The market for rolled oats was firm. The egg market was decidedly more active than it has been of late and prices ruled steady. Extreme dullness marked the trade in butter, although the trend was firm. There was no improvement noted in the export trade in cheese and prices were steady at the recent decline noted. New crop beans were quoted at $2.65 and $2.75 per bushel for one and three pound pickers delivered to the trade at Montreal.

A DETACHABLE LEGEND

Caller—So this is the old settle you told me you had picked up at such a bargain. My dear, it's a perfect treasure! It looks as if there might be some real old legend connected with it.

Hostess—Well, there was, but at the price I offered, the dealer said he would have to keep the legend and connect it with an antique bedstead that he had.

Lt. Gov. Hertz Donates Prizes

His Honor Lieutenant Governor Hertz has donated the sum of $350 a year for five years or $1,750 in all to be used as prizes for the Prince of Wales College, his Alma Mater.

A meeting was held at the College on Thursday last to confer with His Honor, the Lieutenant Governor, regarding his generous offer. Mr. Shaw, Superintendent of Education, was present with the members of the teaching staff to advise concerning the appointment and assignment of the monies.

It was decided to offer prizes at the close of the session to the students of highest standing in the several years of the College course. To the students of the first year, to the one standing first in the class, $25; second in the class, $25. To the students of the second year, to the one standing first in the class, $75; second in the class, $50; third in the class, $25. To the students of the third year, to the one standing first in the class, $75; second in the class, $50; third in the class, $25. A sum of $350 is thus to be distributed annually among the students, giving stimulation to the whole student body, and a great deal of financial assistance to the deserving individuals.

His Honour was heartily commended for his munificence which gives so much encouragement to the College, and indeed to the cause of education throughout the whole Province.

In the last half the Collegians looked like winners at the outset, working the ball so close to the Abbies' touch line that several safeties were resorted to. That the city team handled the ball as often as their opponents is a certainty, but their handling as mentioned above was faulty; only flashes of their former selves evidenced throughout the fixture and the last ten minutes of this half saw them tackling heroically to keep the red and white runners off their line, Landrigan ultimately going over unmolested.

To the students of the second year, to the one standing first in the class, $75; second in the class, $50; third in the class, $25. To the students of the third year, to the one standing first in the class, $75; second in the class, $50; third in the class, $25. A sum of $350 is thus to be distributed annually among the students, giving stimulation to the whole student body, and a great deal of financial assistance to the deserving individuals.

His Honour was heartily commended for his munificence which gives so much encouragement to the College, and indeed to the cause of education throughout the whole Province.

In the last half the Collegians looked like winners at the outset, working the ball so close to the Abbies' touch line that several safeties were resorted to. That the city team handled the ball as often as their opponents is a certainty, but their handling as mentioned above was faulty; only flashes of their former selves evidenced throughout the fixture and the last ten minutes of this half saw them tackling heroically to keep the red and white runners off their line, Landrigan ultimately going over unmolested.

Yesterday's Market Report

(Canadian Press)
MONTREAL, Nov. 16.—The feature of the local grain trade on Saturday was the marked improvement in the demand for spot buyers for oats and a fair amount of business was done in Canadian western grades, of which No. 3 grade sold at 6 1/2 cents per bush over the Winnipeg November option C. I. F. Montreal.

Ontario oats were stronger and prices were marked up 2 cents per bush. No. 2 white sold at 62 cents, No. 3 grade at 60 cents, and No. 4 grade at 58 cents per bush. Ontario malting barley was 1 cent per bush higher at $1.09 for No. 3 extra and $1.08 for No. 3 grade extra.

The outstanding development in the flour situation was the strong feeling that developed for wheat grades and prices were advanced 10 cents per barrel and broken lots 20 cents per barrel. This was attributed to the strength of raw material and the smaller offerings from millers. There was no change in winter wheat prices. The demand for all lines of mill feed is steadily increasing and a fairly large business was transacted and the undertone continues firm although no actual change occurred in prices. The market for rolled oats was firm. The egg market was decidedly more active than it has been of late and prices ruled steady. Extreme dullness marked the trade in butter, although the trend was firm. There was no improvement noted in the export trade in cheese and prices were steady at the recent decline noted. New crop beans were quoted at $2.65 and $2.75 per bushel for one and three pound pickers delivered to the trade at Montreal.

A DETACHABLE LEGEND

Caller—So this is the old settle you told me you had picked up at such a bargain. My dear, it's a perfect treasure! It looks as if there might be some real old legend connected with it.

Hostess—Well, there was, but at the price I offered, the dealer said he would have to keep the legend and connect it with an antique bedstead that he had.

By Defeating Abegweits 5 to Nil in Titular Battle Saturday Afternoon. — Lieut. Governor F. R. Hertz Officiates in Kick-off.

PUNTS AND TACKLES

No football team can play championship ball without practice.

Francis, Mathieson and Jenkins showed splendid form on the Abbie front line.

His Honor certainly has a mighty toe.

A well deserved win Saints!

Landrigan the big blonde half-line man of the Saints was easily the outstanding footballist of the day.

Shea and Murphy, also of the Collegians were close seconds.

It is encouraging to the athletes and athletics in general to be honored in an official capacity with the presence of His Honor the Lieut. Governor.

Joe Flemming's line-running had the Abbies on the qui vive all afternoon.

Saunders the Abbie full-back showed class in the backfield throughout the struggle. He's a good 'un.

So long football!—Hockey next.

Lt. Gov. Hertz Donates Prizes

His Honor Lieutenant Governor Hertz has donated the sum of $350 a year for five years or $1,750 in all to be used as prizes for the Prince of Wales College, his Alma Mater.

A meeting was held at the College on Thursday last to confer with His Honor, the Lieutenant Governor, regarding his generous offer. Mr. Shaw, Superintendent of Education, was present with the members of the teaching staff to advise concerning the appointment and assignment of the monies.

It was decided to offer prizes at the close of the session to the students of highest standing in the several years of the College course. To the students of the first year, to the one standing first in the class, $25; second in the class, $25. To the students of the second year, to the one standing first in the class, $75; second in the class, $50; third in the class, $25. To the students of the third year, to the one standing first in the class, $75; second in the class, $50; third in the class, $25.
