Canadiens Whitewash Quebec Aces

QUEBEC, Oct. 30 (CP)—The Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, with their youthful players stealing the show, whitewashed the Quebec Aces of the Quebec Senior Hockey League 5-0 in an exhibition game tonight before 5,000 fans.

The youngsters walked off with three of the goals—two of them by Tony Demers and another by Ken Reid— and won the crowd's prizes by their all-round smartness.

The fans had little to cheer about in the scoreless first period but Demers brought them off their seats early in the second when he fired his work over the goalie Elmer Lach and won a pair of perfect passes into the Quebec blueline.

Three minutes later the veterans broke into the scoring column when Red Gouffier drilled home Paul Hayes' relay from Aces' blueliner

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Oct. 30 (CP)—Conny Smythe, Manager of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, announced today that El Bastien, goalkeeper last season with Port Colborne of the Ontario Hockey Association senior circuit, has signed a Leaf contract.

Bastien will stay on the Leaf roster throughout the season as substitute netminder. He declined a chance to play in the American League on the ground he would get "more experience" with the Leafs, although Turk Broda is the regular goalkeeper.

At the same time, Smythe announced that Murph Chamberlain, Leaf center, the last several seasons had been sold to Montreal Canadiens. Terms were not revealed. Chamberlain was on option to the Canadiens and had been training with that club.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD PICTURING HALLOWE'EN

This was an easy shot—one small photo bulb inside the pumpkin, a small and large one in reflectors outside, and a snapshot exposure with high speed film in the camera. Get one like it for Halloween.

HALLOWE'EN is, or should be, a very special occasion for the amateur photographer. Probably none of us would like a steady, year-round diet of weird, grotesque pictures—but for occasional spice and variety, they're fine. And Halloween activities provide plenty of opportunity for such shots.

There are, in fact, two kinds of pictures—record shots, covering the Halloween party and the children's costumes; and "stunt" shots, with odd or extraordinary lightings.

The best stunt lighting for many Halloween shots is to have your photo lights low—that is, down close to the floor, so that the light shines up into the subject's face. This suggests the lighting you get from a gypsy fire, or a witch's cauldron.

Shibboleth shots are also a good Halloween stunt, and taking them can be part of the Halloween party. Just stretch a white sheet over a doorway, illuminate it from behind, and pose the costumed guests in front of it with the room lights turned off. Have two large amateur

'Now I'll Tell One' Story

LAKE CHARLES, Minn., Oct. 30 (CP)—Here's one of those "now I'll tell you" stories for hunters.

French Fontenot, of Lake Charles, Minn., has a setter he claims can do anything but talk. Fontenot and A. M. Perkins were hunting when they came to a small, clear stream. Perkins went down on all fours, struck one leg straight out behind him for balance, and dipped his mouth in the water to take a drink. The setter suddenly broke through some brush, took in the situation, and froze in its tracks. Fontenot said the dog figured Perkins was on the point and so wouldn't move and spill his chance.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 30 (CP)—British Columbia fish exporters will be left with more than $1,000,000 worth of frozen salmon and halibut on their hands as the result of a ruling by the British Ministry of Food restricting United Kingdom fish imports to cod.

In the past two years frozen salmon exports to the United Kingdom have averaged $920,000 annually, while frozen halibut exports last year were valued at $350,000.

Cod exports from the Pacific Coast to Britain have been negligible. Averaging $200 a year in 1938 and 1939. Exporters said they had no plans for disposing of the huge salmon surplus.
