The Grapefruit.

The Grapefruit is a member of the citrus family, cousin to the orange and the lemon. It is an aid to digestion and useful to overcome scurvy tendencies. Its acid is changed to alkali soon after it is taken into the body, and it neutralizes body acids.

It is better if you eat your grapefruit with no sugar at all, or at least with very little, for it contains a great deal of sugar of itself. Grapefruit is a valuable source of vitamines and mineral salts. Grapefruitade is a delightful beauty aid.

Would Assist Weary Mothers

J. J. Kelso, Superintendent of Neglected and Dependent Children for Ontario, advances a proposal for a real "Mothers' Day" organization, whereby overworked mothers could be helped in the home, or released from the care of children for a few hours to do their shopping or seek recreation. Many young women, Mr. Kelso thinks, who do not need to take regular employment, would volunteer for two or three hours a day in such a cause.

Little Africa Displays Many Strange Signs

NEW YORK, N.Y. May 21.—Many strange signs and portents confront the visitor to Harlem's Little Africa. They are displayed in windows of flat houses and shops. Outside a negro employment agency a group of men and women was eagerly scanning a list of "help wanted" notices to see if any of them filled their particular requirements. "Live pianny player wanted" read a placard, "by movie house! No sleepers need apply." "Chauffeur? wanted by select colored family," read another. "Applicant when not driving car must be willing to scrub floors and wash windows and make himself generally useful about house. Good wages to right party". "Strong young man wanted to carry banner advertising restaurant. Must have good feet and arms and a pleasant disposition."

A sign in the window of a flat house apprises passersby that "the piano and manicuring" are taught by Madam So-and-So. In the window of another house a commanding sign reads: "Janitor wanted. No boozer need apply.." A new restaurant notifies prospective patrons that the food is prepared and cooked in true southern style by genuine mammies imported from old Virginia. Another restaurant solicits a cook thus: "Job open for honest mail cook. No pantry thieves wanted. The last cook done us good. He cleaned the larder bare."

There was an animated discussion on the prospects for baseball this season and it was decided to divide the town into wards or sections with about 12 or 14 players in each division. Teams are to be formed in this way and should make the competition keen and games interesting. New Bell Wright Novel Feature at Prince Edward

Young Lochinvar's come out of the west. And with him, he's brought the best "western" of the year. In this case Victor Fleming, well-known producer of movie thrilldramas is our Lochinvar, and the name of his picture is "A Son of His Father".

Harold Bell Wright, the favorite author of millions of Americans, wrote the story. After seeing it on the screen the secret of his popularity is easily seen. There is never a quiet moment or the least drag in the action. "Big Boy" Morgan, the "Son"; Nora, the girl who comes to find her brother; Charlie Grey, the sick friend; Holdbrook, the villian; Zobester, the head of the smugglers, and all the rest are just such people as one is apt to meet every day.

It is the tale of cattle rustlers and their never ending quarrel with the ranchers. Morgan is a young rancher who has sworn to clear Arizona of those men who over-run it. Then—little Nora, a young Irish girl arrives on the scene.

Morgan asks her to stay at his house till her brother returns. He tells her that he has gone to the hills after some cattle. In reality he has joined the smugglers. A tale of intense drama ensues.

The beauty of the surroundings and the fast action of this tale will rouse you as nothing else ever has. It is entertainment with a capital "E".

A fine cast is headed by Warner Baxter, Bessie Love and Raymond Hatton. Other players include Walter McGrail, Carl Stockdale, Billy Eugene, James Farley, Charles Stevens, Valentina Zemina and George Kuwa.

The ninth chapter of "Wild West" provides many thrills and wonderful circus scenes.

The same program will be shown today matinee and night.
