Of Those Who Have Been Restored to Health by Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound

Gained in Every Way Buffalo, N. Y.—"I had some female troubles that just run my health down so that I lost my appetite and felt miserable all the time. I could not lift anything heavy, and a little extra work some days would put me in bed. A friend had told me to try Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound and I gained in every way, could eat better and felt stronger. I had found nothing before this that did me so much good."—Mrs. J. GRACE, 291 Wolts Avenue, Buffalo, N. Y.

CASTLES IN SPAIN Dreams or Youth That Never Come True

"There are some men," says Mr. Kennedy Graham, in the Fortnightly Review, "to whom I should most like to put this question privately, as soon as I knew then well enough—'At about what period of your life was it—when you were, say, thirty or forty, or fifty—that you sadly but finally laid aside that vision of the ideal steam yacht the wonderful vessel in which you were wont to visit all the ports and harbors of the world, to visit off tropical islands, or breast the long Atlantic rollers all on the same evening over the last pipe, or even when snugly in bed? But perhaps you have never really laid up your anti-septic waterproof. Get a box today at your druggist's or shoe dealer's."

"This class of vision, which, in the case of a child I call the dream of ownership in yachts, is frequently taken the form of asking oneself what one would do if one came unexpectedly into a large fortune? I mean, how would one spend the money thus happily and easily required? I do not suppose there is any one who has not played with this dream at one time or another, and whose dream has not been composed, as usual, of the two elements of the fantastic and the ideally beautiful dream of altruism and of world-reform. Fantastic they do not seem to be at the time all those splendid larks we were planning to have; and as to our world-reforms, why, there would be little trouble or sorrow left anywhere if these matters could be honored on presentation.

"But supposing that, once in a way, the fortune does really happen to come along, and you find yourself at close grips with a banker, a solicitor, and a stockbroker, seated opposite you at the same table, grimly determined that you shall not make a fool of yourself if you can prevent it—how many of your fantasies and your altruisms and of those matters of fact which you possess, of when they have quite done with you? Well, we can only hope that, as in the old fairy tale, a few gold coins will be left sticking to the bottom of the bush, and that the rest of your idealism may not have been altogether in vain."

EXHUME NURSE'S BODY DIED MYSTERIOUSLY

GORE BAY, Ont., May 29.—The body of Emma Burns, professional nurse, who died in a post-graduate hospital in New York recently and was buried here on May 17, was exhumed today and shipped to Toronto for examination suspicion having arisen as to the cause of Miss Burns' death. While Miss Burns was ill a report came to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Burns, here, that she was suffering from pneumonia, and later information came from New York to the effect that Miss Burns had died from process of slow poisoning. An interesting feature of the situation is that Miss Burns, who had accumulated considerable wealth, had made a will in which she is supposed to have bequeathed her entire estate to an acquaintance in New York. The parents can not reconcile this action with their daughter's devotion to them during her life. The parents are grief-stricken at the turn of affairs. Hospital Version NEW YORK, May 29.—The death of Miss Emma Burns, professional nurse, whose body was exhumed today at Gore Bay, Ont., was not due to poisoning, it was said tonight at the New York Post-graduate Hospital, where Miss Burns died. There were no suspicious conditions connected with her death, it was said. Hospital records gave no offer of the cause as pneumonia.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. HIRAM NISBET

The death occurred on Sunday morning, May 20th, in Tyne Valley of Jessie S., beloved wife of Hiram Nisbet, at the early age of 37 years. Mrs. Nisbet had been in her usual health up to the previous Monday, when she was taken suddenly ill with flu, from which she never rallied.

Mrs. Nisbet was a woman of a quiet and unassuming disposition, and beloved by all who knew her, and will be much missed in the community, where she had many close friends and acquaintances.

Besides her grief-stricken husband she leaves to mourn their irreparable loss, two daughters and one son, Myrtle, aged 14, Eris 8, months; also one brother, William, S. Enman of Higgins Road and four sisters, Mrs. John H. Bryant of Enmore; Mrs. James Hutchison of Chilliwaik, B. C.; Mrs. Thomas Odell of St. John, N. B.; and Mrs. Oscar Sprague, of Derby, N. H.

Funeral services were held at the home, also at the Methodist church in Victoria West and were conducted by the Rev. Wm. McLean and Rev. M. Brown who spoke in high terms of the departed.

Many beautiful flowers attested to the high esteem and love in which she was held by all who knew her. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the bereaved husband and children who are left without the tender care of a devoted wife and mother.

The bearers were Theophilus Enman and David Enman, cousins of Mrs. Nisbet, also Ernest Nisbet, Herbert Nisbet, Everett Nisbet and Ray Smith and the body was laid to rest in the family lot in Victoria West.

MRS. HUGH CREIGHAN

There passed peacefully away on the evening of May 22nd at her home in Shamrock, Lot 27, Mrs. Hugh Creighan, relict of late Hugh Creighan after a lingering illness, during which time all that medical skill and constant care of her dutiful son Patrick and grand daughter could do was done to alleviate her sufferings. Nevertheless her gentle spirit, fortified with the Holy Sacraments of Roman Catholic Church took its flight to Him who gave it.

Deceased was 78 years of age and a woman of cheerful disposition, an obliging neighbor, a kind and sympathetic friend and was noted for her thrift and industry in everything pertaining to the welfare of her household. She was ever ready to assist a good cause and to help the needy in her own quiet, kindly way. But above all she lived and exemplified Christian life, being ever faithful in the practice of her religious duties. Her good qualities of mind and heart could not fail to gain the warm friendship and esteem of all who knew her.

The sympathy of all goes out to her sorrowing family (three of whom were called home from Haverhill, Mass.) and were with her when she passed away. To her children she was a kind and tender mother, she was the home and it was her kingdom, and how gently and with loving care she ruled over it, was easily seen in the happiness of her family. But being possessed of a large heart and sympathetic nature her woman's ministrations were not confined to her home alone, as she was often to be found where suffering and need claimed her help. The appreciation of the sympathy and help that throughout life she gave to her neighbors was strongly shown by those who came to her home on her death, men and women of all classes and creeds grieving with a sense of personal loss. In realization of the beautiful spirit passed to the great beyond. With them and with her numerous relatives and friends the sweet memory of her will never grow dim and thus has she gained immortality in this world as in the next for "To live in the hearts of those we leave behind is not to die."

She leaves to mourn five sons and two daughters, viz: Patrick at home, Bertram, Mrs. Patrick Kelly, Mrs. Alphonse Malone of Haverhill, Mass., and one grand daughter Mary Pearl McLellan whom she nursed from infancy and who in turn was a consolation and a comfort to her grandmother in her sickness and dying moments.

Her funeral, the largest seen for some time, took place on Thursday, May 24th at St. Michael's Church, Kinkora, where a High Mass of Requiem was celebrated by the Pastor, Rev. Dr. Smith who also officiated at the grave. The Spirit was said. Hospital records gave no offer of the cause as pneumonia.

rick Kelly, Haverhill; Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Creighan, Patrick Creighan and Mary E. McLellan, Kinkora; Miss Madeline Greenan, City Hospital, Charlottetown; Mrs. Margaret Malone, Mrs. Maurice Busnanham, Mrs. Jas. Kooney, Mrs. Nicholas O'Neil, Haverhill, Mass.

The pall bearers were: Messrs. John Trafour, James Dufy, John R. Murphy, Patrick Farmer, Emmett Hughes and Aeneas Hughes. May her soul rest in peace.

SOLDIERS SETTLEMENT BOARD

The service that the Soldier Settlement Board is able to render new arrivals in Canada from the Old Land, although such settlers may not require financial assistance, is exemplified by the arrival in Regina a few days ago of Captain Ernest Ingle, an Imperial Service Officer, who intends to work on a farm this year and then take up land of his own next year.

Captain Ingle reached Regina from England on April 19 and reported at once at the Soldier Settlement Board district office. Within half an hour he was furnished with the names of two prospective employers, prosperous farmers in the Sinteluta District, one of whom operates two sections of land and carries 60 head of cattle and 25 sheep; the other the president of the local Grain Growers' Association has three quarter-sections of land. representatives in England was well pleased with the arrangements and left the following day for Sinteluta to accept employment as a farm helper until he has gained the necessary experience to justify him taking up land of his own. He has capital sufficient to purchase a farm and equip it, but is anxious to avail himself of the Board's service in guiding him in the selection of land, stock and equipment, and of the supervision of the Board's field staff after he has become settled.

Captain Ingle has had 10 years' farming experience in England and served in the British Army with the R. A. S. C.

A VETERAN JUSTICE

Some Canadian judges have been so long on the bench that it is difficult to remember that they were ever lawyers, much less that they were ever politicians. Of this class is Justice J. J. MacLaren of the Supreme Court of Ontario. Yet as active in the political arena as his native province of Quebec could be imagined. He did so much good work for his party and for his constituents that he has some reminiscences which still cause him to smile dryly.

Young John MacLaren once left his fork in the hay field and went on the stump in Huntingdon with that effect while still a youth, that the candidate, later an influential friend of the then Edward, Prince of Wales, never forgot him. Whenever Mr. MacLaren went to London, this expatriate Canadian used to introduce him to his best friends. Finally came an invitation to Marlborough House, residence of the then apparent.

"And after all the flunkys in the hotel had seen the crest and address on the envelopes, they were so busy around me that tripping because, quite an important factor in my life," says Mr. Justice MacLaren, reminiscently.

Appointed a justice of the Supplement Court in 1902, Hon. J. J. MacLaren continued his multifarious activities in philanthropy and education and has been particularly prominent in world's Sunday school work.

A CONSOLATION PRIZE

The Canadian National Railways intend to build in Toronto the city which they spurned for their national headquarters—the highest skyscraper in the British Empire, Toronto already possesses the highest skyscraper in the empire, but the new building will be much appreciated as a token of the Government's regard for the city. Incidentally, it appears that the Government railways are going about their business very much as any privately-owned system might do. The new office building will be several stories taller than the Canadian Pacific's building.

FUR FROM WOOL

A newly invented process, whereby certain kinds of fleeces not well adapted to spinning can be manufactured into a rich, furlike material, which is supposed to present valuable hygienic advantage over skin furs for clothing because the material is mounted on a wool foundation, is reported by Consul General T. W. Sammons, from Australia. The inventor claims that this material has an excellent appearance, that it is suitable for all purposes for which fur is utilized, and for clothing where the utmost warmth, the least weight and the maximum of protection are demanded.
