

Mothers, Mix This at Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any drugist. Pour this into a 16 oz. bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The 16 ounces thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of the trouble, loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles. Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

THEY HAD TO SEE PARIS

By Homer Croy

Opal, with her heart beating pleasantly, went through the process of "pouring."

"How many?" she asked, and smiled into the dark, thin face illuminated by his brilliant eyes.

"Two, with citron, please."

Opal made a note of this. It would be a nice compliment to remember the next time the stars were in their proper courses. It was not until after the ceremony of pouring that she really got to talk to him.

Pretty soon they were on the subject of fencing.

"Have you fenced lately?" she asked in her best cooing manner.

"This morning," said the marquis without interest. It was merely part of his day.

"I saw some pictures of it in L'Illustration the other day and they were charming." She accented charming exactly right.

The marquis was polite—nothing could keep the exquisite little jewel from being that—but he was not interested.

Opal glanced at her mother; although Mrs. Peters was at her most entertaining, her eyes were for Opal. She raised her eyebrows slightly.

"I bought some foils and a costume. You know you promised to teach me," said Opal boldly.

"Yes," said the marquis, "it would be a pleasure—yes, indeed, sometime," and he moved his elegant little hands vaguely.

"When?"

He did not know.

"How about to-morrow?"

The marquis sighed slightly. His little black book came out and he looked over a page filled with a microscopic scrawl.

"Yes, to-morrow," he said, and Mrs. Peters, still carrying on the animated discussion, knew that all was well with the world.

Mrs. Peters came away, her heart singing the silent song of happiness. The tea had been a great success.

"Mamma, do you think I should go to the station alone to meet the marquis?" said Opal the next day. "Would it seem too forward?"

Discussion on the mighty subject began. The tiniest little thing became greatly important in the light stakes they were playing for, and the world became divided into the "correct" and "proper" and what wasn't. If she went alone, would the marquis think that she was, as Opal said, "running after him"? The marquis must never never think that. Should they simply send the car and wait at the chateau to welcome him?

Mrs. Peters settled it.

"We'll both go," she said.

Mrs. Peters's heart thrilled as she and Opal waited at the whitewashed station for the Paris train to come in. How dingy and old and run-down-at-the-heel it had looked the first time she had seen it, and how she had tried to hide her real feelings from Pike. The station agent was still in his black apron and still blustered up and down the platform, and the two children, also in their black aprons again stood with their backs to the wall, silently staring at the teeming world; but now the station no longer looked forlorn. It had become bright and cheerful and colorful; in fact, charming.

"Isn't it a beautiful morning!" said Mrs. Peters.

Peasants from the countryside sat on the wooden slat benches on the

MARITIME WINTER FAIR HAS SURPLUS

Maritime Stock Breeders Hold Annual Meeting

AMHERST, Feb. 15.—Recognition of the services of Fred L. Fuller, for nearly twenty years the Secretary-Manager of the Maritime Winter Fair was made by members of the Maritime Stock Breeders' Association here on Thursday, when Mr. Fuller was presented with a purse of gold, subscribed to by the members in attendance. The presentation was made by C. F. Bailey, President of the M. S. B. A., who referred to Mr. Fuller's services up until 1929, when A. W. MacKenzie took the post. Mr. Fuller made a fitting reply of thanks in which he stated that he would always retain an active interest in the affairs of the organization.

The annual meeting of the Maritime Stock Breeders' Association was largely attended, and many important business matters were carried through with despatch. The presentation of the financial statement was received with applause. It was announced that the Maritime Winter Fair for 1929 had shown a surplus in excess of $1500 and with former indebtedness wiped out, had a credited balance of $418. At the same time, Harry D. Belden, Chairman of the Amherst Exhibition Committee, explained the basis and disbursement of a special fund and at the same time urged the need of continued co-operation between the Maritime Stock Breeders and the Amherst Committee. He also made a strong plea in behalf of support for the Nova Scotia Exhibition, speaking directly as manager of that institution.

Negotiations were opened with the Maritime Black Fox Breeders' Association with a view of having the fox men take part in the Maritime Winter Fair. A committee, composed of Messrs. MacDougall, West Gore, MacKenzie, Truro; Leaman, Salisbury and Shaw, of Charlottetown, met the M.S.B.A. directors in the morning hours. Efforts to provide ample space for the black fox exhibits will be made by the proposed abolition of the abattoir in the present building. It was unanimously decided the Maritime Stock Breeders' Association become allied with the Canadian Association of Exhibitions.

Alterations were made in a ruling affecting the dairy class and a special class for R. O. P. was authorized, the class to include dairy bull, one year and under two whose dam is qualified; cow, six-years-old or over, having an official record begun at four years; cow, under six years, having an official record and a group of three females, any age, sired by the same qualified sire.

During the course of the afternoon a modern revision of the constitution and by-laws was approved by the meeting, this work having been carried out by the directors of the preceding evening.

The meeting was unable to decide upon the appointment of a Secretary-Manager to succeed A. W. MacKenzie, and the appointment was left in the hands of the directors.

The officers elected were as follows: President, C. F. Bailey, Fredericton; First Vice, W. A. Flemming, M.L.A., Truro; Second Vice President, A. G. Dixon, Chatham; Third Vice President, J. F. Roper, Charlottetown; Secretary-Manager (to be appointed by executive); Superintendent, H. R. Brown, Pugwash.

EE SUSPICIOUS OF BARGAIN SEED

Quality, Purity, and Germination Of More Importance - Test Urged.

There are no bargains in seeds, states M. T. Munn, State Seed Analyst for New York, who declares that many other things besides price should enter into the selection of purchases of this kind. Quality as indicated by purity, germination and truthness to name is the important thing. "It is a very safe practice to give no attention whatever to advertisements of seeds where the price is the only description given of the stock being offered for sale," states Mr. Munn. "Price is too often the bait upon the hook for those who buy the bargain seeds. Experience has repeatedly demonstrated that it is far cheaper in the end to buy the best seeds obtainable than to take as a gift cheap, low-quality weed-infested seed."

Getting nearer home, we find the same sort of advice uttered by Canadian seed authorities. "A man should be just as careful in securing his seed supply as he would be in buying a horse" states W. J. W. Lennox, of the Dominion Seed Branch. "In fact, even more care is necessary because the seed secured this year will soon spread over the whole farm, whereas a poor horse can be sold and the loss is written off without any further damage."

With results of seed surveys conducted in every part of the Dominion which indicate clearly that the average farm seed used is very badly infested with weeds, there is only one safe course to pursue. Both Mr. Munn and Mr. Lennox urge the buying of tested seed, seed that has been analyzed in one of the five Government laboratories scattered throughout Canada and has been approved by them for selling purposes. Seed of this kind always falls in the Government graded class.

"When you are offered a No. 1 horse at low price," states Mr. Lennox, "you immediately start looking for defects, and if you do not know very

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salve Needed
External treatments seldom banish Piles.

Nor does cutting remove the cause. The cause is internal—bad circulation of the blood. The veins are flabby—the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to heal and strengthen the aected parts. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonard, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by all druggists who have authority to refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied user. It's a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Hughes Drug Co., Ltd.

Eczeema Itched Badly. Face Disfigured. Healed by Cuticura.

"Eczeema first appeared on my forehead in pimple-like form. Later it spread from my forehead towards my nose and gradually my whole face became affected. It itched and burned badly at times, and when I scratched it caused eruptions. After a while the pimples would dry up and then new ones would come in their place. My face was disfigured. The trouble lasted over a year.

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Nellie Gage, Ladywood, Man.

much about a horse you will have him taken to a veterinary for examination," Mr. Lennox urges the same rule in connection with the seed-supply, advocating that purchase of Government tested seed, or if the home-produced variety is being used having it analyzed in the nearest Government laboratory before sowing. - Canadian Seed Trade Association

OFT IN THE CHILLY NIGHT

(By Barbara B. Brooks)

How often in the wee small hours "ere slumber's chain" has bound you, do you wish that you had had the self-control to refuse that cup of coffee offered after the bridge game! Probably the coffee is not entirely to blame. While you are lying awake, think back to what went with the coffee. Did you eat sandwiches with very rich fillings; was the cake too elaborate; was the combination one not easy to digest?

There are many factors which disturb sleep but the usual one, for a person in normal health, is excess stimulation through excitement or through food and drink or both. Nearly every one gets somewhat keyed up at a party and this together with eating at an unusual hour taxes the digestion to such an extent that sleep is driven away.

We are going to suggest here some ideas for evening refreshments which will be easy for the hostess, satisfactory to the guests, and which will not mean troubled sleep for anyone. We have all had the experience, as hostesses, of making the mistake of trying to serve something which has to be prepared at the last minute. As guests, we have sometimes gone home feeling that we never want to see anything sweet again. There is a happy medium for all things and party food should come within this range—neither too sweet nor too sour; too rich nor too plain; not too difficult to prepare; not too hard to digest. A good rule to follow is—have something crisp, something sweet and a drink, either hot or cold, depending on the season of the year.

Sandwiches are always welcome and the filling may be savory and the crispness can be obtained by toasting. Simple cakes or cookies will furnish the sweets and decaffeinated coffee the drink. For this type of menu we suggest the following:

Assorted Sandwiches.

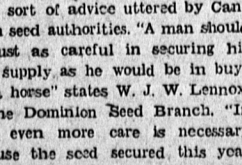

- Mustard butter filling.
 - Sardine paste.
 - Cream cheese and olive.
 - Deviled ham.
 - Cut each kind of sandwich in a different shape, triangular, rectangular, diamond or in finger lengths. Wrap them in a damp cloth until time to serve.
 - Filled cookies are always a treat. Marguerites are delicious and simple to make. Here are recipes for both of these sweets:
- Marguerites.
- 2 eggs.
 - 1 cup brown sugar.
 - 1-2 cup flour.
 - 1-4 teaspoon baking powder.
 - 1-3 teaspoons salt.
 - 1 cup pecan meats, cut in small pieces.
- Beat eggs slightly, and add the remaining ingredients. Fill tiny buttered pans two-thirds full of mixture, and place a whole pecan meat on each.
- Bake in a moderate oven (380 degrees F.) for about fifteen minutes.
- Filled Corn Flake Cookies.
- 1-2 pound dates.
 - 1 cup sugar.
 - 1-2 cup water.
 - Remove the seeds from the dates and boil dates, sugar and water until soft.
 - 1 cup butter.

FAIR, DIZZY SPELLS Had To Sleep Propped Up In Bed

Mrs. Norman Bishop, Salisbury, N.B., writes:—"I was troubled with faint and dizzy spells and when I would lie down I would suffer terribly with smothering spells. I got so bad I had to sleep propped up in bed.

"My doctor said it was my heart and nerves, and that I needed a good heart tonic.

"I was advised to take and I had not taken one box when I could lie down and sleep like a child."

Neglected Colds

Often change from seemingly unimportant discomforts to deadly menaces.

That's why so many people become critically ill in cold weather—because they have not fortified their bodies to meet the rigours of winter.

Now is the time to prepare! Fellows' Syrup contains mineral foods, together with other ingredients, essential for strengthening you to withstand ailments, such as colds, bronchial troubles, and influenza.

Born in Canada—this fine old tonic is now prescribed by physicians in over 50 countries of the world.

FELLOWS' SYRUP

Allow to percolate until it foams in the glass top of the percolator and is the desired strength and color.

1 cup brown sugar.
3 1-2 cups flour.
2 teaspoons baking powder.
1-4 teaspoon salt.
1-2 cup water.
2 cups corn flakes.

Cream the butter, add the sugar and beat thoroughly. Add the flour, which has been sifted with the baking powder and salt, then the water and last the corn flakes. Roll the cookie dough thin and cut into rounds. Spread one round with the date mixture and put a second layer on top, pressing the edges together. Bake in a moderate oven (380 degrees F.) for ten to twelve minutes.

In every group, however small, there is some one who dares not drink coffee because of the sleepless night which will follow. Decaffeinated coffee solves this hostess' problem. The recipe given here will serve eight persons.

- 1 cup decaffeinated coffee.
- 2 quarts boiling water.
