McCoy Plays Robin Hood In New Film

WESTERN STAR TRAVELS FAR FOR SETTING OF UNUSUAL THRILLS IN "THE BUSH-RANGER," NOW AT CAPITOL.

Thrills of a new brand, with the Australian boomerang and stock-whip as weapons for the hero in a set of adventures as startling as they are sensational, are being given audiences at the Capitol Theatre in Tim McCoy's new vehicle, "The Bushranger."

The famous Western star has left the American plains to stage adventure abroad in the new play, and thus has evolved something entirely new in the thrill line, in the first all-Australian production ever filmed in America.

McCoy plays a young English officer, who, unjustly accused, takes refuge in the Australian "bush," or wilderness, to become a sort of latter-day Robin Hood. Thrills are plenty; sensational horsemanship and astounding tricks with the flying lash of his great whip; he disarms an enemy, binds another hand and foot with it, and generally demonstrates how the Australian uses the weapon to replace the lariat of the American cowboy. With the boomerang he effects a surprising escape by throwing it into a light when pursued by troopers.

Despite its thrills, the story has a delicate romance running through it, with pretty Marian Douglas, who, by the way, is a native Australian, as heroine.

McCoy plays the bushranger with his usual dashing sang-froid, and Miss Douglas, who recently appeared as heroine of "Shepherd of the Hills," is a delight to the eye. Russell Simpson plays a splendid character role as the crime commissioner, while Arthur Lubin, as the evil brother, has a role that he handles with rare skill. Edwin A. Brady is the bandit chief. Among interesting members of the case are Dale Austen ("Miss New Zealand") and Frank Baker, a brother of the famous "Snowy" Baker, Australian sportsman. A not unimportant member of the cast, too, is "Wallaby," the kangaroo.

In Memoriam

MRS. JOHN MacLEOD

It is with deep regret that The Guardian learns of the death of Mrs. John MacLeod, who passed away at 3.30 Wednesday morning at her home in this city, after a lingering illness.

Mrs. MacLeod, whose maiden name was Margaret Scott, was a lady of splendid qualities of mind and heart and made many warm friends.

There are left to mourn besides her husband, three daughters, Winnifred and Claire in Charlottetown, Jean, wife of William Dalziel in Fort Huron, Michigan, and four sons, David, in Charlottetown, Arthur in Toronto, Kenneth in Boston and Jack in Kinsley, Sask. Four sons and two daughter served in the Great War, a splendid record for one family, which is unique as far as the province, if not the whole of Canada, is concerned.

The sorrow which has fallen upon the family is all the greater from the fact that Mr. MacLeod is at present a patient in the Prince Edward Island Hospital.

Radio is better with DRY battery power

IF you're seeking the utmost in radio satisfaction read what this Burgess user says:

"On my four-tube set I have had three Burgess Batteries in use for eleven months with perfect satisfaction. Today they can be used for stations within a radius of 500 to 700 miles and clear results obtained."

Make no mistake. The two Burgess "Super B" Batteries (No. 21308 and No. 22308) answer practically all radio requirements. Look for Burgess black and white striped batteries. You'll get longer and better service for your money.
