E. P. Calder. Certificate and visiting brethren are cordially invited.

The moonlight excursion on the Northumberland Tuesday night was in all respects successful. The weather was fine, the music was good, there was good order and everything went smoothly. The outing was much enjoyed and the whole affair proved very creditable to the members of the Summerside Glee Band, under whose management it was carried out. About 250 attended.

The marriage took place at three o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the residence of the bride's father, Samuel Nuttall, Fifteen Point of Miss Maud Nuttall, Summerside, to Matthew McGrath of New Glasgow, N. S. The bride was attended by Miss Mary Locke, Summerside, while Daniel McClure, Fifteen Point supported the groom. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. McGrath drove to Summerside and took the express train via Charlottetown to New Glasgow.

The tea party at French River on Tuesday was most pleasant and enjoyable. Every element in natural beauty was present to please the most aesthetic taste. Beauty of landscape, wealth of picturesque scenery, and mines of historic lore all combined to effect on the most prosaic an influence at once realistic and poetic. A more delightful spot than that on the farm of Andrew McLeod could not be chosen. If the finer sensibilities were not touched by the beauties of nature that abound on all sides, then the natural desire for "something good to eat" that seems to infest that animal man was full satisfied by the "goody goody things" that the ladies of French River understand so well how to make, and know so well how to serve. The tables were a credit to them; the management spoke well of the gentlemen in charge and the whole affair richly deserved the extensive patronage it so well received.

The trip up and down the Strait on the night of the moonlight excursion was a confusing experience for at least two individuals. Either they had dreamed or someone had told them that the S. S. Northumberland was bound to Pictou. That was their port—this their opportunity. The man and his sister boarded the steamer with the crowd. In the mid-night hours, after the excursion, they met the police—the Summerside police—up town and the man asked the officer if he knew Mr. — (formerly of Summerside, now of Pictou), where he lived and so on. Other inquiries were made until so puzzled that the would-be emigrants began to wonder if they really were in Pictou. "Where are we, anyway?" asked the confused man. "In Summerside," was the officer's reply. And they all wondered—the police, why he should ask such a question—and the native, what brought these things to pass causing him to make such inquiries. They had noticed quite familiar looking places, but not enough to make them realize that they were in Summerside, until they were told so by the officer. The surroundings began to appear more natural, and the man and woman soon found their way home. They were at least perfectly sober, as far as anyone knew.

"I was not able to walk about. When I stooped I could not get up. I am never, without the Pills in the house and I am feeling as I look, healthy as can be."

Asked for further particulars, Mr. Craig said: "I was in agony with my back and my urine was of a dark color and could not pass without pain. One box of Dodd's Kidney Pills gave me relief; four boxes cured me completely."
